Unit description

This unit provides an opportunity for students to engage with leading edge research in their discipline. It is a shell unit with departments determining precise activities and assessments on a semester by semester basis. The students will acquire advanced disciplinary knowledge, know about how research is carried out in a disciplinary area and will demonstrate competence in the application of research skills to the disciplinary area.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Investigate at an advanced level the theories, principles and concepts within a discipline area.

Apply a high level of oral, written, and technological communication skills, with specialisation for the specific needs of a discipline.

Evaluate the research principles and methods used within a disciplinary area.

Make informed and logical judgments of the arguments of others to arrive at reasoned and meaningful arguments and positions, and formulate and apply ideas to new contexts.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Active Participation	30%	No	Weeks 1-13
Written Report	35%	No	Week 6
Research Proposal or Abstract	35%	No	Weeks 10-13

Active Participation

Due: Weeks 1-13

Weighting: 30%

Each department will evaluate participation on a weekly basis. Participation will involve a range of tasks that determine students' engagement with the FOAR700 curriculum.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Apply a high level of oral, written, and technological communication skills, with specialisation for the specific needs of a discipline.
- Make informed and logical judgments of the arguments of others to arrive at reasoned and meaningful arguments and positions, and formulate and apply ideas to new contexts.

Written Report

Due: Week 6

Weighting: 35%

A written report, which may take the form of:

- A review of a journal; or
- A preliminary evaluation of student's proposed area of research; or
- A literature review; or
- An research ethics application

Each department in the Faculty of Arts will determine the content and format of this written assessment task.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Apply a high level of oral, written, and technological communication skills, with specialisation for the specific needs of a discipline.
- Evaluate the research principles and methods used within a disciplinary area.

Research Proposal or Abstract

Due: Weeks 10-13

Weighting: 35%

A preliminary research proposal or abstract.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Investigate at an advanced level the theories, principles and concepts within a discipline area.
- Apply a high level of oral, written, and technological communication skills, with specialisation for the specific needs of a discipline.

Delivery and Resources

Please see your departmental MRes Director for information about how FOAR700 will proceed on a weekly basis.

PG - Discipline Knowledge and Skills

Our postgraduates will be able to demonstrate a significantly enhanced depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content knowledge in their chosen fields.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Investigate at an advanced level the theories, principles and concepts within a discipline area.
- Evaluate the research principles and methods used within a disciplinary area.

Assessment tasks

- Active Participation
- Written Report
- Research Proposal or Abstract

PG - Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

Our postgraduates will be capable of utilising and reflecting on prior knowledge and experience, of applying higher level critical thinking skills, and of integrating and synthesising learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments. A characteristic of this form of thinking is the generation of new, professionally oriented knowledge through personal or group-based critique of practice and theory.

This graduate capability is supported by:
