Unit description

This unit covers the broad sweep of ancient Greek history from the eighth century when Greeks began to settle ('colonize') outside Balkan Greece, through the extraordinary developments of the Late Archaic and High Classical periods, to the end of the fifth century when Athens lost her long war with Sparta. During these years Greeks were ruled by kings, aristocrats, oligarchs, tyrants, and (some of them) by themselves, in the world's first democratic systems. The unit focuses on political and economic development, the conflict with Persia, and the Peloponnesian War. It examines how literary, archaeological, and epigraphic sources are used to reconstruct the past.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Understand and remember primary source-based information relating to ancient Greece in the eighth to fifth centuries BC

Study and interpret primary literary sources (in English translation) relating to Greece in the Archaic and High Classical periods

Read and evaluate modern academic studies (written in English) of Greece in the

Archaic and High Classical periods

Study and interpret published archaeological data relating to Greece in the Archaic and High Classical periods

Write analytical and argumentative studies relating ancient Greece to broader issues in ancient and modern history

Present written work to a high standard, with relevant footnoting and accurate bibliographies

General Assessment Information

SUCCESSFUL COMPLETION OF THE UNIT

To complete the unit successfully you need a minimum mark of 50% overall. You must attempt every piece of assessment or university policy requires that a zero grade be given.

GRADES:

F: 0-49% P: 50-64% CR: 65-74% D: 75-84% HD: 85-100%

Grade descriptors may be found in a separate document on the unit's website.

BLOGS

You are required to post at least eight blogs of no more than 100 words per week commenting on one significant aspect of the reading(s) by Friday 4pm each week. The best five will count. Each is worth 5% of your total mark (total 25% for all five).

ONLINE QUIZZES

There are short online quizzes in weeks 4, 7, 10 and 12. These will test you on the material covered in the lectures and tutorials in the weeks preceding each one. (Tip: you will easily be able to answer the questions if you have listened to the material). Access to the quiz is through the unit's website. You may take the quizzes at any time during the relevant week but you may take each quiz only once. Each quiz consists of 10 questions and is worth 5% of your total mark (total 20% for all four). All answers will either be right or wrong.

MAJOR ESSAY

The MAJOR ESSAY is due by 5pm Friday 16 October, 2015. It is worth 25% of your total mark for the unit.

The essay questions will be provided for the first tutorial in Week 2.

Your answer to the essay question should demonstrate extensive use of primary and secondary sources. Bibliographies provided give you a starting point for developing a reading list of secondary literature relevant to the essay topic. In order to locate further material on particular issues you should consult the footnotes and indices of modern works.

Your essay should be based on an analysis and discussion of primary (ancient) sources. Secondary literature should be used to aid you in your analysis and interpretation of the ancient sources and to place your interpretation within the context of previous scholarship. All opinions included in the essay, whether quoted directly or paraphrased, should be referenced according to the guidelines, Essay Presentation & Conventions: Style Guide, available online at http://mq.edu.au/about_us/faculties_and_departments/faculty_of_arts/department_of_ancient_history/teaching_materials/. Ensure you download the full version of the Essay Presentation Guide. Don't footnote lectures or include anything in footnotes except citations, and remember to include every reference you have actually used in your bibliography. You must include a word count. Anything beyond the prescribed word limit will not be marked.

Marking criteria:

1. Argument and critical evaluation of evidence - 30% weighting
2. Structure and organisation - 20% weighting
3. Use of primary sources - 15% weighting
4. Use of secondary sources - 15% weighting
5. Grammar, style and spelling - 10% weighting
6. Referencing and bibliography - 10% weighting

EXAMINATION

The closed-book, invigilated, two-hour exam will test your knowledge of the material offered during the whole unit in both lectures and tutorials. It is worth 30% of the total marks. There will be three sections. Section A will consist of ten short answer questions all of which must be answered. It will be worth one-third of the marks for the exam. Sections B and C will each consist of a short essay and each will be worth a further third of the marks for the exam. You will have a choice of topics. Section B will cover topics from before the session break, and Section C will cover topics from after the session break.

Marking criteria:

1. knowledge of and depth of understanding of relevant subject matter
2. structure of argument
3. skill in presenting the argument
4. presentation (including spelling and grammar). Illegible writing will not be marked

You are required to present yourself for examination at the time and place designated in the University Examination Timetable. The only exception to sitting an examination at the designated time is because of documented illness or unavoidable disruption. In these circumstances, please consult University Policy for the available procedure.

EXTENSIONS AND PENALTIES

All due dates are firm. Permission to submit a late piece of work will only be granted in case of illness or other exceptional cases. Special approval for such late submissions must be sought in advance (where circumstances permit it). Late work will otherwise incur a penalty of 2% per day (including weekends), unless there are special circumstances (normally illness or serious misadventure) and unless an extension of time has been granted by the Unit Convenor or the Head of Department.

RETURN OF WORK

Essays

I plan to return essays within four weeks of submission. I will post a note on the unit's website to let you know when the essays have been marked. Assignment tasks handed in early will not be marked and returned before the due date.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Due
On-line quizzes	20%	Weeks 4, 7, 10, 12

Delivery and Resources

Delivery modes

Internal (Day) and External

Lectures and tutorials

- Lectures: There are two lectures per week on Tuesdays 12-1 pm W5A T1 Theatre, and Thursdays 2-3 pm W5A T2 Theatre
- Tutorials: There is one tutorial per week for Weeks 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11 & 12. See the website for a list of tutorials all of which are on Tuesdays and Thursdays for one hour
- For current updates, times and classrooms please consult the MQ Timetables website: <http://www.timetables.mq.edu.au>.
- Lectures will be recorded and available via Echo 360.
- One tutorial a week will be recorded and available via Echo 360. This is mostly intended for External students, though everyone is free to listen to it. Please note that the tutorial is given in an ordinary classroom and because of the limitations of the recording equipment it may be difficult to hear when students talk, though it should be possible to hear what the tutor says.
- Attendance at tutorials is required for day students. If you are unable to go to your scheduled tutorial, go to one at a different time (no special permission is needed for this).

Plagiarism and other dishonest behaviours are not allowed.

The nature of scholarly endeavour, dependent as it is on the work of others, binds all members of the University community to abide by the principles of academic honesty. Academic honesty is an integral part of the core values and principles contained in the Macquarie University Ethics Statement. Its fundamental principle is that all staff and students act with integrity in the creation, development, application and use of ideas and information. This means that: all academic work claimed as original is the work of the author making the claim all academic collaborations are acknowledged academic work is not falsified in any way when the ideas of others are used, these ideas are acknowledged appropriately.

All academic and professional staff involved in learning, teaching and research are expected to display leadership in this area. One of the University's objectives is to produce ethically and socially aware graduates, capable of applying the skills and knowledge they have developed at University to all aspects of their lives, as well as to their academic work. Academic dishonesty undermines the integrity of the University's academic awards and assessment processes, and damages the University's reputation. It also reduces the effectiveness of a student's time at the University. Examples of some dishonest behaviours are deception, fabrication, plagiarism and sabotage.

DEFINITIONS

Deception: includes, but is not limited to, false indication of group contribution, false indication of assignment submission, collusion, submission of a work previously submitted, creating a new article out of an existing article by rewriting/reusing it, using the same data to form the same arguments and conclusion, presenting collaborative work as one's own without acknowledging others' contributions, cheating in an examination or using others to write material for examination.

Fabrication: includes, but is not limited to, creating fictitious clinical data, citation(s), or referee reports.

Plagiarism: Using the work or ideas of another person and presenting this as your own without clear acknowledgement of the source of the work or ideas. This includes, but is not limited to, any of the following acts: copying out part(s) of any document or audio-visual material or computer code or website content without indicating their origins; using or extracting another person's concepts, experimental results, or conclusions; summarising another person's work; submitting substantially the same final version of any material as another student in an assignment where there was collaborative preparatory work; use of others (paid or otherwise) to conceive, research or write material submitted for assessment; submitting the same or substantially the same piece of work for two different tasks (self-plagiarism).

Sabotage: includes, but is not limited to, theft of work, destruction of library materials.

ACADEMIC HONESTY POLICY

This Policy applies to all students and to staff of the University involved in learning, teaching and research.

The key principles of this policy are that the University will:

1. require all students and staff to undertake their academic work honestly
2. use a range of approaches to educate students and staff to practise honesty in their academic work and raise awareness of the importance of ensuring ethical behaviour with respect to research
3. take consistent and equitable action to manage dishonest student behaviours by:
 1. communicating to students that any piece of academic work can be checked at any time using an appropriate process
 2. implementing a common remedial and penalty framework across the University
 3. establishing and applying appropriate, consistent procedures for detecting and investigating alleged academic dishonesty
 4. providing and communicating the appeal process
4. apply the appropriate processes of the Macquarie University Enterprise Agreement to manage alleged academic dishonesty by staff. The University will engage staff and students by:
 - *using appropriate mechanisms to advise staff and students of the Policy
 - *developing educational strategies to promote academic honesty
 - *developing strategies that reduce opportunities for academic dishonesty
 - *designing strategies to increase student engagement with their study, and their ability to submit their own work
 - *reviewing these strategies at appropriate intervals.

COMPLIANCE AND BREACHES

The University may commence applicable disciplinary procedures if a person to whom this policy applies breaches this policy (or any of its related procedures).

Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Study and interpret primary literary sources (in English translation) relating to Greece in the Archaic and High Classical periods
- Study and interpret published archaeological data relating to Greece in the Archaic and High Classical periods
- Write analytical and argumentative studies relating ancient Greece to broader issues in ancient and modern history
- Present written work to a high standard, with relevant footnoting and accurate bibliographies

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Understand and remember primary source-based information relating to ancient Greece in the eighth to fifth centuries BC
- Study and interpret primary literary sources (in English translation) relating to Greece in the Archaic and High Classical periods
- Read and evaluate modern academic studies (written in English) of Greece in the Archaic and High Classical periods

Changes from Previous Offering

This unit covers the same period as in 2013 but it has changed in some ways: - it has a broader range of topics - it looks to provide a general understanding as well as a base for further study - it is more concerned with how we know things and interpret the past than specific events or dates
