Unit description

This unit examines the relationships between Australia's changing culture and society, and the literature that society produces for its children. It deals mainly with the literature of the past 20 years, and explores the representations of such issues as: maturation; relationships of self to place; structures of power and authority in society; and the quest for reconciliation between the white settler society and the Aboriginal peoples of Australia. These issues are examined in fiction, picture books, and film.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Understand and apply concepts employed in discussing and analysing relations between Australian culture and texts produced for children.

Develop the ability to conceptualise notions of high culture and popular culture and understand the orientation of literature to cultural presuppositions and forms.

Develop the ability to theorise concepts of gender representation and examine changing representations of gender in literature, film and television.

Develop skills in textual and cultural analysis, especially the ability to analyse the extent to which texts attempt to intervene in cultural formations

Attain a conceptual language with which to discuss children's film and television and gain an increased level of visual, verbal and critical literacy.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Due
Class participation	10%	Evaluated at end of session.
Short Essay	30%	18/03/15
Annotated bibliography	20%	24/04/15
Major essay	40%	11/06/15

Class participation

Due: Evaluated at end of session.

Weighting: 10%

Students will be graded on their class participation. If internal, they will be graded on their class contribution and preparation. If external, they will be graded on the basis of their participation in the iLearn Discussion Board. External students must make a minimum of one post per week (with the exception of week 6, when there are no lectures or tutorials).

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand and apply concepts employed in discussing and analysing relations between Australian culture and texts produced for children.
- Develop the ability to conceptualise notions of high culture and popular culture and understand the orientation of literature to cultural presuppositions and forms.
- Develop the ability to theorise concepts of gender representation and examine changing representations of gender in literature, film and television.
- Develop skills in textual and cultural analysis, especially the ability to analyse the extent to which texts attempt to intervene in cultural formations
- Attain a conceptual language with which to discuss children's film and television and gain an increased level of visual, verbal and critical literacy.

Short Essay

Due: 18/03/15

Weighting: 30%

Students will submit a short essay (1,500 words) on the Week 2 topic:

To what extent do the texts listed below engage with global politics and culture? Does this engagement problematise the construction of Australian culture and the notion of an Australian cultural identity?

Choose 2 of the 3 texts listed here to use in your discussion:

1. Meme McDonald & Boori Pryor, The Binna Binna Man;
2. Wheatley and Rawlins, My Place (picture book)
3. Australian Rules (film)

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand and apply concepts employed in discussing and analysing relations between Australian culture and texts produced for children.
- Develop skills in textual and cultural analysis, especially the ability to analyse the extent to which texts attempt to intervene in cultural formations
- Attain a conceptual language with which to discuss children's film and television and gain an increased level of visual, verbal and critical literacy.

Annotated bibliography

Due: 24/04/15

Weighting: 20%

Students must submit an annotated bibliography on the topic that they have selected for their final essay.

Find five items of literary criticism or cultural theory that are relevant to your proposed topic. They should each be the length of an article or a book chapter and at least four of them should be high-quality secondary research sources that you think are worthy of inclusion in your thesis bibliography. READ them. Write a 300 word assessment of each one indicating its value to your research for your thesis. Each entry should also list the full bibliographic details for each source.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand and apply concepts employed in discussing and analysing relations between Australian culture and texts produced for children.
- Attain a conceptual language with which to discuss children's film and television and gain an increased level of visual, verbal and critical literacy.

Major essay

Due: 11/06/15

Weighting: 40%

Please choose an essay topic from the list provided in the Weekly Guide, which is available from the ENGL310 iLearn site. This essay should be approximately 3000 words in length and should refer to two or three texts set for study.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand and apply concepts employed in discussing and analysing relations between Australian culture and texts produced for children.
- Develop the ability to conceptualise notions of high culture and popular culture and understand the orientation of literature to cultural presuppositions and forms.
- Develop the ability to theorise concepts of gender representation and examine changing representations of gender in literature, film and television.
- Develop skills in textual and cultural analysis, especially the ability to analyse the extent to which texts attempt to intervene in cultural formations
- Attain a conceptual language with which to discuss children's film and television and gain an increased level of visual, verbal and critical literacy.

To complete ENGL310 students must:

- Attend and participate in tutorials (if internal) or on-campus sessions (if external).*
- Complete all prescribed assessment tasks.
- Reach a satisfactory level of achievement in the prescribed assessment tasks.

*Absence from more than two tutorials without written explanation (medical or counselling certificate) will result in loss of the tutorial mark and will disqualify a student from passing the unit. University regulations also stipulate that a student must attempt every part of assessment in order to be eligible to pass a unit of study.

Notes on Participation for External Students:

External students must participate in online discussions via the ENGL310 iLearn site. External students should read the weekly texts and prepare the tutorial discussion topics in advance, then post responses to the tutorial questions and respond to the posts of other students, to facilitate an active discussion such as would occur in a face-to-face tutorial. Students are also encouraged to raise other relevant points of interest in their online discussions. Be prepared to question the opinions of others, to have your opinions challenged and to participate actively in discussion. Students are expected to make at least 12 posts* over the semester.

*A "post" is defined as a discursive response relevant to unit interests of at least 50 words: a short paragraph of at least 4 sentences.

Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Develop skills in textual and cultural analysis, especially the ability to analyse the extent to which texts attempt to intervene in cultural formations
- Attain a conceptual language with which to discuss children's film and television and gain

an increased level of visual, verbal and critical literacy.

Assessment tasks

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Understand and apply concepts employed in discussing and analysing relations between Australian culture and texts produced for children.
- Develop the ability to conceptualise notions of high culture and popular culture and understand the orientation of literature to cultural presuppositions and forms.

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Develop the ability to conceptualise notions of high culture and popular culture and understand the orientation of literature to cultural presuppositions and forms.
- Develop the ability to theorise concepts of gender representation and examine changing representations of gender in literature, film and television.

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Develop the ability to theorise concepts of gender representation and examine changing representations of gender in literature, film and television.
- Attain a conceptual language with which to discuss children's film and television and gain an increased level of visual, verbal and critical literacy.
