Unit description
In this unit students will consider the central topics of jurisprudence. This involves a rigorous and critical analysis of the nature of law, legal reasoning and judicial decision-making. Debates about the legitimate purpose of the state in redressing socio-economic inequality and whether there is a need for 'rights' are provoked by this analysis. Written and verbal reasoning skills are a focus of development.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Analyse the issues at stake in debates about the nature of law, legal reasoning and adjudication.

Assess the strengths and weaknesses of different theories about the nature of law, legal reasoning and adjudication.

Critique legal arrangements and institutions from the normative perspective.

Apply knowledge of theoretical debates in jurisprudence in assessing the reasoning in legal cases and answering hypothetical problems.

Communicate using clear and cogent arguments both orally and in writing.
Participate constructively in discussion and other classroom activities in order to understand, analyse and critique central debate in jurisprudence and law from a normative perspective.

General Assessment Information

“In the absence of a successful application for special consideration due to a disruption to studies, any assessment task submitted after its published deadline will not be graded and will receive a mark of zero. Applications for a Disruption to Studies are made electronically via ask.mq.edu.au and should be accompanied by supporting documentation. Students should refer to the Disruption to Studies policy for complete details of the policy and a description of the supporting documentation required. Word limits will be strictly applied and work above the word limit will not be marked. All assessments in the unit are to be submitted electronically. Plagiarism detection software is used in this unit.”

Detailed marking rubrics will be made available on iLearn. All Fail assignments are double marked.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Due
Class participation	20%	Ongoing
Research paper	45%	3 October 11:59 pm
Submission to Parliament	35%	6 November 11:59

Class participation

Due: Ongoing

Weighting: 20%

Students should have read all the required readings for each week and be prepared to discuss the seminar questions for that week. Class participation marks will be based on frequency and quality of contribution to discussion; evidence of preparation for the seminars; and performance in specific tasks assigned by the tutor. MERE ATTENDANCE AT SEMINARS WILL NOT ATTRACT ANY MARKS.

Internal students are required to attend at least 10 of the seminars. External students are required to attend both days of the on-campus session.

An internal student who attends fewer than 10 seminars or an external student who fails to attend all/part of the on-campus session without a successful application for disruption will have marks deducted for class participation at the discretion of their convenor.

Students who have successfully applied for disruption are required to meet the convenor during his consultation hour to discuss the material of the missed tutorials/on-campus session. For external students this can happen during the breaks at the on campus session, or over the telephone (only if the student misses the three days of the OCS).

Applications for disruption should be made through 'Ask'. They should comply with the disruption to studies policy and procedure, to be found at: http://students.mq.edu.au/student_admin/manage_your_study_program/disruption_to_studies/

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Analyse the issues at stake in debates about the nature of law, legal reasoning and adjudication.
- Assess the strengths and weaknesses of different theories about the nature of law, legal reasoning and adjudication.
- Critique legal arrangements and institutions from the normative perspective.
- Apply knowledge of theoretical debates in jurisprudence in assessing the reasoning in legal cases and answering hypothetical problems.
- Communicate using clear and cogent arguments both orally and in writing.
- Participate constructively in discussion and other classroom activities in order to understand, analyse and critique central debate in jurisprudence and law from a normative perspective.

Research paper

Due: 3 October 11:59 pm

Weighting: 45%

Students will be required to write a research paper on the relationship between law and morality.

The word limit for this assignment is 3000 words. Footnotes and the bibliography are not included in the word limit. Students should abide by AGLC3.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Analyse the issues at stake in debates about the nature of law, legal reasoning and adjudication.
- Assess the strengths and weaknesses of different theories about the nature of law, legal reasoning and adjudication.
- Apply knowledge of theoretical debates in jurisprudence in assessing the reasoning in legal cases and answering hypothetical problems.

- Communicate using clear and cogent arguments both orally and in writing.

Submission to Parliament

Due: 6 November 11:59

Weighting: 35%

This assignment will require students to apply relevant theoretical frameworks in making a submission to Parliament on a hypothetical bill.

The word limit for this assignment is 2000 words. Footnotes and the bibliography are not included in the word limit. Students should abide by AGLC3.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Critique legal arrangements and institutions from the normative perspective.
- Apply knowledge of theoretical debates in jurisprudence in assessing the reasoning in legal cases and answering hypothetical problems.
- Communicate using clear and cogent arguments both orally and in writing.

Delivery and Resources

Technology used

This unit will use i-learn and ECHO lectures. Students will be required to interact with online research databases and web-based research tools.

Classes

All lecture material will be pre-recorded and available on the i-learn site. There will be one seminar per week for internal students (90 minutes each) and three on-campus days for external students (6 hours per day).

For further details about dates, times and venues, please consult the MQ Timetables website: <http://www.timetables.mq.edu.au>

Internal students must attend at least 10 seminars and submit all assignments. External students must attend at least 2 days of on-campus sessions and submit all assignments.
