Unit description This is an introductory unit covering various aspects of Chinese culture, from philosophy to literature, from medicine to cultural aspects of everyday life. This unit is designed for students who have passed HSC Chinese for Background Speakers or who have a similar level of knowledge of Chinese. All lectures are in Mandarin, and all texts and assignments are in Chinese. Students who wish to improve their Mandarin are able to do so, and others who already speak Mandarin well are able to gain a deeper knowledge of the Chinese cultural heritage.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Attain a basic knowledge of Chinese culture and tradition, including Chinese philosophy, history, writing, and art.

Develop critical thinking and analytical skills. Students should be able to independently and critically analyse important aspects of Chinese culture.

Acquire generic academic and communication skills, including self-awareness, interpersonal skills and working with others, skills in information gathering and management, problem-solving skills, and written and oral communication skills.

General Assessment Information

Extensions and Special Consideration

Short Term Extensions

Requests for assignment extensions due to unavoidable and unforeseen circumstances of less than three days duration (eg short term illness or misadventure) must be made to the supervisor before the due date if possible, or immediately after the disruption. Approvals of extensions must be noted on the assignment cover sheet. Note that other assessment commitments will not be considered grounds for an extension.

Assignments that are handed in later than the due date, where no extension has been granted, or are handed in later than the extension date without being granted further extension or special consideration will be penalised.

Late submission of the essays will result in a penalty of 5% of the total value of the essay towards unit assessment each day (including weekends). The essay will not be marked after a period of five calendar days of non-submission.

Serious Illness and Unavoidable Disruption

If your performance has been affected for a period of 3 days or more as a result of serious unavoidable disruption or illness, you are advised to inform the unit convenor and tutor of the problem at the earliest possible opportunity. You must supply documentary evidence of the extended disruption and submit an Application for Special Consideration. (see below).

No assessment work will be accepted for marking beyond Week 13 unless you have submitted an Application for Special Consideration with adequate and appropriate supporting evidence and have been granted special consideration. Please note that requests for special consideration for long term or serious reasons are not granted automatically, and are reserved for unforeseen and serious circumstances such as prolonged & chronic illness, hospitalisation or bereavement in your immediate family which have affected your performance over the course of the semester; or in cases of unavoidable disruption or misadventure during the formal examination period. If you believe that you qualify for special consideration, please contact the teaching staff as soon as is practically possible and lodge the application.

Special Consideration Policy

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Due
Assignments	30%	TBA
Class Test 1 (mid-semester)	30%	TBA

Name	Weighting	Due
Class Test 2 (end of semester)	30%	TBA
Class participation	10%	On going (every week)

Assignments

Due: TBA

Weighting: 30%

There will be one essay on a chosen topic this unit (about 1500 characters in Chinese). The topic/s will be advised in iLearn.

In completing the essay, students must fulfil the following key criteria.

- Grasp of the task and focus.* Are you really answering the question(s)? Is there a well-defined framework or scope of argumentation?
- Knowledge of content and research.* For example, is there a well-developed argument? Does the essay reflect a clear, insightful knowledge of the topic in a clear and critical analysis? Does the written work demonstrate a substantial and skilful research effort? The essay may incorporate text materials linked together with your own commentary and conclusions. This will involve research, such as locating materials, books and journal articles.
- Creativity and judgement.* Does the essay show good judgement in the selection or arrangement of materials? Is there evidence to support the argument?
- Communication and presentation.* Does the work show a mastery of the technical aspects of writing an essay? What will be assessed here also include such matters as grammar, punctuation, spelling, citation, etc.
- Referencing and ethical use of materials.* All cited works needs to be properly acknowledged. Is referencing consistent and precise?

A detailed marking rubric will be provided on iLearn.

Assignments should be students' original work. Plagiarism is not acceptable (For further information and advice, see www.student.mq.edu.au/plagiarism).

Note: All written assignments have to be submitted by the due date via Turnitin.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Attain a basic knowledge of Chinese culture and tradition, including Chinese philosophy, history, writing, and art.
- Develop critical thinking and analytical skills. Students should be able to independently and critically analyse important aspects of Chinese culture.

- Acquire generic academic and communication skills, including self-awareness, interpersonal skills and working with others, skills in information gathering and management, problem-solving skills, and written and oral communication skills.

Class Test 1 (mid-semester)

Due: TBA

Weighting: 30%

This written test examines students' understanding of basic aspects of Chinese culture. The contents of the test covers the topics in the first half of semester.

Class Test 2 (end of semester)

Due: TBA

Weighting: 30%

This written test examines students' ability to analyse important aspects of Chinese culture. The contents of the test covers all topics in the unit.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Attain a basic knowledge of Chinese culture and tradition, including Chinese philosophy, history, writing, and art.
- Develop critical thinking and analytical skills. Students should be able to independently and critically analyse important aspects of Chinese culture.
- Acquire generic academic and communication skills, including self-awareness, interpersonal skills and working with others, skills in information gathering and management, problem-solving skills, and written and oral communication skills.

Class participation

Due: On going (every week)

Weighting: 10%

Students should attend the class on time, having made adequate preparation for class discussions. They should be involved in all educational activities related to the unit, and make active contributions to their success.

Marks for class attendance and performance will be determined by

- a) Whether students attend class regularly or not;
- b) How much effort students have made to prepare for the class;
- c) How actively students participate in class discussion; and
- d) How helpful students' comments are to the work of other students.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Attain a basic knowledge of Chinese culture and tradition, including Chinese philosophy, history, writing, and art.
- Develop critical thinking and analytical skills. Students should be able to independently and critically analyse important aspects of Chinese culture.
- Acquire generic academic and communication skills, including self-awareness, interpersonal skills and working with others, skills in information gathering and management, problem-solving skills, and written and oral communication skills.

Delivery and Resources

Graduate Capabilities

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Attain a basic knowledge of Chinese culture and tradition, including Chinese philosophy, history, writing, and art.
- Develop critical thinking and analytical skills. Students should be able to independently and critically analyse important aspects of Chinese culture.

Assessment tasks

- Assignments
- Class Test 1 (mid-semester)
- Class Test 2 (end of semester)
- Class participation

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Attain a basic knowledge of Chinese culture and tradition, including Chinese philosophy, history, writing, and art.
- Develop critical thinking and analytical skills. Students should be able to independently and critically analyse important aspects of Chinese culture.
