Unit description

This unit aims to serve as a transition to the next stage of a student's career, whether that is entry into the workforce or pursuing further study, by providing an opportunity to reflect on and consolidate the knowledge and insight developed through their degree into a significant practical or theoretical project. According to each student's interest, the focus of the project is selected from a wide range of topics in the field of Japanese Studies (language and/or content/area studies). Students will be expected to demonstrate their knowledge via their chosen media of presentation (such as interview, written work, audio/video clips, oral presentation, translating/interpreting tasks). To successfully complete this unit, it is essential that students exercise their own initiative in managing their project.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Critically reflect on and consolidate disciplinary specific knowledge in order to effectively utilise it through your future career.

Independently and objectively search for and locate relevant material from a broad range of sources in order to place the project in the appropriate perspectives and contexts.

Independently develop and execute an original, comprehensive project that investigates, analyses and evaluates concepts and issues in the field of Japanese studies (language and/or content/area studies) and adheres to university ethical standards.

Independently produce clear, reasoned, well-structured oral and/or audiovisual and/or written material, which are correctly referenced.

Make effective use of time and resources for efficient and timely planning and completion of tasks.

General Assessment Information

Supplementary Tests & Late Submissions

If you anticipate unavoidable difficulty in sitting for tests (in class and online), contact the convener as soon as possible. A request for a supplementary test will be considered only in the case of serious illness or disruption. Assignments are compulsory and must be submitted on time. As a general rule, extensions will not be granted without a valid and documented reason (e.g. medical certificate). Late submissions will be penalised by 5% for each day (including weekends) the assignment task is late. No assignments will be accepted after assignments have been corrected and feedback has been provided. Assignment tasks handed in early will not be marked and returned before the due date.

Disruption to Studies

If a student is prevented by serious and unavoidable disruption from completing unit requirements in accordance with their ability, they may apply for support under the Disruption to Studies Policy. To access this support, students must notify the university via ask.mq.edu.au. Students should refer to the Disruption to Studies Policy for further information (see the link provided in the 'Policies and procedures' section of this unit guide).

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Due
Unit Participation	15%	Weekly
Project Proposal	20%	21.12.2015
Project Presentation	20%	22.01.2016
Final Project	45%	31.01.2016

Unit Participation

Due: Weekly

Weighting: 15%

Students will be required to have an individual consultation with the unit convenor (in person, by phone or email) in Week 1, and submit 150-word weekly logs as well as participate in weekly discussions from Week 2. Your support to other students through weekly discussion forums will be counted positively.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Critically reflect on and consolidate disciplinary specific knowledge in order to effectively utilise it through your future career.
- Independently and objectively search for and locate relevant material from a broad range of sources in order to place the project in the appropriate perspectives and contexts.

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Critically reflect on and consolidate disciplinary specific knowledge in order to effectively utilise it through your future career.

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Critically reflect on and consolidate disciplinary specific knowledge in order to effectively utilise it through your future career.
- Independently develop and execute an original, comprehensive project that investigates, analyses and evaluates concepts and issues in the field of Japanese studies (language and/or content/area studies) and adheres to university ethical standards.

- Independently produce clear, reasoned, well-structured oral and/or audiovisual and/or written material, which are correctly referenced.

Assessment tasks

- Unit Participation
- Project Proposal
- Project Presentation
- Final Project

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Critically reflect on and consolidate disciplinary specific knowledge in order to effectively utilise it through your future career.
- Independently and objectively search for and locate relevant material from a broad range of sources in order to place the project in the appropriate perspectives and contexts.

- Independently produce clear, reasoned, well-structured oral and/or audiovisual and/or written material, which are correctly referenced.
- Make effective use of time and resources for efficient and timely planning and completion of tasks.

Assessment tasks

- Unit Participation
- Project Proposal
- Final Project

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Independently develop and execute an original, comprehensive project that investigates, analyses and evaluates concepts and issues in the field of Japanese studies (language and/or content/area studies) and adheres to university ethical standards.
- Independently produce clear, reasoned, well-structured oral and/or audiovisual and/or written material, which are correctly referenced.

Assessment tasks

- Unit Participation
- Project Proposal
- Project Presentation

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Independently produce clear, reasoned, well-structured oral and/or audiovisual and/or written material, which are correctly referenced.
