Unit description

This unit is an introduction to imperial China in world history. Topics will broadly cover imperial history and the consequences of both China's interaction with and isolation from the outside world. Topics will include China's traditional role as the focus of socio-political order and culture in East Asia and its continuing influence and relevance in the modern world; the role of wars and invasions in shaping Chinese politics and culture; the role of trade in the transmission of science, technology and beliefs between China and the world and their importance in world history; and the transmission and role of Chinese culture as a part of world culture.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Demonstrate an understanding of the forces driving Chinese and world history.

Analyse and express judgements about Chinese history in oral and written form.

Demonstrate an understanding of some critical exchanges of ideas, culture and materials between China and the world.

Interpret written and material evidence, demonstrating appreciation and understanding.

Work with and respond to the views of staff and other students in the unit, in both oral and written form.

Plan, revise and submit written work according to schedule.

General Assessment Information

Indicative examples of assessment tasks will be available on iLearn.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Tutorial Participation	20%	No	Cumulative
Online quizzes	20%	No	Throughout session
Mid-session Exam	25%	No	Week 7, in lecture
Final exam	35%	No	Week 13, in lecture

Tutorial Participation

Due: Cumulative

Weighting: 20%

This is not a simple attendance mark. Marks will not be awarded for attendance- one could attend every tutorial yet receive zero for lack of participation. Attendance is mandatory and deductions for absences will count toward the final grade.

Tutorials are a critical part of your learning in this unit. Weekly tutorial activities will be based on the week's set readings and questions, as well as lecture materials. Tutorial readings will be posted directly to or linked via iLearn. All students will be expected to have read the readings, and considered the tutorial questions prior to attending tutorials, as well as having attended the lectures and reviewed the lecture materials. Tutorials are also the place to ask questions of any aspect of the lecture and tutorial materials or assessment tasks. Students will also be expected to respond to ideas and questions raised in response to tutorial class biography group work presentations.

The tutor will look for evidence of student knowledge of set readings and lectures; analysis of those readings expressed in verbal form; ability to complete set tasks; ability and willingness to work with and respond to the views of the tutor and other students in verbal form. To do well in tutorial participation, you will not be expected to 'know everything', but you will be expected to show an informed opinion of the unit materials and be able to contribute and share constructively with the class.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of the forces driving Chinese and world history.
- Analyse and express judgements about Chinese history in oral and written form.
- Demonstrate an understanding of some critical exchanges of ideas, culture and materials between China and the world.
- Interpret written and material evidence, demonstrating appreciation and understanding.
- Work with and respond to the views of staff and other students in the unit, in both oral and written form.

Online quizzes

Due: Throughout session

Weighting: 20%

Throughout the course of the session, there will be two online quizzes for you to complete, assessing your comprehension of the readings. There will be no extensions on these quizzes, and they will account for 20% of your grade (10% each).

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of the forces driving Chinese and world history.
- Demonstrate an understanding of some critical exchanges of ideas, culture and materials between China and the world.
- Interpret written and material evidence, demonstrating appreciation and understanding.
- Plan, revise and submit written work according to schedule.

Mid-session Exam

Due: Week 7, in lecture

Weighting: 25%

An examination based on all materials covered in lectures and tutorials during the first half of the session.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of the forces driving Chinese and world history.
- Analyse and express judgements about Chinese history in oral and written form.
- Demonstrate an understanding of some critical exchanges of ideas, culture and materials between China and the world.
- Interpret written and material evidence, demonstrating appreciation and understanding.

Final exam

Due: Week 13, in lecture

Weighting: 35%

A cumulative examination based on all materials covered in lectures and tutorials, focused upon the second half of the session, but also including essential information from throughout the session..

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Demonstrate an understanding of the forces driving Chinese and world history.
- Analyse and express judgements about Chinese history in oral and written form.
- Demonstrate an understanding of some critical exchanges of ideas, culture and materials between China and the world.
- Interpret written and material evidence, demonstrating appreciation and understanding.

TECHNOLOGY USED AND REQUIRED

Online Unit

Login is via: <https://ilearn.mq.edu.au/>

Is my unit in iLearn?: <http://help.ilearn.mq.edu.au/unitsonline/> to check when your online unit will become available.

Technology

Students are required to have regular access to a computer and the internet. Mobile devices alone are not sufficient.

For students attending classes on campus we strongly encourage that you bring along your own laptop computer, ready to work with activities in your online unit. The preferred operating system is Windows 10.

Students are required to access the online unit in iLearn by the end of Week 1 and follow any relevant instructions and links for downloads that may be required. If applicable, students are required to download the relevant language package prior to Week 2.

Please contact your course convenor before the end of Week 1 if you do not have a suitable laptop (or tablet) for in-class use.

Macquarie University subscribes to the 'Turn It In' plagiarism detection system. All students will be required to submit all of their written work through this system. See Assessment Submission for details.

Library Databases

The library databases offer access to thousands of academic journal articles on all relevant subject areas. Make a point of searching these databases for scholarly articles for sources of information for assignments. The library enquiry desk is a good point of assistance in the use of these databases. You can also the 'Ask a Librarian' service by phone or live chat. http://www.mq.edu.au/on_campus/library/

Please direct any questions about passwords, access and iLearn to the IT helpdesk <http://informatics.mq.edu.au/help/>

Assessment Marking Rubrics

Assessment Marking Rubrics are required for each assessment task (see Assessment Tasks in General). They can be downloaded from iLearn.

Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Assessment task

- Tutorial Participation

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Demonstrate an understanding of the forces driving Chinese and world history.

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Demonstrate an understanding of the forces driving Chinese and world history.

Assessment tasks

- Online quizzes
- Mid-session Exam
- Final exam

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Analyse and express judgements about Chinese history in oral and written form.
- Interpret written and material evidence, demonstrating appreciation and understanding.
- Work with and respond to the views of staff and other students in the unit, in both oral and written form.
- Plan, revise and submit written work according to schedule.

Assessment tasks

- Online quizzes
- Mid-session Exam
- Final exam

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Demonstrate an understanding of some critical exchanges of ideas, culture and materials between China and the world.
- Interpret written and material evidence, demonstrating appreciation and understanding.
- Plan, revise and submit written work according to schedule.

Assessment tasks

- Tutorial Participation
- Mid-session Exam
- Final exam

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Analyse and express judgements about Chinese history in oral and written form.
- Work with and respond to the views of staff and other students in the unit, in both oral and written form.

Assessment task

- Tutorial Participation

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Demonstrate an understanding of some critical exchanges of ideas, culture and materials between China and the world.

About this Unit

INTS102 is an introduction to the history of imperial China and its relationship with the world, from the Qin to the Qing. INTS102 will broadly cover the history of pre-modern China, as well as the transmission of culture, ideas and materials between China and the rest of the world.

Topics will include the "Hundred Schools" of classical thought, the formation of China as a political entity, periods of disunity and centralization, Buddhism and its influence on Chinese culture, imperial relations with the outside world and the civilization-barbarism distinction, the influence of conquest dynasties, and China's eventual encounters with the Western world in early modernity. There is something for everyone in this unit.

This is a first year course for students studying the Bachelor of International Studies, the Bachelor of Arts or for other general interest. Students will also actively participate in tutorial classes and will be expected to prepare for these by taking in all the lecture materials and completing the tutorial readings posted online, prior to attending tutorial classes. Students will also be expected to discuss and answer questions based on their interpretation and understanding of the tutorial readings.

INTS102 is a stimulating and at times challenging introduction to Chinese studies, which will pave the way for students to further studies in Chinese modern history, ancient history, Chinese philosophy, literature and film studies.

Assessment submission

All written assessment tasks will be required to be submitted only electronically via Turnitin.com, unless otherwise indicated.

Written assignments not received in e-copy via Turnitin.com by the appropriate due date will NOT be marked.

Late submission of the essays will result in a penalty of 5% of the total value of the essay towards unit assessment each day (including weekends). The essay will not be marked after a period of five calendar days of non-submission.

Electronic submission via Turnitin.com

Macquarie University's subscription to the Turnitin plagiarism detection system. All students will be required to submit all of their written work through this system.

To submit, follow the link for the required assignment on the iLearn INTS 102 home page and submit your assignment. You do not need to submit the assessment marking rubric with the Turnitin submission.

Classes

For lecture times and classrooms please consult the MQ Timetable website: <http://www.timetable.s.mq.edu.au>. This website will display up-to-date information on your classes and classroom locations.

Lectures

Lecture Thursday, 2:00-3:00pm

Tutorials

There is one tutorial class each week which must be attended, either Thursday 4:00-5:00pm or Thursday 5:00-6:00pm. Tutorial readings are to be downloaded from ilearn and must be reviewed before the relevant tutorial class.

Examinations

Important: This unit has a mid-session and a final exam. These are the primary modes of assessment in this unit.

You are expected to present yourself for examination at the designated time and place.

The only exception to sitting an examination at the designated time is because of documented illness or unavoidable disruption. In these circumstances you may wish to consider applying for Special Consideration. Information about unavoidable disruption and the special consideration process is available under the Extension and Special Consideration section of this Unit Guide. Anyone who misses an exam and does not file an application for consideration of Disruption to Studies will receive a zero.

You are advised that it is Macquarie University policy not to set early examinations for individuals or groups of students. All students are expected to ensure that they are available until the end of the teaching semester, that is the final day of the official examination period.

Extensions and Special Consideration

Serious Illness and Unavoidable Disruption

If your performance has been affected as a result of serious unavoidable disruption or illness, you are advised to inform the unit convenor and tutor of the problem at the earliest possible opportunity. I cannot, however, casually approve any extensions or adjustments- I will tell you to file an application for consideration of Disruption to Studies. You must supply documentary evidence of the extended disruption in an application for consideration of Disruption to Studies. (see ask.mq.edu.au).

No assessment work will be accepted for marking unless you have submitted an application for consideration of Disruption to Studies with adequate and appropriate supporting evidence and have been granted special consideration. Please note that requests for special consideration for long term or serious reasons are not granted automatically, and are reserved for unforeseen and serious circumstances such as prolonged & chronic illness, hospitalisation or bereavement in your immediate family which have affected your performance over the course of the semester; or in cases of unavoidable disruption during the formal examination period. If you believe that you qualify for special consideration, please contact the teaching staff as soon as is practically possible and lodge the application.

Required and Recommended Readings and Materials

The required text for this course is:

Schirokauer, Conrad and Miranda Brown. A Brief History of Chinese Civilization, Fourth Edition. Boston: Wadsworth, 2013.

Please make sure you have your own copy of this book, or be prepared to access it at library reserves on a weekly basis.

Weekly Tutorial Readings

Each week's required tutorial readings will be accessed via ilearn. Each week's readings must be read before attending class and students will be expected to demonstrate a knowledge of the reading materials in both the tutorial class and in the exams.

Unit Requirements and Expectations

Students will be expected to:

1. Review lecture materials in lectures or iletecture prior to tutorial classes.
2. Review assigned tutorial class readings prior to tutorial classes.
3. Actively participate in tutorial classes by interacting with tutors and fellow students by discussing and answering questions based on the lecture materials and tutorial readings.
4. Complete assignments on time and to the prescribed standards.

5. Successfully complete a midterm and final test.

6. Act with a high level of academic honesty http://www.mq.edu.au/policy/docs/academic_honesty/policy.html

7. Have a functional level of language competence. This is a language-intensive course, which includes heavy reading, considerable writing and classroom interaction. A good grasp of English grammar and syntax is essential. Students for whom English is a second language are strongly advised to ensure that their level of English proficiency is adequate before taking this course. Even for native speakers, academic reading and writing is not always simple or straightforward. Macquarie University provides a range of Academic Student Support Services. Details of these services can be accessed at: http://www.students.mq.edu.au/support/learning_skills/
