Unit description

This unit provides students with an opportunity to develop and demonstrate advanced research skills through a series of seminar presentations and supervised research, leading to the submission of a 8000 word thesis. Students formulate their own research question or argument in any area of legal scholarship or regulation. The thesis must be presented and defended within the broader conditions of its relevance, for example: social, historical, philosophical, economic or environmental contexts.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Choose an appropriate topic for a legal research project;

Use appropriate legal research methodologies, carry out independent research and analysis, and think creatively about legal problems;

Critically analyse legal arguments orally and in writing;
Undertake a legal research project that can lead to a high quality scholarly paper suitable for publication;
Raise claims and support them with logical, evidence-based arguments;
Evaluate and, if justified, refute counter arguments;
Give an oral presentation of a research argument in an academic environment; an
Formulate and present oral and written arguments appropriate to a legal research project.

Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Critically analyse legal arguments orally and in writing;
- Undertake a legal research project that can lead to a high quality scholarly paper suitable for publication;

- Raise claims and support them with logical, evidence-based arguments;

Assessment tasks

- Research Proposal
- Submission of Thesis

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Critically analyse legal arguments orally and in writing;
- Raise claims and support them with logical, evidence-based arguments;
- Evaluate and, if justified, refute counter arguments;

Assessment task

- Submission of Thesis

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Choose an appropriate topic for a legal research project;
- Critically analyse legal arguments orally and in writing;
- Undertake a legal research project that can lead to a high quality scholarly paper suitable for publication;
- Raise claims and support them with logical, evidence-based arguments;
- Evaluate and, if justified, refute counter arguments;

Assessment tasks

- Research Proposal
- Three minute thesis
- Submission of Thesis

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Choose an appropriate topic for a legal research project;
- Use appropriate legal research methodologies, carry out independent research and analysis, and think creatively about legal problems;
- Critically analyse legal arguments orally and in writing;

- Formulate and present oral and written arguments appropriate to a legal research project.

Assessment tasks

- Research Proposal
- Submission of Thesis

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Choose an appropriate topic for a legal research project;
- Use appropriate legal research methodologies, carry out independent research and analysis, and think creatively about legal problems;

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Choose an appropriate topic for a legal research project;

Assessment tasks
