Unit description

This unit is designed for students who have little or no previous experience with the writing of kanji (Chinese characters). Students who have previous experience can only be accepted by special arrangement with the unit convenor. This unit complements JPS102 by providing students with opportunities to develop their ability to use kanji in context through the writing of basic compositions in Japanese. Students will be introduced to a variety of study techniques for learning kanji, including the basic historical elements. Students will be instructed in the differences between handwritten and typed characters, and engage in practical activities to develop their abilities in both areas.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Write and type hiragana, katakana, and basic kanji clearly, accurately and use them appropriately in written texts

Recognise basic kanji including both on and kun readings, and identify basic features of kanji, including radicals, the role of kanji, and the basic historical elements in the Japanese writing system

Transcribe the sound from a limited range of basic aural texts to written text accurately
Integrate familiar vocabulary, kanji and grammar to understand short passages on a familiar topic and demonstrate understanding by responding appropriately in English or in Japanese

Compose well-organized short written texts in Japanese by applying their knowledge of kanji, grammar, and vocabulary in a limited range of prescribed text types and on a range of familiar topics

Demonstrate effective interpersonal communication skills through active and equal participation in in-class activities, group/pair work, class discussion and assessment tasks.

General Assessment Information

Late Submissions, Extensions and Supplementary Tests

Assessment tasks are compulsory and must be submitted on time. As a general rule, extensions will not be granted without a valid and documented reason (e.g. medical certificate). Late submissions will be penalised by 5% for each day (including weekends) the assessment task is late. A request for a supplementary test will be considered only in the case of serious illness or disruption. No assessment tasks will be accepted after assessment tasks have been corrected and feedback has been provided. Assessment tasks handed in early will not be marked and returned before the due date. If you anticipate unavoidable difficulty in completing an assessment task (in class and/or online), contact the convener or your tutor as soon as possible.

Disruption to Studies

If a student is prevented by serious and unavoidable disruption from completing unit requirements in accordance with their ability, they may apply for support under the Disruption to Studies Policy. To access this support, students must notify the university via ask.mq.edu.au. Students should refer to the Disruption to Studies Policy for further information (see the link provided in the 'Policies and procedures' section of this unit guide).

Assessment Tasks

Unit Participation

Due: Weekly

Weighting: 10%

Students must attend at least 80% of classes for satisfactory completion of this unit. However, Unit Participation refers to much more than simply being in attendance. Students are expected to actively and fairly take their role as a member of this small learning community and to ensure that they appropriately focus on their own learning needs. Students are expected to: be punctual; be well prepared for class; ask questions as appropriate; co-operate with classmates and follow instructions from teaching staff; complete all individual homework promptly and to the best of their ability; treat staff members and fellow students with respect.

Note:

- External students will be assessed by their online participation only.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Write and type hiragana, katakana, and basic kanji clearly, accurately and use them appropriately in written texts
- Recognise basic kanji including both on and kun readings, and identify basic features of kanji, including radicals, the role of kanji, and the basic historical elements in the Japanese writing system
- Transcribe the sound from a limited range of basic aural texts to written text accurately
- Integrate familiar vocabulary, kanji and grammar to understand short passages on a familiar topic and demonstrate understanding by responding appropriately in English or in Japanese
- Compose well-organized short written texts in Japanese by applying their knowledge of kanji, grammar, and vocabulary in a limited range of prescribed text types and on a range of familiar topics
- Demonstrate effective interpersonal communication skills through active and equal participation in in-class activities, group/pair work, class discussion and assessment tasks.

Online Quizzes

Due: Weekly

Weighting: 5%

Generic performance in writing, reading and typing in Japanese will be examined regularly. Online Quizzes in iLearn will be available from 5 pm on Monday to 1 pm of the following Monday.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Write and type hiragana, katakana, and basic kanji clearly, accurately and use them appropriately in written texts
- Recognise basic kanji including both on and kun readings, and identify basic features of kanji, including radicals, the role of kanji, and the basic historical elements in the Japanese writing system
- Transcribe the sound from a limited range of basic aural texts to written text accurately
- Integrate familiar vocabulary, kanji and grammar to understand short passages on a familiar topic and demonstrate understanding by responding appropriately in English or in Japanese

Composition Homework

Due: Weeks 3, 6, 9, 10, 12

Weighting: 30%

You are required to write a one page hand-written composition (maximum 400-ji [characters]), using genko yoshi (a special paper with squares). Internal students are required to submit the composition in class and external students online. Topics are as follows:

1. My week - due in Week 3
2. My family - due in Week 6
3. Postcard to the teacher - due in Week 9
4. My hobby - due in Week 10
5. Original folk tale - due in Week 12

Any errors in your composition will be highlighted by the tutor and you will need to post your revised composition in the discussion forum in iLearn. Late submission will result in 5% deduction each day from your overall mark. Marking criteria will be available in iLearn.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Write and type hiragana, katakana, and basic kanji clearly, accurately and use them appropriately in written texts
- Compose well-organized short written texts in Japanese by applying their knowledge of kanji, grammar, and vocabulary in a limited range of prescribed text types and on a range of familiar topics

Tests

Due: Weeks 4, 7, 11

Weighting: 30%

There will be three tests conducted in Weeks 4, 7, 11. Tests may include the following types of questions:

- Listen & Write: Transcribe the sound from a limited range of basic aural texts to written text accurately
- Read & Write: Integrate familiar vocabulary, kanji and grammar to understand short passages on a familiar topic and demonstrate understanding by responding appropriately in English or in Japanese
- Think & Write: Compose well-organized sentences in Japanese by applying knowledge of kanji, grammar, and vocabulary in a limited range of prescribed text types and on a range of familiar topics
- Creative Writing: Compose well-organized short written texts in Japanese by applying knowledge of kanji, grammar, and vocabulary in a limited range of prescribed text types and on a range of familiar topics

Note: External students will take the tests online.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Write and type hiragana, katakana, and basic kanji clearly, accurately and use them appropriately in written texts
- Recognise basic kanji including both on and kun readings, and identify basic features of kanji, including radicals, the role of kanji, and the basic historical elements in the Japanese writing system

- Compose well-organized short written texts in Japanese by applying their knowledge of kanji, grammar, and vocabulary in a limited range of prescribed text types and on a range of familiar topics

Delivery and Resources

Required and recommend texts and/or materials

Each week students are required to print out the weekly kanji practice sheets and bring them to each tutorial. Other handouts and materials will be provided in class and online.

Unit webpage and technology used and required

Online units can be accessed at: <http://learn.mq.edu.au/>. Students must have regular, reliable access to a computer and the internet to complete this unit. Mobile devices are not sufficient.

Basic computer skills (e.g., internet browsing) and skills in word processing are also a requirement. Students should also ensure they can use Japanese fonts (for typing).

Students may be asked to bring a mobile device, such as a laptop computer, smart phone or tablet, to class for activities.

Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Write and type hiragana, katakana, and basic kanji clearly, accurately and use them appropriately in written texts
- Integrate familiar vocabulary, kanji and grammar to understand short passages on a familiar topic and demonstrate understanding by responding appropriately in English or in Japanese
- Compose well-organized short written texts in Japanese by applying their knowledge of kanji, grammar, and vocabulary in a limited range of prescribed text types and on a range of familiar topics

Assessment tasks

- Unit Participation
- Composition Homework
- Tests
- Final Test

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Demonstrate effective interpersonal communication skills through active and equal participation in in-class activities, group/pair work, class discussion and assessment tasks.

Assessment tasks

- Unit Participation
- Tests

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Demonstrate effective interpersonal communication skills through active and equal participation in in-class activities, group/pair work, class discussion and assessment tasks.

Assessment tasks

- Unit Participation
- Online Quizzes

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Write and type hiragana, katakana, and basic kanji clearly, accurately and use them appropriately in written texts

- Recognise basic kanji including both on and kun readings, and identify basic features of kanji, including radicals, the role of kanji, and the basic historical elements in the Japanese writing system
- Transcribe the sound from a limited range of basic aural texts to written text accurately
- Integrate familiar vocabulary, kanji and grammar to understand short passages on a familiar topic and demonstrate understanding by responding appropriately in English or in Japanese

Assessment tasks

- Unit Participation
- Online Quizzes
- Composition Homework
- Tests
- Final Test

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Recognise basic kanji including both on and kun readings, and identify basic features of kanji, including radicals, the role of kanji, and the basic historical elements in the Japanese writing system
- Integrate familiar vocabulary, kanji and grammar to understand short passages on a familiar topic and demonstrate understanding by responding appropriately in English or in Japanese

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Recognise basic kanji including both on and kun readings, and identify basic features of kanji, including radicals, the role of kanji, and the basic historical elements in the Japanese writing system
- Demonstrate effective interpersonal communication skills through active and equal participation in in-class activities, group/pair work, class discussion and assessment tasks.
