Unit description

This unit will equip students with foundational research knowledge and skills in the broad area of Ethics. The unit will focus on an in depth reading of foundational texts in the history of ethics and will examine their impact on current debates in the field on such topics as virtue, character, value, autonomy, and the nature of right action. Texts may include: Aristotle’s Nichomachean Ethics, Hume’s Treatise (Books II and III), Kant’s Groundwork for the Metaphysics of Morals, and Mill’s On Liberty.

Paper 1: Aristotle

Due: Week 6
Weighting: 15%

A short essay demonstrating familiarity with a central aspect of Aristotle's moral philosophy. Topic TBA. (1000-1250 Words)

This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:

- In-depth familiarity with the foundational philosophical writings of Aristotle and Kant in the field of ethics.

Paper 2: Kant

Due: Week 10
Weighting: 15%

A short essay demonstrating familiarity with a central aspect of Kant's moral philosophy. Topic TBA. (1000-1250 Words)

This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:

- In-depth familiarity with the foundational philosophical writings of Aristotle and Kant in the field of ethics.
Major Comparative Essay

Due: 17 June
Weighting: 40%

Close comparative analysis and critical discussion of a common concern in both Aristotle and Kant's moral philosophy. Topic TBA. (2500 words)

This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:

• Sound comparative grasp of key common and contrasting themes in the work of these philosophers.

Presentations (x3)

Due: 3 times in semester
Weighting: 15%

Each student will submit three written presentations, one for each section of the unit (Aristotle, Kant, and Aristotle/Kant comparison). The presentations must develop a central theme from the assigned topic. The focus of the presentations must be on an argument or issue developed in an additional reading (i.e. not the required reading) to be sourced by students themselves, which connects with the core reading/topic for the relevant week's seminar. The presentation must provide a brief summary of the authors' main argument plus a critical assessment of it.

Presentations must be uploaded online to the relevant iLearn discussion forum in the week of the seminar, by the Friday of that week, for discussion in the following 'online-only' week. The presenter must lead the online discussion for that following week. Presentations must be approximately 500 words in length.

This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:

• In-depth familiarity with the foundational philosophical writings of Aristotle and Kant in the field of ethics.

• Sound comparative grasp of key common and contrasting themes in the work of these philosophers.

Participation

Due: Continuous
Weighting: 15%

Attendance at all fortnightly 'contact week' seminars and online contribution during 'online-only' weeks. To fulfill this assessment requirement each student must demonstrate that they have read all of the assigned reading for each seminar, and must have pre-prepared 5 questions from the required reading, for discussion (online and in seminar). These pre-prepared questions are to be posted to the online forum by 12pm on Tuesdays before the seminar, so that we can collate and discuss them during the seminar. This applies to External students as well as Internal students, as we need to include discussion of External Students' questions in the seminar as well.

This Assessment Task relates to the following Learning Outcomes:
- In-depth familiarity with the foundational philosophical writings of Aristotle and Kant in the field of ethics.
- Sound comparative grasp of key common and contrasting themes in the work of these philosophers.

Delivery and Resources

Delivery:
