General Information

Unit convenor and teaching staff Albert Atkin albert.atkin@mq.edu.au
Credit points 4
Prerequisites Admission to MRes
Corequisites
Co-badged status
Unit description The unit will examine contemporary research in one of the traditional fields covered by Metaphysics and Epistemology, especially research concerning the relationship between mind and world, as mediated by language, science, and culture. The unit will revolve around a current 'hot topic' of research in this area. Students will be brought up to speed on this topic so that they are in a position to begin to pursue their own research project.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Work in cooperation with others and reflect on individual and group performance to identify opportunities for improvement.

Apply acquired knowledge and skills in the context of philosophical scholarship.

Analyse and critically evaluate philosophical arguments.

Articulate clearly and coherently philosophical arguments in the Philosophy of Race in written and oral form to a variety of audiences.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Due
Philosophy Paper (5k words Max)	50%	Week 12
Zoom Presentations (x4)	40%	Ongoing
Participation	10%	On going

Philosophy Paper (5k words Max)

Due: Week 12

Weighting: 50%

You will write a philosophy paper (note: not an essay), exploring one of the cutting edge debates we cover in the course. The paper must emulate the style of a publishable philosophy research paper.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Apply acquired knowledge and skills in the context of philosophical scholarship.
- Analyse and critically evaluate philosophical arguments.
- Articulate clearly and coherently philosophical arguments in the Philosophy of Race in written and oral form to a variety of audiences.
- Synthesise and analyse information from a variety of sources concerning foundational concepts and arguments in the Philosophy of Race
- Acquire a coherent and advanced knowledge of the methodology, concepts and arguments in recent Philosophy of Race.

Zoom Presentations (x4)

Due: Ongoing

Weighting: 40%

You will need to produce at least four Zoom recordings of no more than 5 minutes each, using 2-3 slides per recording, giving a philosophical reflection or response to the papers discussed that week. You will need to upload these onto the iLearn site. You may produce more than four if you wish. Each presentation is worth 10 marks. Your best four will count.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Work in cooperation with others and reflect on individual and group performance to identify opportunities for improvement.
- Apply acquired knowledge and skills in the context of philosophical scholarship.

- Analyse and critically evaluate philosophical arguments.
- Articulate clearly and coherently philosophical arguments in the Philosophy of Race in written and oral form to a variety of audiences.
- Synthesise and analyse information from a variety of sources concerning foundational concepts and arguments in the Philosophy of Race
- Acquire a coherent and advanced knowledge of the methodology, concepts and arguments in recent Philosophy of Race.

Participation

Due: On going

Weighting: 10%

You will need to participate during the course, whether this is in tutorials, through on-line fora, by commenting on fellow students Zoom presentations, or by emailing the unit convenor with questions, links, observations.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Work in cooperation with others and reflect on individual and group performance to identify opportunities for improvement.
- Apply acquired knowledge and skills in the context of philosophical scholarship.
- Analyse and critically evaluate philosophical arguments.
- Articulate clearly and coherently philosophical arguments in the Philosophy of Race in written and oral form to a variety of audiences.
- Synthesise and analyse information from a variety of sources concerning foundational concepts and arguments in the Philosophy of Race

Delivery and Resources

The unit will use a weekly two hour seminar. Students may attend, or listen online.

Unit Schedule

We will cover six to ten topics in the unit. The time we spend on each topic will depend on the interests of the group. Initial suggestions are:

1. Defining Race
2. Race and Science
3. The Social Construction of Race
4. What should we do with Race: Eliminativism, Conservationism, Reconstructionism

5. Defining Racism
6. (Why) is Racism bad?
7. Racial Profiling: The Criminal Case
8. Racial Profiling: Medicine
9. Race and Language
