Unit description

This unit focuses on the institutional arrangements of public and private law and the role of the legal profession(s) in their administration. The unit covers the history and profile of the legal profession, the development of ethical reasoning and application of ethical systems to legal practice. Importantly the unit focuses on discrete problems of legal ethics such as confidentiality, access to justice, truth in the adversarial system, conflicts of interest, and relationships between lawyers, clients and society. The unit introduces students to general skills of ethical problem solving and to the importance of sound communication skills for the practise of law.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Critique the role of the lawyer and law student in Australian society

Identify different theoretical approaches to legal ethics and relate these approaches to a range of problems and settings

Explain the law of professional responsibility that regulates the practice of law in Australia including duties owed to the client, to the court, practitioners and others, and apply this knowledge to different scenarios

Explain and apply communication skills required for ethical practice, especially listening skills, interviewing skills, cross cultural communication skills and negotiation skills

Apply the principles of plain English to written communication

General Assessment Information

Students should be aware of and apply the University policy on academic honesty.

In the absence of a successful application for Disruption to Studies made online via Ask.mq.edu.au, late assessments will not be marked and will receive a grade of 0. All assessments are submitted electronically. Turnitin plagiarism detection software is used to check all written assessments. Students should carefully check that they submit the correct file for an assessment as no resubmissions will be accepted after the due date.

Word limits are strictly applied.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Due
Tutorial Participation	0%	weekly
Early quiz	10%	9pm Friday 21st August
Ethics essay	25%	9pm Friday 4th September
Ethics problem	45%	9pm Friday 23rd October
Final Quiz	20%	9pm Friday 13th November

Tutorial Participation

Due: weekly

Weighting: 0%

Participation is Pass/Fail. You must pass this aspect of the course in order to pass the Unit.

Tutorials in this unit only work if all students attend and give the entire group the benefit of their views based upon the readings and their experience.

Specific readings and exercises will be set for each tutorial. The tutorial program is set out on iLearn in a weekly format.

External students will be assessed on their participation at the compulsory on-campus session.

External students should also undertake the readings and look at the exercises for the tutorials, as this material will form the basis for the activities undertaken at the on campus session. More information on the structure of the on campus session will be provided closer to the time on iLearn.

You must attend all tutorials. You are required to participate in the tutorial role plays, discussions, debates, reflective exercises and any other activities. Tutors will engage in ongoing assessment of student participation using the following criteria:

- 1. Preparation and understanding of material: the student has listened to the lecture materials and other learning resources provided online, read the required reading and has attempted to link the tutorial materials to the lectures, to other course materials and to their life experience
- 2. Ability to critically discuss the material: the student is able to critically discuss the tutorial materials and contributes to class discussions in a way that assists the learning of others
- 3. Clear expression of ideas: the student is able to clearly express their ideas about the materials
- 4. Engaging with other students: the student engages with others in the class taking an active role in discussions, role plays, debates and other activities assigned by the tutor. The student responds to others in the class by listening to them, providing constructive feedback and asking questions.
- 5. Demonstration of skills: The student is able to demonstrate communication skills including listening skills, interviewing skills, cross cultural communication skills and negotiation skills.

From time to time, tutors will collect examples of student work completed in tutorials. Tutors may set impromptu quizzes in class or at the on campus session to assess a student's knowledge of the tutorial preparation material.

If you cannot attend a tutorial you must send a message to your tutor on iLearn to inform them of your absence. Your tutor may assign you work to complete in lieu of attendance.

Extended absences of more than two tutorials must meet the criteria for Disruption to Studies. Applications for Disruptions to Studies are made online at ask.mq.edu.au in response to a serious and unavoidable event.

Tutors will raise any concerns about poor participation with the student involved. Students will be given an opportunity to submit remedial work where there are concerns about participation or unexplained absences.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Critique the role of the lawyer and law student in Australian society
- Identify different theoretical approaches to legal ethics and relate these approaches to a range of problems and settings
- Explain the law of professional responsibility that regulates the practice of law in Australia including duties owed to the client, to the court, practitioners and others, and apply this knowledge to different scenarios
- Explain and apply communication skills required for ethical practice, especially listening skills, interviewing skills, cross cultural communication skills and negotiation skills
- Apply the principles of plain English to written communication

Early quiz

Due: 9pm Friday 21st August

Weighting: 10%

This is a time limited quiz of one hour to test student's understanding of the early materials from Weeks 1- Week 4.

Students can open the quiz at any time after 9am. The quiz will automatically shut down at 9pm. Students will have one hour to complete the quiz from the time that they open it. When one hour has expired, all saved answers will be automatically submitted.

Graduate Capabilities

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Critique the role of the lawyer and law student in Australian society
- Apply the principles of plain English to written communication

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Critique the role of the lawyer and law student in Australian society
- Identify different theoretical approaches to legal ethics and relate these approaches to a range of problems and settings
- Explain the law of professional responsibility that regulates the practice of law in Australia including duties owed to the client, to the court, practitioners and others, and apply this knowledge to different scenarios

Assessment tasks

- Tutorial Participation
- Early quiz
- Ethics essay
- Ethics problem
- Final Quiz

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Critique the role of the lawyer and law student in Australian society
- Identify different theoretical approaches to legal ethics and relate these approaches to a range of problems and settings

Assessment tasks

- Tutorial Participation
- Ethics essay

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Assessment task

- Ethics problem

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Explain the law of professional responsibility that regulates the practice of law in Australia including duties owed to the client, to the court, practitioners and others, and apply this knowledge to different scenarios
- Explain and apply communication skills required for ethical practice, especially listening skills, interviewing skills, cross cultural communication skills and negotiation skills
- Apply the principles of plain English to written communication

Assessment tasks

- Tutorial Participation
- Ethics essay
- Ethics problem

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Critique the role of the lawyer and law student in Australian society
- Identify different theoretical approaches to legal ethics and relate these approaches to a range of problems and settings
- Explain the law of professional responsibility that regulates the practice of law in Australia including duties owed to the client, to the court, practitioners and others, and apply this knowledge to different scenarios

Changes from Previous Offering

A number of changes have been made since the last offering:

- The textbook has been revised. The 2015 offering is based on the 2nd edition of the Barry textbook.
- The assessments have changed. There are now two essays and no reflective writing.
- The weekly schedule has been revised and early tutorials focus more on written communication skills.
