Unit description
This unit examines how the film industry has defined folktale for the twentieth century, especially its contents and structures. It explores the significances given to the 'universal' structural elements employed in film and television versions of folktale and their potential for ideological impact on culture, especially in the promotion of particular cultural formations and the containment of change (as in the shifting representations of limited female agency).

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at http://students.mq.edu.au/student_admin/enrolmentguide/academicdates/

Learning Outcomes

1. Develop an understanding of and an ability to apply concepts employed in discussing and analysing film texts in particular, and folktale texts in general.
2. Attain a conceptual language with which to discuss film and folktale forms.
3. Gain an understanding of the relationship between folktale texts and the culture that produces them.
4. Develop skills in textual and cultural analysis, especially the extent to which film texts reflect, shape and attempt to intervene in cultural formations.

Short Film Report

Due: 27/03/2015
Weighting: 30%

Using the Glossary of Film Terms which has been uploaded to this unit's iLearn site, write an analysis of one scene from either Snow White and the Huntsman or Blancanieves. You can choose any scene you like, but please clearly identify which scene it is at the beginning of your report. This analysis should be approximately 1000 words in length and should analyse the various cinematic techniques used to communicate significance/meaning in this particular scene.

This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:
- Attain a conceptual language with which to discuss film and folktale forms.

Seminar Paper

Due: 2 wks after seminar
Weighting: 30%

One seminar paper of approximately 2000 words, based on a seminar topic from weeks 5-11, due two weeks after the relevant seminar.

This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:
- Develop an understanding of and an ability to apply concepts employed in discussing and analysing film texts in particular, and folktale texts in general.
- Gain an understanding of the relationship between folktale texts and the culture that produces them.

Final essay

Due: 16/06/15
Weighting: 40%
One major essay of approximately 3000 words, due June 16th. The topics are listed in the unit program, which is available to download from the LIT 859 iLearn site.

This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:

- Develop an understanding of and an ability to apply concepts employed in discussing and analysing film texts in particular, and folktale texts in general.
- Gain an understanding of the relationship between folktale texts and the culture that produces them.
- Develop skills in textual and cultural analysis, especially the extent to which film texts reflect, shape and attempt to intervene in cultural formations.

Delivery and Resources

SET TEXT

WEEKLY READING/VIEWING

Each week, we will be screening a film (or films) in class. In addition to watching these films in class, you can also watch them in the Macquarie Library (a copy of each is available from Reserve) or rent them yourself from iTunes.
