Unit description

This unit requires students to attend the Research Seminar Series of the Department of Accounting and Corporate Governance. Students taking this unit will normally also be enrolled in ACCG893. There are seminars over the year, half in each semester. The seminars range over a variety of areas and topics in accounting, auditing, accounting information systems and finance and are presented by local, interstate and overseas academics and researchers.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

To provide exposure to current research in a variety of areas relating to accounting and corporate governance.

To facilitate the development of critical skills in evaluating research.

To develop skills in identifying research opportunities and potential pitfalls.

To facilitate the development of written and presentation skills through articulation of your thoughts, ideas and comments on current research (both in writing and through oral presentation).

Delivery and Resources

Classes

You must:

·Attend all pre-seminar classes and seminars.

·Arrive at the pre-seminar class having read the seminar paper and independently completed the “ACCG807 Seminar Review Form”. You must bring to the seminar two copies of your review. One copy is to be submitted to at the commencement of the class and the second copy is to be retained for your personal use during the pre-seminar class.

·Complete the final examination.

Unit Web Page

Course material is available on the learning management system (iLearn). The web page for this unit can be found at <https://ilearn.mq.edu.au/login/MQ/>.

Teaching and Learning Activities

The pre-seminar classes will run along the following lines:

·Students will be randomly assigned to a group for the duration of the class and each student in each group will submit copies of the individually completed Seminar Paper Review Form. The forms submitted at the commencement of the class will serve as a record of individuals' preparation and personal contribution to the substance of the discussion. Please ensure that you record your assigned group number on the seminar paper review form you submit at the start of the class. If you fail to do so your submitted work will get a presentation mark of zero!

·The facilitator will then assign to each group one or more aspects of the paper to present and discuss based on the sections of the Seminar Paper Review Form. The presentations should take no more than 5 - 10 minutes and will work best if other members of the class make contributions to the discussion. The facilitator will help to ensure that other members of the class make contributions and that the discussions stay focused

·At the conclusion of the presentations the facilitator will provide an overview of what has been learned/discovered (the contribution of the paper) and a summary of suggestions for improvements to the paper.

·While the format of the pre-seminar classes will be reasonably consistent, the facilitator will vary the format according to the research area of the paper to be presented.
