Unit description

This unit explores recent developments in educational psychology and child development and examines links to teaching and learning and other relevant workplace learning contexts. It begins with an analysis of recent topical debates including topics such as the development of motivation and engagement in students, student interactions and the emergence of cyber bullying, and pedagogical debates surrounding applications of student-centred or direct instruction pedagogies. In the seminars students extend their undergraduate study in the field of educational psychology and conduct an independent study of a problem of practical or theoretical significance by deeply engaging with relevant research and theory from a psychological viewpoint. Students develop a research-based understanding of educational psychology related to research or their workplace context.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

A broad understanding of the discipline of educational psychology and selected current issues and advancements in the field

The ability to discuss and critically reflect upon key issues, relevant approaches and policies reflecting principles or findings arising from the discipline of educational psychology

The ability to identify, analyse and synthesise information from the field of educational psychology to investigate a problem of practical or theoretical significance to the individual student

Written and oral communication skills that demonstrate an ability to discuss educational problems with peers and present information in an academic and professional manner.

General Assessment Information

General Assessment Information

All assessment tasks must be written/spoken in formal academic English. Casual or informal language is not acceptable.

1. Reading Discussion Questions. These written reports (approx 750 words each) will be completed using the assigned iLearn submission tool.
2. Independent Study Synopsis. The synopsis must be submitted to the iLearn Turnitin portal as a Word ( or similar software) written document. PDFs are not acceptable.
3. Independent Study Paper. The paper must be submitted through the iLearn Turnitin portal as a Word (or similar software) written document. PDFs are not acceptable.
4. Independent study presentation. This oral presentation will be completed using a standard form of software such as PowerPoint (or equivalent software) or Prezi. Your oral presentation will be embedded and supported by the software tool you choose. This function is available in both PowerPoint and Prezi. The software used must be freely and easily accessible to all students on any platform or browser, at no cost and no more than a single click on a weblink or PowerPoint to directly access the presentation. The presentation tool you use must not ask the viewer (e.g. students or Convenor) to install or download any software or add-ins in order to work.. If your presentation is not accessible you will be notified and given 24 hours to rectify the problem. The presentation will be submitted through a specified tool in iLearn.

Assignment extensions and late penalties

Applications for extensions must be made via AskMQ at <https://ask.mq.edu.au> as a "Disruption to Studies" request before the submission date. Students who experience a disruption to their studies through ill-health or misadventure are able to apply for this request. Extensions can only be granted if they meet the Disruption to Studies policy and are submitted via ask.mq.edu.au. This will ensure consistency in the consideration of such requests is maintained.

In general, there should be no need for extensions except through illness or misadventure that would be categorised as unavoidable disruption according to the University definition of same, and currently available at:

http://students.mq.edu.au/student\_admin/exams/disruption\_to\_studies/

Late submissions without extension will receive a penalty of 5% reduction of the total possible mark for each day late (including weekends and public holidays). You are reminded that submitting even just 1 day late could be the difference between passing and failing a unit. Late penalties are applied by unit convenors or their delegates after tasks are assessed.

No assessable work will be accepted after the return/release of marked work on the same topic. If a student is still permitted to submit on the basis of unavoidable disruption, an alternative topic may be set.

Students should keep an electronic file of all assessments. Claims regarding "lost" assessments cannot be made if the file cannot be produced. It is also advisable to keep an electronic file of all drafts and the final submission on a USB untouched/unopened after submission. This can be used to demonstrate easily that the assessment has not been amended after the submission date

Please refer to the Disruption to Studies policy for further details: <http://mq.edu.au/policy/>

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Written and oral communication skills that demonstrate an ability to discuss educational problems with peers and present information in an academic and professional manner.

Delivery and Resources

This unit is offered in Online and Evening modes. Evening mode classes are held on specified dates on Tuesdays from 5-7pm. Please check the timetable for specific dates and room location.

To accommodate both modes of learning this unit delivers weekly online seminar activities as well as independent study periods which require you to work independently and access the iLearn website* to participate in the unit. Students in both Online and Evening modes will have online activities and assessment tasks to complete.

*ILEARN WEBSITE

Macquarie University uses an online learning platform called iLearn to support all learners in both modes of study. The unit webpage can be found at <http://ilearn.mq.edu.au>. Students will need to use their student username and password to log in and then choose EDCN811 from their My Online Units menu. Please note if you have problems accessing the website or any ICT related problems please use the iLearn help function or call the IT Services help desk.

Unit Schedule

This unit commences in Week 1 of Semester 1.

Evening mode: The unit will hold several evening seminar classes which aim to support your learning. Please note that these classes do not completely replace the weekly learning you are expected to do by completing any weekly activities and readings as directed on the iLearn site. You should complete all weekly activities and submit assessments tasks online as directed. The evening classes will support your learning through peer to peer discussions of content, readings and learning from the activities you have been completing by yourself in the interim weeks between evening classes. If the evening class falls on a week with activities we will complete the activities in class.

Online mode: A weekly schedule of online learning activities will be provided for each learning module. This mode of study requires self-regulation by the learner to complete the readings and activities and submit all assessment tasks online as directed. The iLearn site will support your learning with postings of all activities in weekly updates; a peer discussion portal will be set up to discuss activities and readings; all other content will be accessible through the iLearn site.
