Unit description

This unit focuses on the retelling of traditional stories, mainly drawn from European cultures, as a significant endeavour in Anglophone children's literature. Students will pursue research paths that consider how the following narrative forms are 'retold': classical myths, Bible stories, heroic legends, Arthurian romances and 'oriental' tales. These retellings are also examined for what they can disclose about the aspirations of society and the values it wishes to convey to children.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Acquire a coherent and advanced knowledge of the range and types of retellings produced for children.

Synthesize and analyze information from a variety of sources, and be aware of the various ways in which the literature is oriented by cultural assumptions, practices and ideologies.

Articulate clearly a coherent argument in written and oral form to a variety of audiences.

Think critically and make informed and logical judgments of the arguments of others to arrive at reasoned and meaningful arguments and positions, and formulate and apply ideas to new contexts.

Demonstrate the ability to apply accumulated knowledge and skills to make decisions in the context of professional practice and/or scholarship.

Demonstrate high standards of ethical conduct in research activities and relationships.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Due
Participation	10%	Week 12
Early Feedback Research Essay	40%	25/08/2015
Major Essay	50%	10/11/2015

Participation

Due: Week 12

Weighting: 10%

External students must participate in online discussions via the LIT 846/ ENGL 705 iLearn site.

As part of their participation, students must nominate one of the weekly topics and will then be responsible for leading the group discussion on this topic in the relevant week. Students will be asked to nominate a topic in Week 1, and a roster will then be drawn up and posted on the iLearn site. At the beginning of each week, students who have nominated that topic will be responsible for leading the class discussion.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Acquire a coherent and advanced knowledge of the range and types of retellings produced for children.
- Synthesize and analyze information from a variety of sources, and be aware of the various ways in which the literature is oriented by cultural assumptions, practices and ideologies.
- Articulate clearly a coherent argument in written and oral form to a variety of audiences.
- Think critically and make informed and logical judgments of the arguments of others to arrive at reasoned and meaningful arguments and positions, and formulate and apply ideas to new contexts.
- Demonstrate the ability to apply accumulated knowledge and skills to make decisions in the context of professional practice and/or scholarship.

Early Feedback Research Essay

Due: 25/08/2015

Weighting: 40%

Please write a research essay on either the week 2 (Bible stories) or week 3 (Classical myths) topics. In addition to addressing the discussion topic for this week, please refer to at least 4 secondary sources in the construction of your argument.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Synthesize and analyze information from a variety of sources, and be aware of the various ways in which the literature is oriented by cultural assumptions, practices and ideologies.
- Articulate clearly a coherent argument in written and oral form to a variety of audiences.
- Think critically and make informed and logical judgments of the arguments of others to arrive at reasoned and meaningful arguments and positions, and formulate and apply ideas to new contexts.
- Demonstrate the ability to apply accumulated knowledge and skills to make decisions in the context of professional practice and/or scholarship.
- Demonstrate high standards of ethical conduct in research activities and relationships.

Major Essay

Due: 10/11/2015

Weighting: 50%

Please write a final essay based on the topics listed for weeks 2-12.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Acquire a coherent and advanced knowledge of the range and types of retellings produced for children.
- Synthesize and analyze information from a variety of sources, and be aware of the various ways in which the literature is oriented by cultural assumptions, practices and ideologies.
- Articulate clearly a coherent argument in written and oral form to a variety of audiences.
- Think critically and make informed and logical judgments of the arguments of others to arrive at reasoned and meaningful arguments and positions, and formulate and apply ideas to new contexts.
- Demonstrate the ability to apply accumulated knowledge and skills to make decisions in the context of professional practice and/or scholarship.
- Demonstrate high standards of ethical conduct in research activities and relationships.

Delivery and Resources

ENGL 705 will be run as an online unit in Session 2, 2015. This means that there are no face-to-face classes scheduled. Students must use the LIT 846/ ENGL 705 iLearn site to access unit material and take part in weekly discussions.

Mini Lectures will be provided on the LIT 846/ENGL 705 iLearn site (although they not scheduled for each weekly topic). These lectures will not function as comprehensive summaries of the readings, nor should students anticipate that these lectures offer definitive 'answers' to many of the big questions we will look at this semester. The lectures are designed to contextualise the readings, suggest multiple approaches to their interpretation, and direct attention to specific aspects of the readings or issues for discussion. In some cases, the lectures will survey an issue or theme and propose working definitions of key terms (definitions which you are encouraged to adapt, elaborate on and contend with).

Policies and Procedures

Macquarie University policies and procedures are accessible from Policy Central. Students should be aware of the following policies in particular with regard to Learning and Teaching:
