Unit description

Unlike commercial marketing which seeks to simplify changes in purchasing patterns, social marketing seeks to change strongly ingrained behaviour or firmly held beliefs in a manner that benefits individuals and society at large. Examples of social marketing include campaigns to prevent or reduce alcohol consumption, smoking, drug abuse, domestic violence and unsafe driving. This unit examines how to design a marketing strategy that will move the target audience from indifference to action and ultimately maintenance. The unit uses a case study approach drawing on current and historic Australian and international campaigns.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Differentiate between commercial and social marketing and outline the scope of social marketing, seeking out new ideas and opportunities.

Demonstrate awareness of social responsibility and become familiar with the range of issues where social marketing has an impact

Appreciate the characteristics and needs of others in society and understand prospective challenges to social issues including environmental sustainability.

Critically analyse, discuss, and evaluate social marketing strategies and use secondary research skills to collect, collate and integrate examples with theory.

Apply marketing techniques and theories to develop creative solutions to social problems acknowledging the implications of managerial decisions on society.

Demonstrate use of written and oral skills to integrate key social marketing theoretical concepts and to create a coherent and theoretically rigorous argument relating to sustainability concepts.

Individual Case Study

Due: 17 Dec 2014 9:00am

Weighting: 20%

Students investigate a social, health or environmental issue of their choice. The area of investigation must be approved by your tutor in the second tutorial class.

Students gather multiple forms of digital content related to their approved issue and write a case study report. The digital content can be written documents in the form of academic journal articles, newspaper articles, industry or government reports, web links, images, sound or video clips.

In Session 5 no later than 9:00am in the MORNING Wednesday 17 December students must:

- submit their case study to Turnitin AND post their case study to the iLearn case study discussion board.

Students then read and comment on others' submissions.

No hardcopies will be accepted. No late submission will be accepted. No extensions will be granted. Students who have not submitted the task prior to the deadline will be awarded a mark of 0 for the task, except for cases in which an application for disruption to studies is made and approved.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Differentiate between commercial and social marketing and outline the scope of social marketing, seeking out new ideas and opportunities.
- Demonstrate awareness of social responsibility and become familiar with the range of issues where social marketing has an impact
- Critically analyse, discuss, and evaluate social marketing strategies and use secondary research skills to collect, collate and integrate examples with theory.
- Apply marketing techniques and theories to develop creative solutions to social problems acknowledging the implications of managerial decisions on society.
- Demonstrate use of written and oral skills to integrate key social marketing theoretical concepts and to create a coherent and theoretically rigorous argument relating to sustainability concepts.

Tutorial & Forum Participation

Due: Throughout the 12 sessions

Weighting: 10%

Students have the opportunity to participate in lectures, in weekly online discussion forums, in the case study discussion forum and during tutorials.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate awareness of social responsibility and become familiar with the range of issues where social marketing has an impact
- Appreciate the characteristics and needs of others in society and understand prospective challenges to social issues including environmental sustainability.
- Critically analyse, discuss, and evaluate social marketing strategies and use secondary research skills to collect, collate and integrate examples with theory.
- Apply marketing techniques and theories to develop creative solutions to social problems acknowledging the implications of managerial decisions on society.
- Demonstrate use of written and oral skills to integrate key social marketing theoretical concepts and to create a coherent and theoretically rigorous argument relating to sustainability concepts.

Final Exam

Due: Exam period

Weighting: 40%

The duration of the exam is 3 hour plus 10 minutes held during the university's exam period. The final exam is comprehensive covering all materials in lecture, tutorials, textbook, videos and readings. The final exam is long essay format. Failure to take the final exam will result in 0 out of 40 marks. Students who miss the final exam due to illness will need to lodge an online disruption to studies application with supporting documentation in order to be considered for a supplementary final exam.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Differentiate between commercial and social marketing and outline the scope of social marketing, seeking out new ideas and opportunities.
- Demonstrate awareness of social responsibility and become familiar with the range of issues where social marketing has an impact
- Appreciate the characteristics and needs of others in society and understand prospective challenges to social issues including environmental sustainability.
- Critically analyse, discuss, and evaluate social marketing strategies and use secondary research skills to collect, collate and integrate examples with theory.

- Apply marketing techniques and theories to develop creative solutions to social problems acknowledging the implications of managerial decisions on society.
- Demonstrate use of written and oral skills to integrate key social marketing theoretical concepts and to create a coherent and theoretically rigorous argument relating to sustainability concepts.

Creative Production

Due: 6 Jan, 9 Jan and 14 Jan 2015

Weighting: 30%

In the first tutorial, students will form into 4 groups of 6. Tutors will then allocate group topics that groups will work on for the remainder of the tutorials. Group creative productions will be graded in three sections each worth 10 marks based on the quality of the material created and presented.

Every group member must sign a group contract in session 3 indicating the presentation section and week for which they are responsible.

- Every group member must take a co-leadership role for one section which means everyone will present one section and upload material to iLearn.
- Every group member must complete a peer evaluation for each member of the group indicating their level of contribution to the overall group work.
- All group members must attend the tutorials in which their group presents.
- All creative production materials must be uploaded to iLearn a day prior to the tutorials in which their group presents.

No late material will be accepted. No extensions will be granted. Students who have not submitted the task prior to the deadline or who do not attend the tutorials in which their group presents will be awarded a mark of 0 for the task, except for cases in which an application for disruption to studies is made and approved.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Differentiate between commercial and social marketing and outline the scope of social marketing, seeking out new ideas and opportunities.
- Demonstrate awareness of social responsibility and become familiar with the range of issues where social marketing has an impact
- Appreciate the characteristics and needs of others in society and understand prospective challenges to social issues including environmental sustainability.
- Critically analyse, discuss, and evaluate social marketing strategies and use secondary research skills to collect, collate and integrate examples with theory.

- Apply marketing techniques and theories to develop creative solutions to social problems acknowledging the implications of managerial decisions on society.
- Demonstrate use of written and oral skills to integrate key social marketing theoretical concepts and to create a coherent and theoretically rigorous argument relating to sustainability concepts.

Graduate Capabilities

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Differentiate between commercial and social marketing and outline the scope of social marketing, seeking out new ideas and opportunities.
- Demonstrate awareness of social responsibility and become familiar with the range of issues where social marketing has an impact
- Critically analyse, discuss, and evaluate social marketing strategies and use secondary research skills to collect, collate and integrate examples with theory.
- Apply marketing techniques and theories to develop creative solutions to social problems acknowledging the implications of managerial decisions on society.

Assessment tasks

- Individual Case Study
- Tutorial & Forum Participation
- Final Exam
- Creative Production

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Critically analyse, discuss, and evaluate social marketing strategies and use secondary research skills to collect, collate and integrate examples with theory.
- Apply marketing techniques and theories to develop creative solutions to social problems acknowledging the implications of managerial decisions on society.
- Demonstrate use of written and oral skills to integrate key social marketing theoretical concepts and to create a coherent and theoretically rigorous argument relating to sustainability concepts.

Assessment tasks

- Individual Case Study
- Creative Production

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Appreciate the characteristics and needs of others in society and understand prospective challenges to social issues including environmental sustainability.
- Critically analyse, discuss, and evaluate social marketing strategies and use secondary research skills to collect, collate and integrate examples with theory.

- Apply marketing techniques and theories to develop creative solutions to social problems acknowledging the implications of managerial decisions on society.
- Demonstrate use of written and oral skills to integrate key social marketing theoretical concepts and to create a coherent and theoretically rigorous argument relating to sustainability concepts.

Assessment tasks

- Individual Case Study
- Creative Production

Socially and Environmentally Active and Responsible

We want our graduates to be aware of and have respect for self and others; to be able to work with others as a leader and a team player; to have a sense of connectedness with others and country; and to have a sense of mutual obligation. Our graduates should be informed and active participants in moving society towards sustainability.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Differentiate between commercial and social marketing and outline the scope of social marketing, seeking out new ideas and opportunities.
- Demonstrate awareness of social responsibility and become familiar with the range of issues where social marketing has an impact
- Appreciate the characteristics and needs of others in society and understand prospective challenges to social issues including environmental sustainability.

Assessment tasks

- Tutorial & Forum Participation
- Final Exam

Changes from Previous Offering

Changes from Semester 2 2014:

- Different topics for Creative Productions
- Some limitations in the choice of topics for Individual Case Studies
- Recommended useful supplementary reading of an additional text
