Unit description

To succeed in a globalised business environment, it is imperative for managers to understand contemporary approaches to leading and managing in culturally diverse environments and explore strategies and tactics for managing international assignments and teams. Core objectives of this unit are to enhance multicultural competence and skills and impart an understanding of how cultural diversity affects managerial behaviour and processes which is highly valued by future employers. The unit utilises a range of assessments such as simulations, experiential exercises, forums, reflective tasks, case studies, presentations and group activities in order to synthesise students' understanding of cross-cultural theories and their ability to apply their learning.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Interpret and analyse the diversity of cultures and its implication as they relate to business management and demonstrate a consciousness of the intricacy of operating in the global market

Appraise the multicultural 'big picture' in which global trade and government forces operate, and summarise the major culture-based challenges faced by international managers (political, social, legal, economic and technological)

Identify major cultural characteristics, including communication styles that characterise regions, nations, communities, organisations, groups and individuals

Investigate major cultural differences in views on strategy for international alliances, including decision making and controls, labour relations and management of a range of culture-based tactics for international negotiations

Classify, characterize and critique particular leadership styles globally in given situations for varying motivational techniques depending on circumstances

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Due
1. CASE STUDY	20%	Week 2 - Week 13
2. REPORT	20%	16th May,2016 @5pm.
3. FINAL EXAM	40%	Week 14
4. CLASS PARTICIPATION	20%	Week 1 - Week 10

1. CASE STUDY

Due: Week 2 - Week 13

Weighting: 20%

Weekly Case Analysis & Presentation (group mark for case analysis and individual mark for presentation)

Time: 30 minutes

Submission : In class

Estimated student workload: 10 hours

Marking Criteria: Please see rubrics on iLearn

Length of case study analysis: Not specified as each case has differing requirements but as a general guide line no more than four A4 pages.

Late Submissions

No extensions will be granted. There will be a deduction of 10% of the total available marks made from the total awarded mark for each 24 hour period or part thereof that the submission is late (for example, 25 hours late in submission – 20% penalty). This penalty does not apply for cases in which an application for disruption of studies is made and approved. No submission will be accepted after solutions have been posted.

Task Overview

The class will be divided into 10 groups and each group will pick a case study in a draw in the first week. Each group will discuss and present the analysis for the week's case study within a time period of 30 minutes in class. Please note that a common mark will be given out of 10 for the group work component of the case analysis and an individual mark will be given for the presentation skills out of 10 in this assignment. Students are supposed to read the week's case study before coming to class and come ready to discuss, defend and question other students. Each group only presents once during the 13 weeks of the semester. The process of analysing a case study will be taught to you in the first lecture and a "How to analyse a case study" document can be found on iLearn.

Deliverables

The case analysis should address the following:

A. Introduction

A brief of the case environment, company, industry, country, culture and case problem

B. Body

Should include the following sections: Identification of major stakeholders and their problems, objectives and concerns, recommended solutions, managerial implications.

C. Conclusion

Briefly summarize the essential complexities posed in this case and the practical implications and lessons learned.

D. Case question

Every case study has case questions at the end of the case which will serve as a direction to analyse the case study you do not have to answer these case questions.

Detailed marking rubrics for this assessment can be seen on iLearn.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Interpret and analyse the diversity of cultures and its implication as they relate to business management and demonstrate a consciousness of the intricacy of operating in the global market
- Appraise the multicultural 'big picture' in which global trade and government forces operate, and summarise the major culture-based challenges faced by international managers (political, social, legal, economic and technological)

- Investigate major cultural differences in views on strategy for international alliances, including decision making and controls, labour relations and management of a range of culture-based tactics for international negotiations
- Classify, characterize and critique particular leadership styles globally in given situations for varying motivational techniques depending on circumstances

2. REPORT

Due: 16th May, 2016 @5pm.

Weighting: 20%

REPORT (Individual assignment)

Length: 2500 words

Due Date :16th May, 2015 @5 pm

Submission: Online through Turnitin

Estimated student workload: 10 hours

Grading Criteria: Please see rubrics on iLearn

Brief description :

THE EU CULTURE

Britain may be in the front line of the Euro crisis, but it is not the only country affected. The Eurozone is a massive market consisting of businesses from the United States, China, India, Japan, Australia, Russia and the other major world economic powers. .

To preserve the Eurozone's massive consumer market. A staggering 322 million Europeans use the Euro every day. It's the currency of seventeen nations. Besides daily activities, these people use the Euro to buy goods and services from overseas — if there was a collapse in its value, then they would be less able to buy imports.

To prevent a global recession. A collapse of the Euro or a situation where some European governments would be unable to repay their debt would have a huge, negative impact on the world economy. It would resemble the financial crisis of 2007 and 2008 (in truth, it could be much worse than that). At the very least, businesses around the globe would think twice about investing and taking on new staff while others might start to trim their operations and cut jobs. A global economic recession would be highly likely.

To protect the world financial system. Banks around the globe have invested in the government debt of Eurozone countries. These banks also hold large amounts of Euros. If the current crisis gets much worse, then the government debt and currency that they hold will fall in value, which could undermine their own financial well being. It could be like the 2007 and 2008 financial crash all over again, with the global banking system under threat. This would be bad news for everyone.

It's not just the 322 million people in the Eurozone which depend on their currency — there are 150 million people in African countries whose currencies are pegged to value the Euro. If the Eurozone fragments and the value of the Euro collapses, these African countries will see the value of their currency collapse too.

Against a backdrop of this ongoing Euro zone volatility, companies are continuing to review their exposures in Europe, including the nature and extent of their Euro-related contracts, and are asking what measures they can put in place to protect their assets and limit cash flow threats. This uncertainty has affected business confidence in different ways in nations across the world.

YOUR TASK: You are a consultant tasked with a submission of a comprehensive analysis of the impact of the Euro crisis on "THE WORLD" in general and "AUSTRALIAN BUSINESS" in particular to assist them with their strategy in the Euro zone.

You are to choose one European country and assist the Australian business with their strategy in the Euro zone.

Whilst doing this your focus will be on the "CULTURE" of the European country you select and you will analyse the situation based on the cultural dimensions and cultural theories that you study in class. Your report should encompass all risks: Political, Cultural, Social, Legal, Economic and provide advice on their impact to Australia business operating in EU. Please note you can select any country of your choice in the EU. In particular you are required to critique, analyse and assess the following four issues with CULTURE as a basis:

- i. Global impact of Euro crisis on businesses and industries in EU, Australia and the World.
- ii. Country (EU country of your choice) specific economic, political, legal, cultural, social, cultural characteristics and history
- iii. Possible implications and contingency planning for Australian business

Number and length of classes: 3 hours face-to-face teaching per week.

The timetable for classes can be found on the University web site at: <http://www.timetables.mq.edu.au/>

You must attend all lectures.

Students are expected to arrive on time, and not to leave until the class ends. If you have a recurring problem that makes you late, or forces you to leave early, please contact campus wellbeing so a plan can be put in place .

Students must be quiet during classes, unless of course when class participation is required. Mobile phones must be turned OFF and not simply set to 'silent'. Students who disturb or disrupt in lectures will be asked to leave.

Required and Recommended Texts and/or Material

Required text: 'International Management: Managing Across Borders and Cultures – Text and Cases', Eight Edition (International Edition) by Helen Deresky, Pearson Education, 2014. This contains all the required chapter readings and case studies in addition to material posted on iLearn. A copy of the required text is also available in the Macquarie Library and obtainable from Macquarie University Coop Bookshop (macq_byr@coop-bookshop.com.au)

Required unit materials and/or recommended readings will be available through eReserve.

Students should have their own copy of this text. It is mandatory that you have the 8th edition, 2014 version as this text contains all the case studies and experiential exercises that will be done in class. There are some copies on the library shelves and in library reserve. Lectures support and add to the textbook but cannot replace it. It is a standard work of reference on cross cultural management. Classroom sessions are backed up online with lecture notes, case studies, articles and discussion

KickStart

This unit includes a KickStart package, designed to help you get a head start with your studies. Being well prepared can be the key to success, so be sure to take advantage of KickStart and make it work for you.

What is it?

KickStart is a package of resources and activities in iLearn that is specific to studying this unit. Your package may include welcome videos from the Unit Convenor, quizzes (not counting toward your final grade), insights from industry experts and tips from previous students on how to succeed in the unit.

When is it available?

Two weeks before the start of the session, log into iLearn and access the KickStart package.

Please note that the activities in the KickStart package do not count towards the final grade of the unit.

Technology Used and Required

Students are required to use information technology in this unit. Students will need to use: Library databases to source materials for the research reports, which are accessed electronically for conducting research for assignments;

Computer and Electronic (internet) access to ilearn to download unit learning resources and upload assignments or other materials required for class activities and assignments; Microsoft word and Power point (where applicable) for the research reports and presentations). You can check that your computer's software and hardware are compatibility with Macquarie University standard requirements at:

Learning and Teaching Activities

Learning and Teaching Activities

This unit will be taught via the participant-centered and experiential learning method of teaching. “Experiential learning takes place when a person is involved in an activity, then looks back and evaluates it, determines what was useful or important to remember and uses this information to perform another activity” (John Dewey, 1938). Face-to-face lectures would comprise of seminars of three hours' duration. Students will partake in lectures, discussions, cases, video cases and experiential exercises in class. Students are advised to attend all lectures and participate in case discussions, missing classes and not participating in case discussions will affect grades. Case studies will be the extensively used. Case analyses are intended to be analytical critiques on some central issues of the case being discussed. As this is a discussion-oriented class, students will read all of the case studies indicated on the course schedule and come prepared to discuss and defend themselves in the tutorials. Every student is expected to participate. In your case analyses, please refrain from writing a summary of the case or repackaging the information already provided in the case. Based on the information provided in the case, be analytically judgmental, propose alternative managerial views and action plans, and discuss the relevance and appropriateness of the frameworks proposed in the readings and lectures to the case. In short, write what you think of the situation in the case and not merely repeat what the author says. The course teaches several models for cultural analysis of case studies. Some examples are: Hofstede, Trompenaars, and Edward Hall. These models are to be used for group case study assignments and research paper. This unit is presented through the following learning media: Thirteen weekly classroom lectures combined with small group discussions, case studies, in lecture experiential exercise and videos. Students must attend at least 80% of the classes (lectures). Lectures are supported online on iLearn: <http://ilearn.mq.edu.au> Lecture notes, assignment details, assessment methods, case studies, reading and reference materials and a sample exam paper are posted on iLearn. Recommended readings can be found on eReserve. Every week one student group will discuss, analyse and present a relevant case study in the tutorial. The weightage of this presentation is 10% and for the analysis is 10%. There is no hard copy to be submitted. Each group only presents once. All students will upload their Individual report on the due date via turnitin. Timetables Portal: <http://timetables.mq.edu.au> Students need to complete and submit all assignments and attempt the final exam to complete the unit satisfactorily.

Graduate Capabilities

PG - Capable of Professional and Personal Judgment and Initiative

Our postgraduates will demonstrate a high standard of discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgment. They will have the ability to make informed choices and decisions that reflect both the nature of their professional work and their personal perspectives.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Appraise the multicultural 'big picture' in which global trade and government forces operate, and summarise the major culture-based challenges faced by international managers (political, social, legal, economic and technological)

- Identify major cultural characteristics, including communication styles that characterise regions, nations, communities, organisations, groups and individuals
- Classify, characterize and critique particular leadership styles globally in given situations for varying motivational techniques depending on circumstances

Assessment tasks

- 2. REPORT
- 3. FINAL EXAM

PG - Discipline Knowledge and Skills

Our postgraduates will be able to demonstrate a significantly enhanced depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content knowledge in their chosen fields.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Interpret and analyse the diversity of cultures and its implication as they relate to business management and demonstrate a consciousness of the intricacy of operating in the global market
- Appraise the multicultural 'big picture' in which global trade and government forces operate, and summarise the major culture-based challenges faced by international managers (political, social, legal, economic and technological)
- Identify major cultural characteristics, including communication styles that characterise regions, nations, communities, organisations, groups and individuals
- Investigate major cultural differences in views on strategy for international alliances, including decision making and controls, labour relations and management of a range of culture-based tactics for international negotiations

Assessment tasks

- 1. CASE STUDY
- 2. REPORT
- 3. FINAL EXAM
- 4. CLASS PARTICIPATION

PG - Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

Our postgraduates will be capable of utilising and reflecting on prior knowledge and experience, of applying higher level critical thinking skills, and of integrating and synthesising learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments. A characteristic of this form of thinking is the generation of new, professionally oriented knowledge through personal or group-based critique of practice and theory.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Investigate major cultural differences in views on strategy for international alliances, including decision making and controls, labour relations and management of a range of culture-based tactics for international negotiations
- Classify, characterize and critique particular leadership styles globally in given situations for varying motivational techniques depending on circumstances

Assessment tasks

- 1. CASE STUDY
- 2. REPORT
- 3. FINAL EXAM
- 4. CLASS PARTICIPATION

Changes from Previous Offering

Changes from previous offerings are as follows:

- a) A few case studies have been updated with new cases.
- b) Experiential activities have been updated
- c) All old videos have been replaced with new longer ones
- d) Reflective inclass activities have been included in the inclass activities .
- e) Video case analysis is the new reflective activity that has been added to the inclass activities.
- f) PPT's have been reduced.

Research & Practice, Global & Sustainability

The unit utilizes research from several external sources namely academic journals, books, media articles and government publications as listed below to support your learning of cross cultural concepts, theories and current happenings:

Journal of Cross Cultural Management
