Unit description

This unit develops students' knowledge and understanding of contemporary theories in Translation and Interpreting Studies from an historical perspective. Theories discussed will include functionalist theories, discourse analysis approaches, translation quality assessment, polysystems theories and corpus-based translation studies. The unit will also include discussions on sociolinguistic and cognitive approaches to describing interpreting.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Demonstrate a systematic understanding of translation and interpreting theories through a critical survey of past and present theories of translation and interpreting.

Critically evaluate the contribution of translation and interpreting theories to our understanding of translation and interpreting as cultural, social and cognitive phenomena.

Compare and contrast major approaches in translation and interpreting studies.

Communicate theoretical concepts orally and in writing to a variety of audiences.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Assignment 1	20%	No	Week 7
Assignment 2	50%	No	Week 12
Exam	30%	No	Examination period

Assignment 1

Due: Week 7

Weighting: 20%

In this assignment, you are required to write a critical review (1000-1500 words) of one research article or chapter that discusses or applies a translation or interpreting theory you have discussed in Week 2-6 of this unit.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate a systematic understanding of translation and interpreting theories through a critical survey of past and present theories of translation and interpreting.
- Critically evaluate the contribution of translation and interpreting theories to our understanding of translation and interpreting as cultural, social and cognitive phenomena.
- Compare and contrast major approaches in translation and interpreting studies.
- Communicate theoretical concepts orally and in writing to a variety of audiences.

Assignment 2

Due: Week 12

Weighting: 50%

In this assignment, you select your own topic for an academic essay, related to one of the topics discussed in the unit. The topic needs to be approved by the convenors by Week 9.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate a systematic understanding of translation and interpreting theories through a critical survey of past and present theories of translation and interpreting.
- Critically evaluate the contribution of translation and interpreting theories to our understanding of translation and interpreting as cultural, social and cognitive phenomena.

- Compare and contrast major approaches in translation and interpreting studies.
- Communicate theoretical concepts orally and in writing to a variety of audiences.

Exam

Due: Examination period

Weighting: 30%

The exam paper consists of a range of longer questions (about one page in length each), covering the content of the whole unit.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate a systematic understanding of translation and interpreting theories through a critical survey of past and present theories of translation and interpreting.
- Critically evaluate the contribution of translation and interpreting theories to our understanding of translation and interpreting as cultural, social and cognitive phenomena.
- Compare and contrast major approaches in translation and interpreting studies.
