Unit description

This unit is offered online and is intended for students, who have completed PLH220 or for those who have equivalent knowledge of Polish at this level. It is a continuation of PLH220 and includes further survey of the grammatical categories and syntactic structures of contemporary Polish with relevant exercises, as well as practice in reading and listening comprehension, conversation, and writing. This unit uses a variety of delivery modes such as printed materials, a recorded CD, and computer-mediated communication. A voluntary on-campus session will give students the opportunity to meet their lecturer and fellow students, as well as practice speaking skills and pronunciation, and revise material before the exam. Interstate students will find the revision material in their online unit.

Graduate Capabilities

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- To hear, speak, read and write modern Polish language in a variety of registers.
- To revise grammatical structures previously studied and learn new structures essential to oral and written fluency and accuracy.

- To understand and gain proficiency in the mechanics of writing Polish.

Assessment tasks

- Assignment 1
- Assignment 2
- Oral Test
- Exam

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- To hear, speak, read and write modern Polish language in a variety of registers.
- To attain a good level of spoken and written Polish through practice in class and completion of exercises and assignments.
- To revise grammatical structures previously studied and learn new structures essential to oral and written fluency and accuracy.
- To understand and gain proficiency in the mechanics of writing Polish.

Assessment tasks
