Unit description
Advanced study in Near Eastern languages (either Akkadian, Coptic, Egyptian, Hebrew or Syriac). Texts to be read will be chosen from a cross section of genres (historical texts, tales, hymns and prayers, love poems, letters and administrative documents). Students will gain advanced knowledge of the grammar and syntax of the ancient languages and their scripts; formal aspects of the texts, genre and style, as well as the themes are explored and students will be introduced to literary theory and methods of literary criticism.

Important Academic Dates
Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at http://students.mq.edu.au/student_admin/enrolmentguide/academicdates/

Learning Outcomes

1. Identify and recall ancient Egyptian hieroglyphic script and grammatical structures at advanced level in Middle and Medio-Late Egyptian. Recognize ancient Egyptian vocabulary at an advanced level. Identify historical concepts and literary structures in historical texts of the Ramesside Period.

2. Assess the grammar required for the translation of texts appropriate to level of study. Explore, appraise and apply relevant grammatical, lexical and other reference tools.

3. Integrate knowledge of vocabulary, grammar and literary form in reading historical texts. Analyse the significance of languages for the study of ancient Egyptian history and culture. Analyse and interpret the historical and cultural concepts expressed in the texts.
