Unit description

This distance education unit is designed for students with little or no prior knowledge of the Polish language. It equips students with a basic knowledge of Polish grammar as well as provides tools for developing an introductory level of listening, reading, writing and speaking skills. The unit uses a variety of delivery modes including: • printed materials, • online Audio Lectures (mp3 format), • online Course Notes, • scheduled Skype sessions, • on-campus session (voluntary course revision), • online course revision material, and • online mediated communications (Discussion Forum and Coffee Lounge).

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Reading: Ability to understand very short simple texts; interpret isolated vocabulary words and phrases in familiar contexts; and predict and construct meanings of unfamiliar words in familiar contexts using context clues.

Listening: Ability to follow speech that is slow and carefully articulated with long pauses for the learner to assimilate meaning; to follow oral instructions for speaking practice; to listen actively to simple conversations and respond appropriately; and to demonstrate comprehension of basic spoken discourse in audio segments.

Writing: Ability to generate simple phrases and sentences containing learned vocabulary using basic grammatical structures; to use a basic repertoire to ask for or pass on personal details in a written form; and to convey a very simple message about themselves, their likes and dislikes and the immediate environment.

Spoken Interaction: Ability to interact in a very basic manner, asking and answering simple questions; and to initiate and respond to simple statements primarily through isolated words and simple sentences in areas of immediate need or on very familiar topics.

Spoken Production: Ability to produce simple, mainly isolated phrases about people and places; to describe things in words and phrases with effort and repetition; to produce a very basic range of conversational gambits.

Effective Communication: Ability to effectively participate in online sessions, on campus sessions and associated activities.

Graduate Capabilities

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.
