Unit description

This unit introduces the topic of child abuse and neglect. The prevalence of physical, sexual, and emotional abuse and neglect is canvassed and the empirical literature relevant to all forms of abuse and neglect is reviewed. Theoretical models for conceptualising and understanding child abuse and neglect are presented. There is considerable emphasis not only on the outcomes of child abuse and neglect but also on the psychological processes that mediate these outcomes. The adequacy of prevention and intervention programs will be appraised and the operation of some of these programs in New South Wales will be considered.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Knowledge of child abuse and neglect: knowledge of the major concepts, theoretical perspectives, empirical findings, and historical trends in child abuse and neglect.

Methodological understanding of psychological research: ability to critically evaluate the research methods used in empirical research

Application of child abuse and neglect research: ability to apply knowledge of child abuse and neglect research findings in various contexts (e.g. family, school).

Information and technology literacy: competence in using technological resources to obtain information on child abuse and neglect.

Sociocultural and international awareness: recognition that child abuse and neglect varies across contexts ( e.g. cultural, ethnic, and socioeconomic).

Policy formulation: skills to use child abuse and neglect research to formulate policy.

Development of intervention and prevention programs: skills that enable research on child abuse and neglect to be used to guide intervention and prevention programs.

Research skills: skills that enable the design of future research that could be conducted on topics covered in the course.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Due
Field or Media Report	20%	Week 8, 4/10/16

Graduate Capabilities

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Application of child abuse and neglect research: ability to apply knowledge of child abuse and neglect research findings in various contexts (e.g. family, school).
- Policy formulation: skills to use child abuse and neglect research to formulate policy.
- Research skills: skills that enable the design of future research that could be conducted on topics covered in the course.

Assessment tasks

- Field or Media Report
- Essay
- Exam

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Knowledge of child abuse and neglect: knowledge of the major concepts, theoretical perspectives, empirical findings, and historical trends in child abuse and neglect.
- Sociocultural and international awareness: recognition that child abuse and neglect varies across contexts ( e.g. cultural, ethnic, and socioeconomic).
- Policy formulation: skills to use child abuse and neglect research to formulate policy.
- Development of intervention and prevention programs: skills that enable research on child abuse and neglect to be used to guide intervention and prevention programs.
- Research skills: skills that enable the design of future research that could be conducted on topics covered in the course.

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Knowledge of child abuse and neglect: knowledge of the major concepts, theoretical perspectives, empirical findings, and historical trends in child abuse and neglect.
- Methodological understanding of psychological research: ability to critically evaluate the research methods used in empirical research

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Knowledge of child abuse and neglect: knowledge of the major concepts, theoretical perspectives, empirical findings, and historical trends in child abuse and neglect.
- Methodological understanding of psychological research: ability to critically evaluate the research methods used in empirical research

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Knowledge of child abuse and neglect: knowledge of the major concepts, theoretical perspectives, empirical findings, and historical trends in child abuse and neglect.
- Methodological understanding of psychological research: ability to critically evaluate the research methods used in empirical research

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Knowledge of child abuse and neglect: knowledge of the major concepts, theoretical perspectives, empirical findings, and historical trends in child abuse and neglect.

- Sociocultural and international awareness: recognition that child abuse and neglect varies across contexts ( e.g. cultural, ethnic, and socioeconomic).
- Policy formulation: skills to use child abuse and neglect research to formulate policy.
