Unit description This unit provides a basic introduction to administrative law. It covers access to information (including the provision of reasons for decisions, freedom of information, and privacy), merits review, and judicial review, as well as considering varying theories, overarching concepts and doctrines, and statutory interpretation.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

- Acquire knowledge of the basic mechanisms and principles of administrative law (merits review, judicial review, Freedom of Information, natural justice, errors of law).
- Demonstrate and improve the skill of interpretation of statutes.
- Demonstrate legal problem-solving.
- Understand and apply case analysis.
- Critical analysis of facts and the law.
- Contextualise administrative law within the government, legal, constitutional and social contexts
- Produce clear and grammatical writing and analysis.
- Communicate clearly and thoughtfully

General Assessment Information

All written work must be submitted on time. Any work submitted late will receive a mark of zero. No extensions are granted, other than in accordance with the Disruption to Study Policy, available at http://www.mq.edu.au/policy/docs/disruption_studies/policy.html. Please NOTE: with respect to the Final sit-down exam, ONLY ONE supplementary examination is proffered: students who have successfully sought a supplementary exam due to disruption, MUST sit the stipulated supplementary exam.

Disruptions to Study and Special Consideration

Unit Convenors must grant appropriate Special Consideration in all cases where the University has found that a disruption is serious and unavoidable. Please read the information below carefully. If you meet the criteria, you need to apply through www.ask.mq.edu.au within five (5) working days of the commencement of the disruption.

Serious and Unavoidable Disruption is defined in the policy as :

“The University classifies a disruption as serious and unavoidable if it:

- could not have reasonably been anticipated, avoided or guarded against by the student; and
- was beyond the student's control; and
- caused substantial disruption to the student's capacity for effective study and/or completion of required work; and
- occurred during an event critical study period and was at least three (3) consecutive days duration, and / or
- prevented completion of a final examination.

“Students with a pre-existing disability/health condition or prolonged adverse circumstances may be eligible for ongoing assistance and support. Such support is governed by other policies and may be sought and coordinated through Campus Wellbeing and Support Services.”

Evidence requirements for applying for Special Consideration due to Disruption to Study

When applying for special consideration, you will need to provide evidence of the kind set down in the following schedule.

Purpose	This Schedule provides guidance to administrators and academic staff engaged in the process of determining whether a serious and unavoidable disruption to a student's study should be regarded as being serious and unavoidable under the Disruption to Study Policy. It also establishes minimum standards in regard to the documentary evidence required to substantiate such cases.
----------------	---

Schedule

Under the Disruption to Study Policy the University deems a disruption to studies to be serious and unavoidable if it arises from a set of circumstances that:

- could not have reasonably been anticipated, avoided or guarded against by the student; and
- was beyond the student's control; and
- caused substantial disruption to the student's capacity for effective study and/or completion of required work; and
- occurred during an event critical study period and was at least three (3) consecutive days duration, and / or
- prevented completion of a final examination.

The University does not regard conditions or circumstances that exist prior to commencing a unit of study as being serious and unavoidable disruptions, except in the event of unanticipated deterioration of that condition or circumstance. However, the University does provide for the ongoing support of students who experience acute adverse conditions, circumstances or disabilities. This planned support may be sought by contacting Campus Wellbeing and Support Services. Disruption to Studies notifications that are intended to document a serious and unavoidable disruption must be supported by specific evidence as described below.

General Evidence Requirements: Evidence must demonstrate that substantial disruption has been caused to the student's capacity for effective study during an event critical study period and include:

- beginning date and duration of the effect of disruption; and
- a statement confirming that the student:
 - was unable to complete a final examination because of the effect of the disruption; and / or
 - was unable to complete an assessable task, on the relevant date, because of the disruption which was of no fewer than three (3) consecutive days, or
 - had their preparation for an assessable task affected for not fewer than three (3) consecutive days duration.

Requirements for all Written Work in Assignments

All written work must be written clearly, with good grammar, correct word usage, correct punctuation, and lack of spelling errors. Poor or bad expression will be penalised, as the study of law is one in which clear expression and the meaning of words are of the highest importance. All written work must be properly referenced and conform to standard stylistic conventions. All cases have to be properly cited. Students must consult The Australian Guide to Legal Citation (3rd edn., 2010) which may either be bought from or ordered through the Co-op Bookshop, or accessed for viewing through <http://www.law.unimelb.edu.au/files/dmfile/FinalOnlinePDF-2012Reprint.pdf>.

In addition to clear grammatical sentence structure, students are expected to structure their work logically. Headings may be used to facilitate the progress of your argument in the essay. A very poorly referenced and expressed essay will likely fail.

Essays may include a bibliography of all sources consulted (though all bibliographical information of sources quoted or referred to in the essay must be included in footnotes.) A bibliography is not mandatory.

Essays are to comply with the word limit. The number of words must be clearly stated on the first page of the essay. The type-face for the body of the essay is to be in Times New Roman (or similar) 12-point font and use 1½ line spacing is to be used. Footnotes are to be in Times New Roman (or similar) 10 point font using single line spacing. Footnotes are only to be used for referencing, not for argumentation. All four margins of the pages are to be 2.5 cm. Footnotes are not to be counted in the word length.

Please note: students who fail to follow these guidelines on style, length and formatting are liable to be significantly penalised.

Students must keep a printed copy of their paper made at the same time as they submit their work, and identical to the submitted work. Do not just keep a copy on disk.

Be sure to answer the question. To do so, it is necessary to begin by identifying the key points that need to be addressed in your essay, and by defining the key terms. Students, as a result of their analysis, must always come to a conclusion.

Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Critical analysis of facts and the law.
- Contextualise administrative law within the government, legal, constitutional and social contexts

Assessment task

- Essay: Facts and Evidence

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Acquire knowledge of the basic mechanisms and principles of administrative law (merits review, judicial review, Freedom of Information, natural justice, errors of law).
- Demonstrate and improve the skill of interpretation of statutes.
- Demonstrate legal problem-solving.
- Understand and apply case analysis.

- Produce clear and grammatical writing and analysis.
- Communicate clearly and thoughtfully

Assessment tasks

- Optional Refresher Quiz
- Essay Statutory Interpretation
- Essay: Facts and Evidence
- Sit down closed book exam

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Assessment task

- Optional Refresher Quiz

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Acquire knowledge of the basic mechanisms and principles of administrative law (merits review, judicial review, Freedom of Information, natural justice, errors of law).

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Acquire knowledge of the basic mechanisms and principles of administrative law (merits review, judicial review, Freedom of Information, natural justice, errors of law).
- Demonstrate and improve the skill of interpretation of statutes.
- Demonstrate legal problem-solving.
- Understand and apply case analysis.
- Critical analysis of facts and the law.
- Contextualise administrative law within the government, legal, constitutional and social contexts
- Communicate clearly and thoughtfully

Assessment task

- Sit down closed book exam

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Produce clear and grammatical writing and analysis.
- Communicate clearly and thoughtfully

Assessment tasks

- Essay Statutory Interpretation
- Essay: Facts and Evidence
- Sit down closed book exam

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Acquire knowledge of the basic mechanisms and principles of administrative law (merits review, judicial review, Freedom of Information, natural justice, errors of law).
- Critical analysis of facts and the law.
- Contextualise administrative law within the government, legal, constitutional and social contexts

Changes from Previous Offering

The Unit description was changed to reflect that the Unit now deals solely with administrative law.
