Co-badged status

This unit is co-taught with LAW 209 as it is phased out (and replaced by LAW109 for all students commencing an LLB program from 2010 onwards).

Unit description

This unit aims to develop in students a thoughtful and critical understanding of the substance of criminal law, criminal procedure and the administration of criminal justice in contemporary Australian society. Students will critically examine principles of criminal responsibility, a range of criminal offences, and aspects of the investigation, prosecution and defence of criminal matters. Throughout the unit, students are required to consider and evaluate the ways that historical, social, political, philosophical and ethical factors inform the substance and operation of criminal law and procedure.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Explain general doctrines of criminal law and, in particular, both offences against the person and against property; as well as various defences and to elements of criminal procedure.

Research, analyse, synthesise, interpret and derive legal principles from legislation, regulations, parliamentary debates, and case law governing the administration of criminal justice.

Describe and critique the principal agencies, procedures and practices involved in the administration of criminal justice, including the way in which the rules of criminal law and procedure develop contextually through the interaction of various decision-makers (e.g., defendants, the police, the courts, prosecution, lawyers and victims of crime) within the broader aim of criminal justice.

Develop, critique and advocate legal policy reform proposals in the area of criminal justice, including to identify relevant issues and stakeholders, carry out independent research, engage in self- and peer critique, and advocate proposals through oral and written formats.

Collaborate effectively with other students on a group project.

Communicate effectively, verbal and written, with legal and non-legal audiences.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Due
Task 1	30%	See Description
Task 2	20%	See Description
Task 3	50%	Sunday 15 June 23:59 (pm)

Task 1

Due: See Description

Weighting: 30%

Students will be required to complete 30 exercises, which will involve answering practical and theoretical questions in preparation for tutorials and to reinforce lecture content. These exercises will assist students to develop their legal research and analytical skills, reinforce their knowledge of relevant doctrinal principles, and enhance their contextual understanding of the laws underpinning the administration of criminal justice.

This Task will be submitted and assessed in three parts as set out below. If a student anticipates being unable to submit a part of Task 1 by the relevant due date, and applies for special consideration (i.e., an extension), then they are required to submit their work in progress by the due date. Late submissions will not be graded and will receive a grade of zero.

Exercises may include multimedia content, including pre-recorded lectures or podcasts, and most will require students to carry out independent research. On average, students should budget 1.5 hours per Exercise.

Each exercise is assessed on a Satisfactory/Unsatisfactory basis against criteria, and weighted at 1% each.

Students must submit each block of exercises using the Turnitin submission link on the unit's iLearn page.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Explain general doctrines of criminal law and, in particular, both offences against the person and against property; as well as various defences and to elements of criminal procedure.
- Research, analyse, synthesise, interpret and derive legal principles from legislation, regulations, parliamentary debates, and case law governing the administration of criminal justice.
- Describe and critique the principal agencies, procedures and practices involved in the administration of criminal justice, including the way in which the rules of criminal law and procedure develop contextually through the interaction of various decision-makers (e.g., defendants, the police, the courts, prosecution, lawyers and victims of crime) within the broader aim of criminal justice.
- Develop, critique and advocate legal policy reform proposals in the area of criminal justice, including to identify relevant issues and stakeholders, carry out independent research, engage in self- and peer critique, and advocate proposals through oral and written formats.

Task 2

Due: See Description

Weighting: 20%

In this Assessment, students will collaborate in small groups to develop, critique and advocate legal policy reform proposals in criminal justice. The Project will be carried out in three stages with 'mini-deadlines' and weightings as follows:

Stage Deadline weight 2.A. Individual Submissions Monday 7 April 10:00 a.m.

2.B.2 Consensus Presentation

Internal Students: Teaching Weeks 8-12 (in tutorials)

Distance Students: Day 2 of scheduled On Campus Sessions

P/F - (linked to 2.B.1.)

assessed as a group

The Individual Submission (Part 2.A) must be submitted using the Turnitin link provided on the unit's iLearn page. The Group Consensus Report (Part 2.B.1) will be submitted using the wiki set up on the unit's iLearn page. Group Presentations (Part 2.B.2) will take place between weeks 8-13 in a sequence that will be identified prior to the mid-semester break in tutorials.

Note: Parts 2.B.1 and 2.B.2 are graded as a group as Pass/Fail, which means that students will receive either 0% or 5%. Students who fail to attend and contribute meaningfully to their Group Presentation (Part 2.B.2) and/or demonstrably failed to contribute to the production of their Group Consensus Report (Part 2.B.1) will receive a grade of 0/5 for the portion of the grade for Task 2 corresponding to the Consensus Report (2.B.1). Students who fail to submit their Individual Submissions (Part 2.A) will be precluded from participating in the production of the Group Consensus Report (Part 2.B) and receive a grade of 0/20 for Task 2.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Explain general doctrines of criminal law and, in particular, both offences against the person and against property; as well as various defences and to elements of criminal procedure.

- Research, analyse, synthesise, interpret and derive legal principles from legislation, regulations, parliamentary debates, and case law governing the administration of criminal justice.

- Develop, critique and advocate legal policy reform proposals in the area of criminal justice, including to identify relevant issues and stakeholders, carry out independent research, engage in self- and peer critique, and advocate proposals through oral and written formats.
- Collaborate effectively with other students on a group project.
- Communicate effectively, verbal and written, with legal and non-legal audiences.

Task 3

Due: Sunday 15 June 23:59 (pm)

Weighting: 50%

Students will be challenged to write a Chapter (2,750 - 3,250 words) for their prescribed textbook.

The focus topic will be identified by the Convenor in Week 2 of Semester.

The Task must be submitted via Turnitin by no later than 11:59pm on the Sunday immediately preceding the commencement of the formal Examination Period for the semester.

Further instructions will be made available on the unit's ilearn page.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Explain general doctrines of criminal law and, in particular, both offences against the person and against property; as well as various defences and to elements of criminal procedure.
- Research, analyse, synthesise, interpret and derive legal principles from legislation, regulations, parliamentary debates, and case law governing the administration of criminal justice.

- Communicate effectively, verbal and written, with legal and non-legal audiences.

Delivery and Resources

This unit has an online presence in iLearn, Macquarie's online learning management system (ilearn.mq.edu.au).

Students will require access to reliable broadband internet and a computer. More information is available at: www.mq.edu.au/iLearn/student_info/index.htm

Students will also be required to use a computer to interact with online research databases and web-based research tools.

The unit has a blended mode of delivery. A weekly 1-hour live lecture will also be recorded and available through Echo360. Internal students have a weekly 1-hour tutorial. Distance education students attend a two-day residential school (attendance is compulsory). This unit's ilearn page will also contain additional lessons with multimedia content to facilitate learning.

The following textbook is required:

- Jeremy Gans, Modern Criminal Law of Australia (Cambridge University Press, 2012).

The following textbook is recommended:

- Simon Bronitt and Bernadette McSherry, Principles of Criminal Law (Lawbook, 3rd ed, 2010).

Unit Schedule

Students enrolled in this unit should consult the unit's ilearn page for further details.

Graduate Capabilities

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Explain general doctrines of criminal law and, in particular, both offences against the person and against property; as well as various defences and to elements of criminal procedure.
- Research, analyse, synthesise, interpret and derive legal principles from legislation, regulations, parliamentary debates, and case law governing the administration of criminal justice.

Assessment tasks

- Task 1
- Task 2
- Task 3

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Research, analyse, synthesise, interpret and derive legal principles from legislation, regulations, parliamentary debates, and case law governing the administration of criminal justice.

- Describe and critique the principal agencies, procedures and practices involved in the administration of criminal justice, including the way in which the rules of criminal law and procedure develop contextually through the interaction of various decision-makers (e.g., defendants, the police, the courts, prosecution, lawyers and victims of crime) within the broader aim of criminal justice.

Assessment tasks

- Task 1
- Task 2
- Task 3

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Research, analyse, synthesise, interpret and derive legal principles from legislation, regulations, parliamentary debates, and case law governing the administration of criminal justice.
- Develop, critique and advocate legal policy reform proposals in the area of criminal justice, including to identify relevant issues and stakeholders, carry out independent research, engage in self- and peer critique, and advocate proposals through oral and written formats.

Assessment tasks

- Task 1
- Task 2
- Task 3

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Develop, critique and advocate legal policy reform proposals in the area of criminal justice, including to identify relevant issues and stakeholders, carry out independent research, engage in self- and peer critique, and advocate proposals through oral and written formats.

Assessment task

- Task 2

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Research, analyse, synthesise, interpret and derive legal principles from legislation, regulations, parliamentary debates, and case law governing the administration of criminal justice.
- Develop, critique and advocate legal policy reform proposals in the area of criminal justice, including to identify relevant issues and stakeholders, carry out independent research, engage in self- and peer critique, and advocate proposals through oral and written formats.
- Collaborate effectively with other students on a group project.
- Communicate effectively, verbal and written, with legal and non-legal audiences.

Assessment tasks

- Task 2
- Task 3

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Describe and critique the principal agencies, procedures and practices involved in the administration of criminal justice, including the way in which the rules of criminal law and procedure develop contextually through the interaction of various decision-makers (e.g., defendants, the police, the courts, prosecution, lawyers and victims of crime) within the broader aim of criminal justice.
- Develop, critique and advocate legal policy reform proposals in the area of criminal justice, including to identify relevant issues and stakeholders, carry out independent research, engage in self- and peer critique, and advocate proposals through oral and written formats.

Assessment task

- Task 2

Socially and Environmentally Active and Responsible

We want our graduates to be aware of and have respect for self and others; to be able to work with others as a leader and a team player; to have a sense of connectedness with others and country; and to have a sense of mutual obligation. Our graduates should be informed and active participants in moving society towards sustainability.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Describe and critique the principal agencies, procedures and practices involved in the administration of criminal justice, including the way in which the rules of criminal law and procedure develop contextually through the interaction of various decision-makers (e.g., defendants, the police, the courts, prosecution, lawyers and victims of crime) within the broader aim of criminal justice.
