General Information

Unit convenor and teaching staff Jumana Bayeh jumana.bayeh@mq.edu.au
Credit points 3
Prerequisites 39cp at 100 level or above including 12cp in POL or POIR units
Corequisites 6cp in POL or POIR units at 300 level
Co-badged status
Unit description The application of disciplinary learning and the writing and speaking skills gained in other units is translated beyond the campus in this unit. Students gain practical experience working with a range of organisations that grapple with issues of politics and international relations in the constrained circumstances of their values and missions: advocacy and lobbying organisations, political consultancies, non-government organisations, local governments, and media and business organisations are some of the bodies that may support the experience that the unit offers. The cohort of the unit share their experiences of the unit in its closing stage and offer their reflections on the study to work transition they have undertaken.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

1. Understand some of the different modes of political practice.
2. Appreciate the various ways in which commercial and non-commercial organisations engage in political practice.
3. Be capable of applying key aspects of study learned over the course of their degree to the challenges of political practice, both in this unit and beyond.
4. Recognise how their engagement with the community has facilitated mutually beneficial opportunities for the generation and the sharing of knowledge.

5. Apply the knowledge they have acquired in the classroom to real life situations such as those experienced in their activity.

6. Have an enhanced sense of ways in which they have more broadly contributed to a socially inclusive and sustainable society through POIR333 as a whole.

Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- 1. Understand some of the different modes of political practice.
- 3. Be capable of applying key aspects of study learned over the course of their degree to the challenges of political practice, both in this unit and beyond.
- 4. Recognise how their engagement with the community has facilitated mutually beneficial opportunities for the generation and the sharing of knowledge.

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- 2. Appreciate the various ways in which commercial and non-commercial organisations engage in political practice.
- 4. Recognise how their engagement with the community has facilitated mutually beneficial opportunities for the generation and the sharing of knowledge.

- 5. Apply the knowledge they have acquired in the classroom to real life situations such as those experienced in their activity.
- 6. Have an enhanced sense of ways in which they have more broadly contributed to a socially inclusive and sustainable society through POIR333 as a whole.

Assessment task

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- 1. Understand some of the different modes of political practice.
- 3. Be capable of applying key aspects of study learned over the course of their degree to the challenges of political practice, both in this unit and beyond.
- 4. Recognise how their engagement with the community has facilitated mutually beneficial opportunities for the generation and the sharing of knowledge.

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- 1. Understand some of the different modes of political practice.
- 2. Appreciate the various ways in which commercial and non-commercial organisations engage in political practice.
- 4. Recognise how their engagement with the community has facilitated mutually beneficial opportunities for the generation and the sharing of knowledge.

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- 1. Understand some of the different modes of political practice.
- 2. Appreciate the various ways in which commercial and non-commercial organisations engage in political practice.
- 3. Be capable of applying key aspects of study learned over the course of their degree to the challenges of political practice, both in this unit and beyond.
- 5. Apply the knowledge they have acquired in the classroom to real life situations such as those experienced in their activity.

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- 1. Understand some of the different modes of political practice.
- 2. Appreciate the various ways in which commercial and non-commercial organisations engage in political practice.
- 3. Be capable of applying key aspects of study learned over the course of their degree to the challenges of political practice, both in this unit and beyond.

- 6. Have an enhanced sense of ways in which they have more broadly contributed to a socially inclusive and sustainable society through POIR333 as a whole.

Assessment task

- Final Essay

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- 3. Be capable of applying key aspects of study learned over the course of their degree to the challenges of political practice, both in this unit and beyond.
- 5. Apply the knowledge they have acquired in the classroom to real life situations such as those experienced in their activity.

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- 1. Understand some of the different modes of political practice.
- 4. Recognise how their engagement with the community has facilitated mutually beneficial opportunities for the generation and the sharing of knowledge.
- 5. Apply the knowledge they have acquired in the classroom to real life situations such as those experienced in their activity.
- 6. Have an enhanced sense of ways in which they have more broadly contributed to a socially inclusive and sustainable society through POIR333 as a whole.

Socially and Environmentally Active and Responsible

We want our graduates to be aware of and have respect for self and others; to be able to work with others as a leader and a team player; to have a sense of connectedness with others and country; and to have a sense of mutual obligation. Our graduates should be informed and active participants in moving society towards sustainability.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- 2. Appreciate the various ways in which commercial and non-commercial organisations engage in political practice.
- 4. Recognise how their engagement with the community has facilitated mutually beneficial opportunities for the generation and the sharing of knowledge.
- 5. Apply the knowledge they have acquired in the classroom to real life situations such as those experienced in their activity.
