Unit description

The law of obligations encompasses private law obligations in contract, tort, and restitution. This compulsory unit examines the law of torts and its operation in context from doctrinal, practical, theoretical and normative perspectives. Torts addresses critical questions about social responsibility and obligations members of a community owe to one other, and how civil legal standards can and should be used to encourage appropriate behaviour and rectify wrongs. Negligence is the principal focus; other topics studied include assault, battery, false imprisonment, trespass to land and goods, nuisance, conversion, defences, and types of liability. The unit extends and integrates knowledge and skills developed in previous law units, focusing on communication, teamwork, problem solving and research. It also lays a foundation for the capstone unit LAWS815 Remedies, Reparations and Resolutions in Law.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Describe at an advanced level the fundamental doctrines, concepts, principles, values and sources (both common law and statute) for different types of torts and categories of liability.

Recognise a number of contemporary developments in the law, and reflect upon how such developments may impact upon tort-feasors and claimants.

Identify and articulate complex legal issues via engagement with hypothetical problem-based scenarios and other relevant materials.

Engage in critical legal reasoning, analysis and research to generate appropriate responses to tort-based legal issues.

Communicate in ways that are effective, appropriate and persuasive for legal and non-legal audiences.

Demonstrate a high level of autonomy, accountability and professionalism in relation to study, research, performance and conduct.

General Assessment Information

In the absence of a successful application for special consideration due to a disruption to studies, any assessment task submitted after its published deadline will not be graded and will receive a mark of zero. Applications for a Disruption to Studies are made electronically via ask.mq.edu.au and should be accompanied by supporting documentation. Students should refer to the Disruption to Studies policy for complete details of the policy and a description of the supporting documentation required. Word limits will be strictly applied and work above the word limit will not be marked. All assessments in the unit are to be submitted electronically. Plagiarism detection software is used in this unit.

For external students, the on-campus session is compulsory. Students who are unable to attend must apply for a disruption to studies. If that application is accepted, alternative work will be set in lieu of on-campus attendance.

Detailed marking rubrics will be made available on iLearn, assessments are moderated by the convenor for consistency and all fail papers are double marked.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Tutorial Participation	10%	No	Weekly
Hypothetical Problem Quiz	20%	No	9pm Wednesday, 6th September

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Research Essay	40%	No	9pm, Wednesday, 11th October
Final Exam	30%	No	9pm Thursday 16th November

Tutorial Participation

Due: Weekly

Weighting: 10%

This assessment task relates to preparation for tutorials and participation in tutorial discussions, debates and activities.

The Unit Convenor will engage in ongoing assessment of student participation in tutorials and at the OCS sessions in accordance with the marking rubric in iLearn using the following criteria: 1. Preparation and understanding of material: the student has listened to the lecture, read the required reading and has attempted to link the materials to the lectures and to other course materials; 2. Ability to think critically about the material: the student is able to think critically about the materials from different angles and is able to question the materials; 3. Clear expression of ideas: the student is able to clearly express their ideas about the materials; 4. Engaging with other students: the student engages with others in the class taking an active role in discussions, role plays, debates and other activities assigned by the convenor. The student responds to others in the class by listening to them, providing constructive feedback and asking questions. 5. Demonstration of skills: The student is able to demonstrate communication skills including good communication, presentation and reasoning skills. If you cannot attend a tutorial or an OCS session you must email the Unit Convenor to inform them of your absence. All communication will be conducted through the 'Communicate Privately with Teaching Staff' link on iLearn.

Extended absences from tutorials must meet the criteria for Disruption to Studies and be approved by the Unit Convenor. Applications for Disruption to Studies in relation to absence from tutorials are made online at ask.mq.edu.au after two weeks of absence in relation to the third missed class.

The Unit Convenor will raise any concerns about poor preparation or participation with the student involved through the 'Communicate Privately with Teaching Staff' link. Students will be given an opportunity to submit remedial work where there are concerns about participation or unexplained absences. Remedial work will be at the discretion of your tutor and may be different to exercises posted for preparation purposes through ilearn.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Describe at an advanced level the fundamental doctrines, concepts, principles, values and sources (both common law and statute) for different types of torts and categories of liability.
- Recognise a number of contemporary developments in the law, and reflect upon how such developments may impact upon tort-feasors and claimants.

- Identify and articulate complex legal issues via engagement with hypothetical problem-based scenarios and other relevant materials.
- Engage in critical legal reasoning, analysis and research to generate appropriate responses to tort-based legal issues.
- Communicate in ways that are effective, appropriate and persuasive for legal and non-legal audiences.
- Demonstrate a high level of autonomy, accountability and professionalism in relation to study, research, performance and conduct.

Hypothetical Problem Quiz

Due: 9pm Wenesday, 6th September

Weighting: 20%

There will be an online quiz to be completed in relation to the materials from weeks 1 - 4.

Students will be required to answer a variety of questions related to a hypothetical scenario showing engagement with, and understanding of, the course materials and subject matter.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Describe at an advanced level the fundamental doctrines, concepts, principles, values and sources (both common law and statute) for different types of torts and categories of liability.
