Unit description

This unit explores essential techniques of music production and analysis through attendance at, and contribution to, a series of practical seminars and workshops on relevant topics. Areas covered include: analysis methodologies, creative use of technology, the rise of production through the history of recorded music, specialist technical topics and changing techniques through interface development.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Differentiate key approaches to music production

Contextualise aesthetic discussion by developing an understanding of relevant repertoire
Research advanced practice and literature in the field
Apply research skills to music production

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Project proposal and plan	30%	No	Week 4 - March 24, 2017
Music Production Draft	25%	No	Week 8 - May 5, 2017
Music Production Project	45%	No	Week 13 - June 9, 2017

Project proposal and plan

Due: Week 4 - March 24, 2017

Weighting: 30%

Students will propose a small music production project and generate a written proposal and project plan (2000 words). The proposal will clearly outline the scope, focus and aesthetic aims of the project; key reference works from practice; and a project plan (with key dates) for execution and final delivery within an allocated parcel of studio hours.

The proposal will be submitted via the Turnitin link provided on the unit's iLearn page.

Assessment Criteria:

- Capacity to scope a minor music production project
- Ability to locate a musical project within the field of practice and in relation to key musical influences
- Capacity to conceive and design an effective production approach within a given resource context
- Clarity of written proposal

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Differentiate key approaches to music production
- Contextualise aesthetic discussion by developing an understanding of relevant repertoire
- Research advanced practice and literature in the field

Music Production Draft

Due: Week 8 - May 5, 2017

Weighting: 25%

Students will submit a rough mix of tracking sessions and working session files (Pro Tools session folder), annotated in software to professional standards. These materials are to be accompanied by a 1000 word evaluation of the strengths and weaknesses of the progress to date in respect of captured performances/takes, musical arrangement/structure, and recording quality.

Production sessions will be uploaded to a specified server location. This will be further explained in the seminars.

The written component will be submitted via the Turnitin link on the unit's iLearn page.

Assessment Criteria:

- Capacity to demonstrate professional practices in the management, annotation, and presentation of audio materials
- Evidence of technical skills in studio based recording
- Ability to critically evaluate the creative and performance outcomes of recording sessions.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Differentiate key approaches to music production
- Contextualise aesthetic discussion by developing an understanding of relevant repertoire
- Apply research skills to music production

Music Production Project

Due: Week 13 - June 9, 2017

Weighting: 45%

Students will submit a finished musical recording, mixed and delivered according to professional standards. The track is to be accompanied by a 500 word written evaluating the overall effectiveness of the final product.

Finished mixes will be uploaded to a specified server location. This will be further explained in the seminars.

The written component will be submitted via the Turnitin link provided on the unit's iLearn page.

Assessment Criteria:

- Capacity to demonstrate professional practices in the management, annotation, and presentation of audio materials
- Evidence of technical skills in studio based recording
- Ability to critically evaluate the creative and performance outcomes of recording sessions.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Differentiate key approaches to music production
- Contextualise aesthetic discussion by developing an understanding of relevant repertoire
- Research advanced practice and literature in the field
- Apply research skills to music production

Delivery and Resources

Delivery

This unit will be delivered as 1 x 2 hour studio seminar/practical per week.

Late Submissions

Tasks 10% or less. No extensions will be granted. Students who have not submitted the task prior to the deadline will be awarded a mark of 0 for the task, except for cases in which an application for Disruption to Studies is made and approved.

Tasks above 10%. Students who submit late work without an extension will receive a penalty of 10% per day. This penalty does not apply for cases in which an application for Disruption to Studies is made and approved.
