Unit description

This unit aims to help students develop skills appropriate to the effective communication of academic research and appreciate the relationship between research communications and disciplinary knowledge creation. Students will analyse and practise different academic genres in a variety of modes (written, oral and visual), across disciplines and for both specialised and general audiences.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Better understand the academic, linguistic, disciplinary and cultural conventions of research

Appreciate the relationship between research communications and knowledge creation

Refine your academic writing and presenting skills

Hone your critical thinking skills

Know how to acknowledge other sources and have established a referencing system

Understand what is involved in writing a research proposal, journal article and doctoral thesis

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Due
Initial written task	10%	5pm, 05/09/2014
Oral or Visual presentation	25%	Weeks 9-11
Revised Written Task	30%	5pm, 07/11/2014
Exam	30%	Exam period
Class Participation	5%	Assessed throughout the unit

Initial written task

Due: 5pm, 05/09/2014

Weighting: 10%

Write the introduction section for a research proposal for a higher degree research project. You will be expected explain the problem/question and make explicit the aim of the research. Give your project a title. Use the referencing style commonly used in your discipline.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Better understand the academic, linguistic, disciplinary and cultural conventions of research
- Refine your academic writing and presenting skills
- Know how to acknowledge other sources and have established a referencing system

Oral or Visual presentation

Due: Weeks 9-11

Weighting: 25%

Present a 3-4 minute talk OR produce an A2-sized conference poster on completed research in your field. Your talk/poster may report on a research project you were involved in, or be based on a research article you have read. Be prepared to answer questions about the research project from your tutor/class mates.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Better understand the academic, linguistic, disciplinary and cultural conventions of research
- Refine your academic writing and presenting skills

Revised Written Task

Weighting: 30%

Submit a revised version of the text you submitted as Assessment Task 1, incorporating the feedback you received from your tutor and at least one class-mate. As well as introducing the topic, problem and aim, you will need to situate your proposed research in the field by relating it to existing research (cite at least 5 related research texts). Length: 900-2000 words

In addition, you will need to submit: the written feedback you provided on a class-mate's Assessment 1 text; a copy of the review you received from a class-mate on your Assessment 1 text, and your response (in table or bullet-point form) to each of the suggestions made by your two "reviewers" (your tutor and class-mate)

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Better understand the academic, linguistic, disciplinary and cultural conventions of research
- Refine your academic writing and presenting skills
- Hone your critical thinking skills

- Know how to acknowledge other sources and have established a referencing system
- Understand what is involved in writing a research proposal, journal article and doctoral thesis

Exam

Due: Exam period

Weighting: 30%

The exam has two parts.

PART A: (out of 20)

You will need to choose one of provided articles and explain how certain communication features contribute to the way knowledge is constructed in (that type of) Science, Social Science or Humanities.

PART B: (out of 10)

Providing examples from an extract from a research article, you will need to explain how cohesion and coherence is achieved with reference to paragraphing, thematic development, and use of cohesive devices.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Better understand the academic, linguistic, disciplinary and cultural conventions of research
- Appreciate the relationship between research communications and knowledge creation
- Refine your academic writing and presenting skills
- Know how to acknowledge other sources and have established a referencing system
- Understand what is involved in writing a research proposal, journal article and doctoral thesis

Class Participation

Due: Assessed throughout the unit

Weighting: 5%

Mark based on attendance at tutorials and quality of participation.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Better understand the academic, linguistic, disciplinary and cultural conventions of research
- Appreciate the relationship between research communications and knowledge creation
- Refine your academic writing and presenting skills
- Hone your critical thinking skills

- Understand what is involved in writing a research proposal, journal article and doctoral thesis

Delivery and Resources

Classes:

- 3 hours face-to-face teaching each week: 1 hour lecture and 2 hour tutorial
- The timetable for classes can be found on the University web site at:
<https://timetables.mq.edu.au/2014/>
- The lecture is held on Mondays 11am-12pm in E7B T2 and is repeated on Wednesdays 1-2pm in E7B T5.
- The Monday lecture is available as an Echo360 recording via the MRES700 ilearn site from about 2pm on Mondays.
- Library training videos covering research search skills will be available for viewing via the MRES700 ilearn site from Week

Graduate Capabilities

PG - Discipline Knowledge and Skills

Our postgraduates will be able to demonstrate a significantly enhanced depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content knowledge in their chosen fields.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Better understand the academic, linguistic, disciplinary and cultural conventions of research
- Appreciate the relationship between research communications and knowledge creation
- Understand what is involved in writing a research proposal, journal article and doctoral thesis

Assessment tasks

- Initial written task
- Oral or Visual presentation
- Revised Written Task
- Exam
- Class Participation

PG - Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

Our postgraduates will be capable of utilising and reflecting on prior knowledge and experience, of applying higher level critical thinking skills, and of integrating and synthesising learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments. A characteristic of this form of thinking is the generation of new, professionally oriented knowledge through personal or group-based critique of practice and theory.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Appreciate the relationship between research communications and knowledge creation
- Hone your critical thinking skills

Assessment tasks

- Oral or Visual presentation
- Revised Written Task
- Exam

- Class Participation

PG - Research and Problem Solving Capability

Our postgraduates will be capable of systematic enquiry; able to use research skills to create new knowledge that can be applied to real world issues, or contribute to a field of study or practice to enhance society. They will be capable of creative questioning, problem finding and problem solving.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Appreciate the relationship between research communications and knowledge creation

Assessment tasks

- Initial written task
- Revised Written Task
- Exam
- Class Participation

PG - Effective Communication

Our postgraduates will be able to communicate effectively and convey their views to different social, cultural, and professional audiences. They will be able to use a variety of technologically supported media to communicate with empathy using a range of written, spoken or visual formats.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Better understand the academic, linguistic, disciplinary and cultural conventions of research
- Refine your academic writing and presenting skills
- Know how to acknowledge other sources and have established a referencing system
- Understand what is involved in writing a research proposal, journal article and doctoral thesis

Assessment tasks

- Initial written task
- Oral or Visual presentation
- Revised Written Task
- Exam
- Class Participation

PG - Engaged and Responsible, Active and Ethical Citizens

Our postgraduates will be ethically aware and capable of confident transformative action in relation to their professional responsibilities and the wider community. They will have a sense of connectedness with others and country and have a sense of mutual obligation. They will be able to appreciate the impact of their professional roles for social justice and inclusion related to national and global issues

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Know how to acknowledge other sources and have established a referencing system

Assessment tasks

- Initial written task
- Revised Written Task
- Class Participation

PG - Capable of Professional and Personal Judgment and Initiative

Our postgraduates will demonstrate a high standard of discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgment. They will have the ability to make informed choices and decisions that reflect both the nature of their professional work and their personal perspectives.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Appreciate the relationship between research communications and knowledge creation
- Hone your critical thinking skills

Assessment task

- Revised Written Task
