

MAS 105

Media Cultures

S2 Day 2016

Department of Media, Music, Communication and Cultural Studies

Contents

General Information	2
Learning Outcomes	2
Assessment Tasks	3
Delivery and Resources	7
Unit Schedule	9
Policies and Procedures	12
Graduate Capabilities	13
Changes from Previous Offering	17
Late Penalties	18

Disclaimer

Macquarie University has taken all reasonable measures to ensure the information in this publication is accurate and up-to-date. However, the information may change or become out-dated as a result of change in University policies, procedures or rules. The University reserves the right to make changes to any information in this publication without notice. Users of this publication are advised to check the website version of this publication [or the relevant faculty or department] before acting on any information in this publication.

General Information

Unit convenor and teaching staff

Co-convenor and lecturer

Nicole Matthews

nicole.matthews@mq.edu.au

Contact via nicole.matthews@mq.edu.au

Y3A165C

Co-convenor and tutor

Rachael Gunn

Rachael.Gunn@mq.edu.au

Credit points

3

Prerequisites

Corequisites

Co-badged status

Unit description

This unit assesses some of the major transformations and continuities in the media environment of the early twenty-first century. Topics covered include: technological convergence; global media flows; regulation and ownership of media industries; the challenges to publicly funded media in an increasingly global and digital media environment; new and emerging media industries, including the creative industries discourse; key discourses and frameworks for analysing media audiences.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

analyse and critically evaluate key concepts in Media Studies

identify the ways new media technologies shape and are shaped by social, cultural, political and economic processes

distinguish between and evaluate various theoretical positions on media audiences, media industries, regulation and policy

undertake independent academic research in the discipline, including identifying and using appropriate articles in academic journals

communicate ideas using appropriate academic discourses, both verbally and in a range of genres of writing, including abstracts and essays

reflect critically on their own academic work and use that reflection to plan for future assessments

engage actively in the process of learning

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Due
Essay outline	20%	midnight Friday Sept 16
Quizzes	20%	Weeks 2-5, 7-12
Essay	40%	Friday October 21st, Midnight
Essay Evaluation	10%	Week 13
Participation in tutorials	10%	ongoing

Essay outline

Due: midnight Friday Sept 16

Weighting: 20%

You should submit a 500 word (plus references) outline of your essay structure. The essay questions and further instructions will be posted on iLearn by Week 3.

The outline should consist of a bullet point description of how you expect to structure your essay. In general, the order of points in the outline should reflect the order in which you will present your argument in the essay. The outline should demonstrate the ability to construct a framework for analysing and critiquing an identified issue. The outline should also acknowledge some of your (initial) research choices. You should also include a reference list of at least three sources you have read so far in preparing your outline and should include in-text referencing where appropriate. At least one of your sources should be from independent reading beyond the unit reader.

Marking Criteria

- Adequate reading and research
- Understanding of key concepts in the unit
- Ability to compare and analyse key concepts in the unit
- Organisation of argument

- Clarity of communication
- Accurate and appropriate referencing

On successful completion you will be able to:

- analyse and critically evaluate key concepts in Media Studies
- identify the ways new media technologies shape and are shaped by social, cultural, political and economic processes
- distinguish between and evaluate various theoretical positions on media audiences, media industries, regulation and policy
- undertake independent academic research in the discipline, including identifying and using appropriate articles in academic journals
- communicate ideas using appropriate academic discourses, both verbally and in a range of genres of writing, including abstracts and essays

Quizzes

Due: Weeks 2-5, 7-12

Weighting: 20%

There are ten online multiple choice quizzes throughout the semester testing your understanding of lectures and reading, and thus your participation in two key elements of the unit. In order to successfully complete the quiz you must have attended or carefully listened to the lecture and read the set readings for the week.

Quizzes are hosted on MAS105's ilearn site and you can access them immediately after the lecture on the Thursday of the week in which they are set. Each quiz must be completed by 9 am on the Thursday after the week in which the topic has been introduced - so you have a week to complete each quiz. There will be quizzes in Weeks 2-5 and 7-12. Late submissions of quizzes will not be accepted without evidence of significant medical or other disruption. Feedback on your quiz answers will be available a week after the quiz closes.

If you would like to practice for the assessed quizzes, you may want to watch the videos in the video glossary and take the associated multiple choice self-tests which are structured similarly to the assessed quizzes and cover some related material.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- analyse and critically evaluate key concepts in Media Studies
- identify the ways new media technologies shape and are shaped by social, cultural, political and economic processes

- distinguish between and evaluate various theoretical positions on media audiences, media industries, regulation and policy
- engage actively in the process of learning

Essay

Due: Friday October 21st, Midnight

Weighting: 40%

The essay (1700 words plus list of references) provides an opportunity for you to build on the outline you submitted in Week 5. The essay questions are posted on iLearn. Unless otherwise advised by your tutor, you should address the same essay question, but you may want to modify your approach or arguments in the light of feedback from your tutor and your own reflection on the strengths and weaknesses of your argument.

All essays should include evidence of wide reading and significant independent research. Your essay should refer to AT LEAST:

- three readings from the uni reader, including those mentioned in your specific essay question.
- five academic sources beyond the unit reader. At least two of these should be articles from an academic peer-reviewed journal.

Broader reading within the disciplines of media, communications and cultural studies will be highly valued. All essays should include a reference list with full bibliographic details of all sources referred to in the essay, and in-text referencing. In MAS105, we expect you to use the Harvard or author-date referencing style. Further information about how to use this style is included on the library website under 'Harvard Style'.

Marking Criteria

- Understanding and critical engagement with key readings in the unit
- Comparison and analysis of key concepts in the unit
- Independent research within the discipline
- Use of research and reading to support the argument
- Organisation of argument including clear addressing of the question
- Clarity of communication
- Accurate and appropriate referencing
- Ability to reflect upon and utilise essay outline feedback

On successful completion you will be able to:

- analyse and critically evaluate key concepts in Media Studies
- identify the ways new media technologies shape and are shaped by social, cultural, political and economic processes

- distinguish between and evaluate various theoretical positions on media audiences, media industries, regulation and policy
- undertake independent academic research in the discipline, including identifying and using appropriate articles in academic journals
- communicate ideas using appropriate academic discourses, both verbally and in a range of genres of writing, including abstracts and essays
- reflect critically on their own academic work and use that reflection to plan for future assessments

Essay Evaluation

Due: Week 13

Weighting: 10%

In Week 13 you will have a consultation with your tutor where you will critically reflect on your essay and how effective it was in meeting the objectives and criteria for assessment. There is a form available for download on ilearn which you should complete in bullet points before you meet with your tutor. The notes you make on this form can help guide your conversation with your tutor and act as a record for your tutor's benefit - you should submit the form to your tutor during your meeting. During the consultation you will have the opportunity to make a statement which details: (1) how you sought to address the assessment criteria in your essay; (2) how well you think you achieved these aims and (3) what you could have done to improve your argument. Your tutor will discuss your essay and return your submission.

Marking Criteria

- preparation and thinking in anticipation of the meeting, including consideration of questions on the essay evaluation form
- awareness of criteria for the essay and learning outcomes of the unit
- engagement in self-assessment of written work
- reflection on future work and planning

On successful completion you will be able to:

- communicate ideas using appropriate academic discourses, both verbally and in a range of genres of writing, including abstracts and essays
- reflect critically on their own academic work and use that reflection to plan for future assessments
- engage actively in the process of learning

Participation in tutorials

Due: ongoing

Weighting: 10%

Attendance and participation at tutorials, based on effective preparation including reading, and attending lectures (or listening to them carefully online) is essential to successfully complete the course. Your understanding of the ideas in lectures and readings will be tested through the online quizzes. However, tutors will also keep records of your attendance at tutorials and 10% will be allocated on the basis of your participation, preparedness, and contributions to class discussions and group activities.

Marking criteria

- * evidence of preparation for tutorials by reading and attending (or auditing) lectures
- * informed contributions to discussion in tutorials
- * thoughtful attempts to share and develop ideas with peers and tutor
- * evidence of reflection on your own understandings and perspectives
- * regular attendance at tutorials

On successful completion you will be able to:

- distinguish between and evaluate various theoretical positions on media audiences, media industries, regulation and policy
- communicate ideas using appropriate academic discourses, both verbally and in a range of genres of writing, including abstracts and essays
- reflect critically on their own academic work and use that reflection to plan for future assessments
- engage actively in the process of learning

Delivery and Resources

Classes

A one-hour lecture every week throughout the semester, followed by a one-hour tutorial. Students are expected to attend every lecture. Lectures are also recorded on ECHO360 which can be accessed via ilearn. Students are expected to attend every tutorial. If you do not attend tutorials or you do not prepare for them or you do not talk to others in tutorials it will impact on your participation mark for the unit. You should read the required readings for each week before the lecture — and certainly before the tutorial. See the timetable website for lecture details. www.mq.edu.au/timetables. Tutorials begin in week two.

Please note that we are unable to assist with changes of tutorial time. If you want to change to a different tutorial time you will need to go to the e-student website and try to change through that system. All changes to tutorial enrolment need to be made in this way by the student concerned - you will not just be able to turn up at the tutorial you want and hope the tutor lets you stay, as this is likely to cause unacceptable overcrowding.

Students should expect to spend approximately eight hours each week outside of class time reading and preparing for assignments and tutorials.

Required Text:

You will be required to read two articles each week - a full list of topics and readings are below in the Unit Schedule section.

While most of the essential readings for the unit are available electronically via the library, we strongly encourage you to purchase the MAS105 reader which available via print on demand. This reader includes most of the readings for the unit. If you are find that readers have sold out, please contact Nicole immediately. Almost all of the readings in the unit are also available electronically via the "Course Readings" tab in the Library website.

Recommended Text:

Meikle, Graham & Young, Sherman (2012) Media Convergence: Networked Digital Media in Everyday Life, Palgrave is recommended and available in the Coop Bookshop. Two chapters from the book are required readings for the unit, and for copyright reason, only one is reproduced in the MAS105 reader. The other chapter will be made available via the library's electronic reserve.

Technology Used and Required

MAS105 uses iLearn and it is expected that students will regularly check iLearn for details about lectures, assessments and further readings. You may bring tablets and laptops to class if you wish but you will be expected to have completed core readings BEFORE tutorials. It is not essential that you bring a device to tutorials. Some computers are available for use in the Library.

Assignment submission

Written assignments will be submitted to turnitin via the links on the MAS105 iLearn website. Please make sure your full name, student number and tutor's name appears on the first page of your document. Assignments submitted late will be penalised 10% per day, including weekends.

Email

Please record your tutor's email address at the beginning of semester and questions about MAS105 should first be directed to your tutor. Students should ensure that they can receive emails sent to their MQ email addresses.

What you can expect in MAS105

Our strategy in MAS105 is to get you to deepen and broaden your interest in media studies by exposing you to some critical theoretical frameworks that will help you understand the contemporary media landscape.

A lot of nonsense is written and talked around the media, and media studies can help you excavate the assumptions people (scholars and civilians) make when they pronounce on the media. You will have an opportunity to critically interrogate those assumptions, compare different perspectives on related issues, and test the evidence that is offered to support some of the big statements people make about ‘the media’ and especially ‘new media’. In short we’ll expect you to come out at the end of the unit able to be critical of others’ (and your own) preconceptions about new media.

We will ask a lot of you in this unit – you won’t be able to slowly fall asleep in lectures and tutorials and then regurgitate hastily memorised material in a final exam. To pass the unit you will need to consistently attend and participate in lectures and tutorials, read every week, and start working towards your major essay right at the beginning of semester. While there are a lot of assessments in the unit, most of them build on each other, so the work you put in to prepare for a quiz in Week 3 will come to fruition in the richer essay you submit in Week 10. However, you will need to be organised. We will remind you of upcoming deadlines, but you also need to keep close track of them yourself.

You’ll also need to talk to your fellow students, right from the beginning – we think you learn as much from each other as from listening to lectures and tutors. Tutorials and also the iLearn site give you an opportunity to discuss administrative and intellectual issues with your peers.

Even though some of the ideas, readings and tasks we’ll ask you to engage with are really challenging, we will give you lots of help and support in building towards (and then planning beyond) your major essay. You will have opportunities to get feedback on your plans, and to get extra marks for a thoughtful reflection, even on a major essay that doesn’t turn out as well as you hoped.

Opportunities for feedback in MAS105

There are many opportunities for feedback on your ideas and understandings in MAS105. Sometimes you will be offered specific, direct feedback on your own individual work. Individual feedback on your understanding of readings and lectures is provided when the results and answers to the quiz are released from Week 3 onward. Written feedback and marks will be provided by your tutor on your essay outline, and your tutor will also give you individual verbal feedback on your final essay in the evaluation meetings. At other times, you will have the opportunity to get more general feedback on ideas and understanding as part of a group, for example, when you listen to peers and your tutor in tutorials or participate in interactive elements of lectures.

Unit Schedule

MAS105 Media Cultures, Semester 2, 2016

All listed readings are essential

Week 1: Convergent media, current contexts (Aug 4)

Meikle, Graham and Young, Sherman (2012) Ch 3 “From Broadcast to Social Media” in Media Convergence: Networked Digital Media in Everyday Life. Palgrave Macmillan, Basingstoke,

pp.59-78

Manovich, Lev (2001) The Language of New Media, MIT Press, Cambridge, Massachusetts, pp. 19-61

Week 2: How did we get here (Aug 11)

Meikle, Graham and Young, Sherman (2012) Chapter 7 “Time, Space and Convergent Media” in Media Convergence: Networked Digital Media in Everyday Life. Palgrave Macmillan, Basingstoke, pp. 148-171

Thompson, John (1999) “The Media and Modernity” in Hugh McKay and Tim O’Sullivan (eds) The Media Reader: Continuity and Transformation. Sage, London, pp.12-27

Week 3: What makes media change? (Aug 18)

Winston, Brian (1995) “How are media born and developed” in John Dowling, Ali Mohammadi, Annabelle Sreberny-Mohammadi (eds) Questioning the Media: a Critical Introduction, London, Sage, pp.54-74

Flew, Terry (2008) “Approaches to New Media” from New Media: An Introduction, 3rd edition, Oxford, Oxford University Press, pp.38-47

Week 4: Global media flows (Aug 25)

McChesney, Robert W (2001) Global Media, neoliberalism and imperialism in Monthly Review

Appadurai, Arjun (2000) [1990] “Disjuncture and Difference in the Global Cultural Economy” in Frank Lechner and John Boli The Globalisation Reader, Blackwell, Oxford, pp.322-30

Week 5: Regulating the media (Sept 1)

Hesmondhalgh, David (2002) The Culture Industries, Sage, London, pp. 107-33

Lessig, Lawrence (1999) Code and Other Laws of Cyberspace Basic Book, New York pp. 85-99

Week 6: Research and Writing (Sept 8)

Researching a topic: training course notes

Week 7: Ownership (Sept 15)

Croteau, David and Hoynes, William (2005) The Business of Media: Corporate Media and the Public Interest, Thousand Oakes, pp. 15-40

Dwyer, Tim, Martin, Fiona, Goggin, Gerard (2011) “News Diversity and Broadband Applications:

Challenges for Content and Distribution" Telecommunications Journal of Australia 61:4 pp.65.1-65.11

SEMESTER BREAK

Week 8: Regulating Australian media (October 6)

Ackland, Richard "Mass Surveillance makes us subjects of the state: That's chilling" Guardian Australia, 26/5/2015. http://www.theguardian.com/commentisfree/2015/may/26/mass-surveillance-makes-us-subjects-of-the-state-thats-chilling?CMP=soc_567

Jaivin, Linda "The End of Secrets: Privacy is fast becoming a quaint old fashioned thing", The Monthly, June 2014. <https://www.themonthly.com.au/issue/2014/june/1401544800/linda-jaivin/end-secrets>

Meikle, Graham (2012) Continuity and transformation in convergent news: the case of WikiLeaks. Media International Australia, 144. pp. 52-59

Week 9: The end of public service broadcasting? (Oct 13)

Scott, Mark (2015) "The Future of the Australian Story" Brian Johns lecture at Macquarie University, <http://about.abc.net.au/speeches/the-future-of-the-australian-story/>

Andrejevic, Mark (2013) "Public service utilities: rethinking search engines and social networking as public goods" Media International Australia 146, pp.123-132

Week 10: Social media, new public spheres? (Oct 20)

Marwick, Alice and boyd, danah (2010) "I tweet honestly, I tweet passionately: Twitter users, context collapse, and the imagined audience" New Media and Society 13(1) 114–133

Van Djick, Jose (2009) "Users like you? Theorising agency in user-generated content" from Media, Culture and Society, 31, pp.41-58

Week 11: Media audiences, marketing and convergence (Oct 27)

Balnaves, Mark and O'Regan, Tom (2010) "The politics and practice of television ratings conventions: Australian and American approaches to broadcast ratings" Continuum: Journal of Media and Cultural Studies 24(3) pp.461-474

Gould, Liz (2009) "Beyond Media Platforms: talkback radio, technology and audience" Media International Australia Vol 131 No 95-105

Week 12: Vulnerable viewers? (Nov 3)

Ruddock, Andy (2001) "Cultivation analysis" in Understanding Audiences: Theory and Method, Sage, London, pp.1-11, 18-22

Barker, Martin (2001) "The Newson Report: a case study in common sense" in Martin Barker and Julian Petley (eds) Ill Effects: The Media/Violence Debate (2nd edition) Routledge, London, pp.27-46

Week 13: Evaluation (Nov 10)

There will be no lecture or tutorials this week. Students will meet on a one to one basis with their tutors for an evaluation meeting, in which students will reflect on their essays and tutors will provide feedback on performances in the essay.

Policies and Procedures

Macquarie University policies and procedures are accessible from Policy Central. Students should be aware of the following policies in particular with regard to Learning and Teaching:

Academic Honesty Policy http://mq.edu.au/policy/docs/academic_honesty/policy.html

New Assessment Policy in effect from Session 2 2016 http://mq.edu.au/policy/docs/assessment/policy_2016.html. For more information visit http://students.mq.edu.au/events/2016/07/19/new_assessment_policy_in_place_from_session_2/

Assessment Policy prior to Session 2 2016 <http://mq.edu.au/policy/docs/assessment/policy.html>

Grading Policy prior to Session 2 2016 <http://mq.edu.au/policy/docs/grading/policy.html>

Grade Appeal Policy <http://mq.edu.au/policy/docs/gradeappeal/policy.html>

Complaint Management Procedure for Students and Members of the Public http://www.mq.edu.au/policy/docs/complaint_management/procedure.html

Disruption to Studies Policy http://www.mq.edu.au/policy/docs/disruption_studies/policy.html The Disruption to Studies Policy is effective from March 3 2014 and replaces the Special Consideration Policy.

In addition, a number of other policies can be found in the Learning and Teaching Category of Policy Central.

Student Code of Conduct

Macquarie University students have a responsibility to be familiar with the Student Code of Conduct: https://students.mq.edu.au/support/student_conduct/

Results

Results shown in iLearn, or released directly by your Unit Convenor, are not confirmed as they are subject to final approval by the University. Once approved, final results will be sent to your student email address and will be made available in eStudent. For more information visit ask.mq.edu.au.

Additional information

MMCCS website https://www.mq.edu.au/about_us/faculties_and_departments/faculty_of_arts/departments/media_music_communication_and_cultural_studies/

MMCCS Session Re-mark Application <http://www.mq.edu.au/pubstatic/public/download/?id=167914>

Information is correct at the time of publication

Student Support

Macquarie University provides a range of support services for students. For details, visit <http://students.mq.edu.au/support/>

Learning Skills

Learning Skills (mq.edu.au/learningskills) provides academic writing resources and study strategies to improve your marks and take control of your study.

- Workshops
- StudyWise
- Academic Integrity Module for Students
- Ask a Learning Adviser

Student Services and Support

Students with a disability are encouraged to contact the Disability Service who can provide appropriate help with any issues that arise during their studies.

Student Enquiries

For all student enquiries, visit Student Connect at ask.mq.edu.au

IT Help

For help with University computer systems and technology, visit http://www.mq.edu.au/about_us/offices_and_units/information_technology/help/.

When using the University's IT, you must adhere to the Acceptable Use of IT Resources Policy. The policy applies to all who connect to the MQ network including students.

Graduate Capabilities

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- analyse and critically evaluate key concepts in Media Studies
- identify the ways new media technologies shape and are shaped by social, cultural, political and economic processes
- distinguish between and evaluate various theoretical positions on media audiences, media industries, regulation and policy
- communicate ideas using appropriate academic discourses, both verbally and in a range of genres of writing, including abstracts and essays
- engage actively in the process of learning

Assessment tasks

- Essay outline
- Quizzes
- Essay
- Essay Evaluation
- Participation in tutorials

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- analyse and critically evaluate key concepts in Media Studies
- identify the ways new media technologies shape and are shaped by social, cultural, political and economic processes
- distinguish between and evaluate various theoretical positions on media audiences, media industries, regulation and policy
- undertake independent academic research in the discipline, including identifying and using appropriate articles in academic journals
- communicate ideas using appropriate academic discourses, both verbally and in a range of genres of writing, including abstracts and essays

- reflect critically on their own academic work and use that reflection to plan for future assessments

Assessment tasks

- Essay outline
- Quizzes
- Essay
- Participation in tutorials

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- analyse and critically evaluate key concepts in Media Studies
- identify the ways new media technologies shape and are shaped by social, cultural, political and economic processes
- distinguish between and evaluate various theoretical positions on media audiences, media industries, regulation and policy
- undertake independent academic research in the discipline, including identifying and using appropriate articles in academic journals
- communicate ideas using appropriate academic discourses, both verbally and in a range of genres of writing, including abstracts and essays
- reflect critically on their own academic work and use that reflection to plan for future assessments
- engage actively in the process of learning

Assessment tasks

- Essay outline
- Quizzes
- Essay
- Essay Evaluation
- Participation in tutorials

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- analyse and critically evaluate key concepts in Media Studies
- identify the ways new media technologies shape and are shaped by social, cultural, political and economic processes
- distinguish between and evaluate various theoretical positions on media audiences, media industries, regulation and policy
- undertake independent academic research in the discipline, including identifying and using appropriate articles in academic journals
- communicate ideas using appropriate academic discourses, both verbally and in a range of genres of writing, including abstracts and essays
- engage actively in the process of learning

Assessment tasks

- Essay outline
- Quizzes
- Essay

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- analyse and critically evaluate key concepts in Media Studies
- identify the ways new media technologies shape and are shaped by social, cultural, political and economic processes
- distinguish between and evaluate various theoretical positions on media audiences, media industries, regulation and policy

- undertake independent academic research in the discipline, including identifying and using appropriate articles in academic journals
- communicate ideas using appropriate academic discourses, both verbally and in a range of genres of writing, including abstracts and essays
- reflect critically on their own academic work and use that reflection to plan for future assessments

Assessment tasks

- Essay
- Essay Evaluation
- Participation in tutorials

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- engage actively in the process of learning

Assessment task

- Participation in tutorials

Socially and Environmentally Active and Responsible

We want our graduates to be aware of and have respect for self and others; to be able to work with others as a leader and a team player; to have a sense of connectedness with others and country; and to have a sense of mutual obligation. Our graduates should be informed and active participants in moving society towards sustainability.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Assessment task

- Participation in tutorials

Changes from Previous Offering

Since the last time the unit was offered in Semester II 2015: * there have been some changes to weekly readings to reflect recent changes in the media * Following their successful introduction in 2014 and expansion in 2015, multiple choice quizzes have weighted more heavily at 20% rather than 10% . Quizzes start in Week 2 ensuring student understanding of key lecture and reading material and providing early feedback on students' level of understanding, in the first 1/3 of the course. * the lecture on reading and writing has been moved to Week 6 to offer students timely support in writing. * two new guest lecturers have been introduced to provide fresh areas of expertise within the course * the group assessment activity has been removed from the schedule to enable students to focus on their major writing assignment and to give opportunities for free flowing discussion in class time

Late Penalties

Assignments which are submitted late without a previously negotiated extension will incur a 10% penalty per day or part day, including weekends.

Please contact the co-convenors via email BEFORE the due date if you have health and serious family difficulties that mean you are unable to submit one of the assessed items by the due date. You may be given a short extension.

If you are unable to attend a tutorial due to a brief illness such as a cold or flu, please contact your tutor by email to explain the circumstances. Your tutor will record the reason for your absence.

If you have a health or personal situation that is likely to cause serious and ongoing problems (more than 3 days) please complete a Disruption to Study request on ask.mq.edu.au. Disruption to study requests should not be completed for brief periods of illness that merely prevent you attending lectures or tutorials.

If you have an ongoing disability or chronic health condition that means you require continuing support, please in the first instance contact Campus Wellbeing. Feel free to contact the co-convenors if you would like to discuss support or accommodations you may need in order to be successful in your studies.