Unit description

This unit aims to develop students' fundamental knowledge of key theories in translation and interpreting. In association with tasks in relevant practice units, for example TRAN877, the content of this unit enables students to apply such theoretical knowledge to practice in translation and interpreting. The unit is also aimed at providing students with an overview of the characteristics of a variety of fields in translation and interpreting.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of the nature and role of theory
- Demonstrate familiarity with a range of theories relevant to translation and interpreting
- Reflect on the relevance of translation and interpreting theories
- Apply theoretical knowledge to translation and interpreting tasks
- Communicate theoretical concepts orally and in writing to a variety of audiences

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of the nature and role of theory
- Demonstrate familiarity with a range of theories relevant to translation and interpreting
- Reflect on the relevance of translation and interpreting theories
- Apply theoretical knowledge to translation and interpreting tasks
- Communicate theoretical concepts orally and in writing to a variety of audiences

Essay

Due: Week 14

Weighting: 50%

Choose an interpreting theory being introduced in the unit and write a critical review based on the application of the theory to T&I practice.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of the nature and role of theory
- Demonstrate familiarity with a range of theories relevant to translation and interpreting
- Reflect on the relevance of translation and interpreting theories
- Communicate theoretical concepts orally and in writing to a variety of audiences

Delivery and Resources

The learning and teaching strategies used in this Unit are thirteen lectures, individual readings by students and a number of class assignments. Students in this unit are expected to participate in all thirteen lectures, read all texts marked as obligatory, and engage in additional readings and research of topics of special interest. Students are required to obtain two textbooks for this unit:

Munday, J. 2012. Introducing translation studies: theories and applications. London and New York: Routledge.

Pochhacker, F. 2004. Introducing interpreting studies. Oxon: Routledge.
