Unit description

This unit will enable students to attain the key legal skills (legal research, reasoning, and writing; applying precedent; statutory interpretation; and legal problem solving) and to acquire the foundational legal knowledge (Australia legal institutions; legal theory; comparative legal systems; parliamentary process; role of the judiciary) necessary for further study in law. This unit will challenge students to apply their skills and knowledge to examine a contemporary socio-legal issue through a collaborative group project. Students will also engage in reflective practice.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Apply principles of academic honesty and rules for correct legal citation (AGLC3)

Apply principles of statutory interpretation and the doctrine of precedent to interpret primary legal sources (case law and legislation) for the purpose of deriving legal rules and principles

Analyse factual problem scenarios and prepare a structured response using the HIRAC framework for legal problem solving

Locate relevant primary and secondary sources through legal research using online databases, library resources and internet sources

Communicate effectively in both oral and written form to both legal and non-legal audiences

Consider, critique and recommend innovative solutions to contemporary legal problems in their broader social context

Collaborate effectively with other students in a respectful, collegial and inclusive manner

Identify and explain the broader philosophical, ethical and socio-political context of legal issues and problems

Define, describe and relate sources of legal norms in the Australian legal system (including private and public law, indigenous customary law, international law) and other legal systems in the world

Apply reflective practice to learning as law students and as future legal professionals

General Assessment Information

Unless otherwise noted or instructed by the Unit Convenor or your tutor, Assessment Tasks are due by 3pm on the Friday of the Week indicated.

This unit is graded on a Satisfactory (Pass) or Fail basis.

Each assessment task must be submitted by the due date indicated on the unit iLearn page (or otherwise directed by their tutor) and must receive a grade of 'satisfactory' in accordance with the rubric provided for that assessment in order to pass the unit.

Students will be afforded an opportunity to resubmit any assessment task that is not deemed to be 'satisfactory' by their tutor. In such cases, students will be required to reflect on and incorporate feedback provided by their tutor on the assessment task into their resubmission. Students may also be directed to undertake supplementary work or access learning supports provided by the University. Students must comply with deadlines for resubmission provided by their tutor. Subject to variation by written agreement with their tutor, students have one week from receipt of feedback to review, revise and resubmit their work.

Students who fail to obtain a 'satisfactory' grade on a resubmission of any assessment task will be referred to the unit convenor. The Convenor will, at this point, either:

- direct the tutor to provide a further and final opportunity to resubmit their work (depending on the demonstrated level of engagement of the student with the assessment task, feedback provided by the tutor and likelihood that a further resubmission will result in a successful outcome for the assessment task); or
- enter a 'Fail' grade for the Unit.

Unless a student has been granted a time extension under the University's Disruption to Studies Policy, any work (including resubmissions) submitted after the commencement of the formal exam period for that semester will be deemed late, not graded and result in a grade of 'Fail' being recorded for the unit.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Due
Academic Honesty & Referencing	10%	Week 3
Statutory Interpretation	10%	Week 3
Case Brief	10%	Week 4
Research note	10%	Week 6
Hypothetical Problem	20%	Week 7
Group Project	20%	Week 7
Group Project 2	10%	Weeks 8-12
Reflective Case Analysis	10%	Week 13

Academic Honesty & Referencing

Due: Week 3

Weighting: 10%

These two multiple choice quizzes will require students to demonstrate:

- Understanding and application of principles of academic honesty; and
- Ability to follow the correct rules for citation (AGLC3).

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Apply principles of academic honesty and rules for correct legal citation (AGLC3)

Statutory Interpretation

Due: Week 3

Weighting: 10%

This short answer assignment will require students to demonstrate:

- understanding of principles of statutory interpretation; and
- the ability to apply them to interpret legislation for the purpose of deriving and constructing legal rules and principles

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Apply principles of statutory interpretation and the doctrine of precedent to interpret primary legal sources (case law and legislation) for the purpose of deriving legal rules and principles

Case Brief

Due: Week 4

Weighting: 10%

In this short essay (500 words), students will be required to demonstrate:

- the ability to clearly and concisely summarise a case;
- understanding of the doctrine of precedent; and
- the ability to interpret case law for the purpose of deriving and constructing legal rules and principles

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Apply principles of statutory interpretation and the doctrine of precedent to interpret primary legal sources (case law and legislation) for the purpose of deriving legal rules and principles

Research note

Due: Week 6

Weighting: 10%

Students will prepare a short research note (500 words) on a contemporary legal issue in which they will be required to demonstrate:

- the ability to carry out basic legal research tasks, including finding and analysing relevant primary and secondary sources; and
- the ability to communicate effectively in a written form to a non-legal audience.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Locate relevant primary and secondary sources through legal research using online databases, library resources and internet sources
- Communicate effectively in both oral and written form to both legal and non-legal audiences
- Identify and explain the broader philosophical, ethical and socio-political context of legal issues and problems

Hypothetical Problem

Due: Week 7

Weighting: 20%

In this essay (1,000 words), students will solve a hypothetical problem in public law. This problem will be the fact scenario for the annual Foundations Public Law Mooting Competition. Students will be required to demonstrate:

- the ability to analyse factual scenarios and identify relevant legal issues;
- the ability to understand and apply basic principles of legal problem solving and reasoning;
- the ability to carry out basic legal research tasks, including finding and analysing relevant primary and secondary sources;
- the ability to communicate effectively in a written form to a legal audience.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Apply principles of statutory interpretation and the doctrine of precedent to interpret primary legal sources (case law and legislation) for the purpose of deriving legal rules and principles
- Analyse factual problem scenarios and prepare a structured response using the HIRAC framework for legal problem solving
- Locate relevant primary and secondary sources through legal research using online databases, library resources and internet sources
- Communicate effectively in both oral and written form to both legal and non-legal audiences

Group Project

Due: Week 7

Weighting: 20%

Using the wiki platform on the unit ilearn web page, students will publish a written submission (1,500 – 2,000 words) for their group project. Students will be required to demonstrate:

- the ability to interpret primary and secondary sources for the purpose of deriving and constructing legal rules and principles;
- the ability to engage creatively with contemporary legal problems in their social context and to propose innovative solutions;
- the ability to collaborate effectively in a time-sensitive, multi-stage project;
- the ability to communicate effectively in written form with a non-legal audience; and
- the ability to demonstrate their understanding of the broader philosophical, ethical and/or socio-political context of legal issues and problems.

All individual student contributions to the Group Project must be evidenced by meaningful posts recorded on the wiki (including submission of original text, editing, revision and online discussion). Collaboration that occurs outside the wiki online platform will not be credited.

Students who demonstrably fail to contribute meaningfully to the group project will receive a grade of 'unsatisfactory' for this assessment task and will be precluded from participating in the group project 2, that is, the presentations.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Locate relevant primary and secondary sources through legal research using online databases, library resources and internet sources
- Consider, critique and recommend innovative solutions to contemporary legal problems in their broader social context
- Collaborate effectively with other students in a respectful, collegial and inclusive manner
- Identify and explain the broader philosophical, ethical and socio-political context of legal issues and problems

Group Project 2

Due: Weeks 8-12

Weighting: 10%

Each group will be allocated 10 minutes to present their work, followed by up to 5 minutes for questions and answers in relation to the outcomes of their Group Project (assessment task 5). Students will demonstrate their ability to communicate research outcomes effectively in oral form to both legal (their tutors) and non-legal (their peers) audiences.

Students who failed to contribute meaningfully to Assessment task 5 will be precluded from completing this assessment task.

Note: Distance education students will commence their projects online prior to the residential school dates. They will be provided with an opportunity to meet for one hour at the end of Day 1 to coordinate their 'work in progress' presentations, which they will deliver in Day 2.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Locate relevant primary and secondary sources through legal research using online databases, library resources and internet sources
- Communicate effectively in both oral and written form to both legal and non-legal audiences
- Consider, critique and recommend innovative solutions to contemporary legal problems in their broader social context
- Collaborate effectively with other students in a respectful, collegial and inclusive manner
- Identify and explain the broader philosophical, ethical and socio-political context of legal issues and problems

Reflective Case Analysis

Due: Week 13

Weighting: 10%

Students will write a short essay (750 words) in which they reflect on their own group project and that of one other groups and set out (1) how the relevant principles of public law would ground a solution for the issues at stake; and (2) how further study in the LLB program would assist them to build their knowledge base and legal skills to provide more rigorous, critical and innovative solutions. Students will be challenged to reflect on the anticipated relevance of each of the other compulsory units in the LLB program and at least four electives of their choice.

Through this assessment task, students will also be required to demonstrate their knowledge of foundational public law concepts covered in the lectures and their capacity to engage in reflective practice.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identify and explain the broader philosophical, ethical and socio-political context of legal issues and problems
- Define, describe and relate sources of legal norms in the Australian legal system (including private and public law, indigenous customary law, international law) and other legal systems in the world
- Apply reflective practice to learning as law students and as future legal professionals

Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Consider, critique and recommend innovative solutions to contemporary legal problems in their broader social context

Assessment tasks

- Group Project
- Group Project 2

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Apply principles of academic honesty and rules for correct legal citation (AGLC3)
- Collaborate effectively with other students in a respectful, collegial and inclusive manner
- Apply reflective practice to learning as law students and as future legal professionals

Assessment tasks

- Academic Honesty & Referencing
- Reflective Case Analysis

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Apply reflective practice to learning as law students and as future legal professionals

Assessment task

- Reflective Case Analysis

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Apply principles of academic honesty and rules for correct legal citation (AGLC3)
- Apply principles of statutory interpretation and the doctrine of precedent to interpret primary legal sources (case law and legislation) for the purpose of deriving legal rules and principles
- Analyse factual problem scenarios and prepare a structured response using the HIRAC framework for legal problem solving
- Locate relevant primary and secondary sources through legal research using online databases, library resources and internet sources
- Define, describe and relate sources of legal norms in the Australian legal system (including private and public law, indigenous customary law, international law) and other legal systems in the world

Assessment tasks

- Academic Honesty & Referencing
- Statutory Interpretation
- Case Brief
- Hypothetical Problem
- Group Project
- Group Project 2

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Apply principles of statutory interpretation and the doctrine of precedent to interpret primary legal sources (case law and legislation) for the purpose of deriving legal rules and principles
- Analyse factual problem scenarios and prepare a structured response using the HIRAC framework for legal problem solving
- Consider, critique and recommend innovative solutions to contemporary legal problems in their broader social context
- Identify and explain the broader philosophical, ethical and socio-political context of legal issues and problems
- Define, describe and relate sources of legal norms in the Australian legal system (including private and public law, indigenous customary law, international law) and other legal systems in the world

Assessment tasks

- Statutory Interpretation
- Case Brief
- Research note
- Hypothetical Problem
- Group Project
- Group Project 2

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Analyse factual problem scenarios and prepare a structured response using the HIRAC framework for legal problem solving
- Locate relevant primary and secondary sources through legal research using online databases, library resources and internet sources

Assessment tasks

- Hypothetical Problem
- Group Project
- Group Project 2

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Communicate effectively in both oral and written form to both legal and non-legal audiences
- Consider, critique and recommend innovative solutions to contemporary legal problems in their broader social context
- Collaborate effectively with other students in a respectful, collegial and inclusive manner

Assessment tasks

- Research note
- Hypothetical Problem
- Group Project
- Group Project 2

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Apply principles of academic honesty and rules for correct legal citation (AGLC3)
- Collaborate effectively with other students in a respectful, collegial and inclusive manner
- Identify and explain the broader philosophical, ethical and socio-political context of legal issues and problems

Assessment tasks

- Group Project
- Group Project 2

Socially and Environmentally Active and Responsible

We want our graduates to be aware of and have respect for self and others; to be able to work with others as a leader and a team player; to have a sense of connectedness with others and country; and to have a sense of mutual obligation. Our graduates should be informed and active participants in moving society towards sustainability.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Identify and explain the broader philosophical, ethical and socio-political context of legal issues and problems

Assessment tasks
