Unit description

This unit explores the law relating to the making and construction of wills; the grant of probate and administration; and the distribution of testate and intestate estates. The provisions of the Family Provision Act 1982 are considered as well as those of the Wills, Probate and Administration Act 1898 (NSW). Emphasis is given to the role of the lawyer in planning the client's affairs in the light of the above legislation. Will drafting, including drafting exercises, to comply effectively with clients' instructions, forms an important part of this unit.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Describe the nature of wills and family provision

Draft and interpret wills

Advise competing family claims and deal with intestacy

Analyse case law on the Succession Act 2006 (NSW) and apply to the interpretation of wills

Assess the various needs of a family in order to give appropriate advice on wills and family provision

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Due
Research Essay	40%	Monday 17th October
Tutorial Participation / OCS	30%	Weeks 1 - 12
Final Assessment Quiz	30%	Monday 7th November

Research Essay

Due: Monday 17th October

Weighting: 40%

Research essay 3,000 words.

Please refer to iLearn for full details of the essay topic.

This essay will test students understanding of inheritance law and theory. Students will also be assessed on their ability to apply the principles of plain English.

All work is to be submitted via Turnitin.

Late submissions will not be marked and will receive a score of 0.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Describe the nature of wills and family provision
- Advise competing family claims and deal with intestacy
- Analyse case law on the Succession Act 2006 (NSW) and apply to the interpretation of wills
- Assess the various needs of a family in order to give appropriate advice on wills and family provision
- Understand the competing nature of family claims
- Develop theoretical understanding as regards different conceptions of inheritance

Tutorial Participation / OCS

Due: Weeks 1 - 12

Weighting: 30%

Specific readings and exercises will be set for each tutorial. The tutorial program is set out on iLearn in a weekly format.

External students will be assessed on their participation at the compulsory on-campus session to be held on the 17th and 18th September.

External students should also undertake the readings and look at the exercises for the tutorials, as this material will form the basis for the activities undertaken at the on campus session. More information on the structure of the on campus session will be provided closer to the time on iLearn.

You must attend all tutorials. Tutors will engage in ongoing assessment of student participation in the tutorial discussions, debates, and exercises using the following criteria:

- 1. Preparation and understanding of material: the student has listened to the lecture materials and other learning resources provided online, read the required reading and has attempted to link the tutorial materials to the lectures, to other course materials and to their life experience
- 2. Ability to critically discuss the material: the student is able to critically discuss the tutorial materials and contributes to class discussions in a way that assists the learning of others
- 3. Clear expression of ideas: the student is able to clearly express their ideas about the materials
- 4. Engaging with other students: the student engages with others in the class taking an active role in discussions, and other activities assigned by the tutor. The student responds to others in the class by listening to them, providing constructive feedback and asking questions.
- 5. Demonstration of skills: The student is able to demonstrate good communication skills and engage with others in a professional and respectful manner.

From time to time, tutors will collect examples of student work completed in tutorials. Tutors may set impromptu quizzes in class or at the on campus session to assess a student's knowledge of the tutorial preparation material.

If you cannot attend a tutorial you must send a message to your tutor on iLearn to inform them of your absence. Your tutor may assign you work to complete in lieu of attendance.

Extended absences of more than two tutorials must meet the criteria for Disruption to Studies. Applications for Disruptions to Studies are made online at ask.mq.edu.au in response to a serious and unavoidable event.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Describe the nature of wills and family provision
- Draft and interpret wills
- Advise competing family claims and deal with intestacy

- Analyse case law on the Succession Act 2006 (NSW) and apply to the interpretation of wills
- Assess the various needs of a family in order to give appropriate advice on wills and family provision
- Understand the competing nature of family claims
- Develop theoretical understanding as regards different conceptions of inheritance

Final Assessment Quiz

Due: Monday 7th November

Weighting: 30%

The Final Assessment Quiz will cover all aspects of Succession Law.

This is a time limited quiz of one hour to test students' understanding of all the unit materials from week 1 to week 12.

Students can open the quiz at any time after 6pm. The quiz will automatically shut down at 9pm. Students will have one hour to complete the quiz from the time that they open it. When one hour has expired, all saved answers will be automatically submitted.

Full details will be released on iLearn.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Describe the nature of wills and family provision
- Draft and interpret wills
- Advise competing family claims and deal with intestacy
- Analyse case law on the Succession Act 2006 (NSW) and apply to the interpretation of wills
- Assess the various needs of a family in order to give appropriate advice on wills and family provision
- Understand the competing nature of family claims
- Develop theoretical understanding as regards different conceptions of inheritance

Delivery and Resources

There are no "live" lectures for this unit. This unit is delivered via online learning content and weekly one hour tutorials from weeks 1-12 for internals and a compulsory two day on campus session for external students.

The required text is: Croucher, R; Vines, P, Succession: Families, Property and Death (LexisNexis, 4th ed, 2013). Available from the Macquarie University Co-op Bookshop.

Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Advise competing family claims and deal with intestacy
- Understand the competing nature of family claims
- Develop theoretical understanding as regards different conceptions of inheritance

Assessment task

- Tutorial Participation / OCS

Learning and teaching activity

- Students will be presented with a variety of legal problems related to the application of the law and principles of succession and will be expected to engage in class discussions, debates and other activities to develop their analytical and research skills.

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.
