Unit description

Our relations with intimate others are governed by a quite distinctive set of norms. We do not normally think it is appropriate to adopt the strategic attitude of the actor in commercial settings, nor do we adopt the impartial disinterest of the actor in public life. How did the intimate sphere become carved out as a specific domain in modern social life and what has been said about the distinctiveness of its governing expectations? This unit examines a range of accounts of special love, friendship and familial relations. In addition, what are the present realities that confront these relations? It is anticipated that students will obtain a broad knowledge of classical and contemporary literature in the sociology of intimacy. All enrolment queries should be directed to Open Universities Australia (OUA): see www.open.edu.au

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.open.edu.au/student-admin-and-support/key-dates/>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

An understanding of key concepts, issues and contemporary debates in the sociology of intimate relationships.

The ability to sociologically discuss love, sex, and friendship with peers.

The ability to sociologically analyse historical and contemporary practices of intimacy, with particular attention to concepts of love, romance, sex, sexuality, and friendship.

An awareness of how gender, class, race, and sexuality differences (among other differences) can intersect and influence different practices and possibilities of intimate relations.

Demonstration of advanced research skills through an ability to source and analyse key arguments and debates in the sociology of intimate relationships.

The ability to conduct independent research.

General Assessment Information

Late Submission Penalty

“Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests.”

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Participation	20%	No	Ongoing
Essay 1	20%	No	Week 5 (Wed, 5pm EST)
Essay 2	20%	No	Week 9 (Wed 5pm, EST)
Essay 3	40%	No	Week 13 (Wed 5pm, EST)

Participation

Due: Ongoing

Weighting: 20%

Each week you will be asked to investigate a variety of readings accompanied by commentaries or sets of questions to guide you through the readings. These weekly questions are designed to guide you through the ideas and concepts that we will be exploring in the course. You will be asked to investigate these key questions, and post your findings to the discussion forums.

Active engagement in discussions is an important part of university learning. Ensure you have read at least the required readings prior to discussions. Your tutor will give you additional instructions on how to participate in the discussion forums. Note that quality participation in less than 80% of weekly discussions will incur a ‘fail’ for the course unless exceptional circumstances prevail.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- An understanding of key concepts, issues and contemporary debates in the sociology of intimate relationships.

- The ability to sociologically discuss love, sex, and friendship with peers.
- An awareness of how gender, class, race, and sexuality differences (among other differences) can intersect and influence different practices and possibilities of intimate relations.

Essay 1

Due: Week 5 (Wed, 5pm EST)

Weighting: 20%

Length: 800 words.

Task: Choose and critically review one of the set readings available on e-Reserve and discussed in weeks 2 to 4.

The exercise is designed to assess your ability to interpret the materials as well as your capacity to critically evaluate the significance of the chosen piece.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- An understanding of key concepts, issues and contemporary debates in the sociology of intimate relationships.
- The ability to sociologically analyse historical and contemporary practices of intimacy, with particular attention to concepts of love, romance, sex, sexuality, and friendship.

Essay 2

Due: Week 9 (Wed 5pm, EST)

Weighting: 20%

Length: 800 words.

Task: Choose and critically review one of the set readings available on e-Reserve and discussed in weeks 5 to 8.

The exercise is designed to assess your ability to interpret the materials as well as your capacity to critically evaluate the significance of the chosen piece.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- An understanding of key concepts, issues and contemporary debates in the sociology of intimate relationships.
- The ability to sociologically analyse historical and contemporary practices of intimacy, with particular attention to concepts of love, romance, sex, sexuality, and friendship.

Essay 3

Due: Week 13 (Wed 5pm, EST)

Weighting: 40%

Length: 2000 words.

Task: Choose one from a list of questions that will be made available in week 9.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- An understanding of key concepts, issues and contemporary debates in the sociology of intimate relationships.
- The ability to sociologically analyse historical and contemporary practices of intimacy, with particular attention to concepts of love, romance, sex, sexuality, and friendship.
- An awareness of how gender, class, race, and sexuality differences (among other differences) can intersect and influence different practices and possibilities of intimate relations.
- Demonstration of advanced research skills through an ability to source and analyse key arguments and debates in the sociology of intimate relationships.
- The ability to conduct independent research.

Delivery and Resources

Each week you will be required to undertake a series of learning steps. These include reading the lectures, doing the allocated readings, and participating in online tutorial discussions. It is a requirement of this unit that you keep up to date and complete all weekly tasks.

There are three ways to keep in contact with staff and other students in this unit:

1. The Dialogue Module allows you to communicate with tutor.
2. In the Announcements / News, the teaching staff will make unit-wide announcements. These will mostly concern administrative matters. All participants are subscribed to this forum and will automatically receive email notification of these important announcements.
3. Check the General Discussion Forum on a regular basis for weekly communications by your tutor. This forum also allows you to post any questions you might have in relation to this unit.

Policies and Procedures

Late Submission - applies unless otherwise stated elsewhere in the unit guide

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests.

Extension Request

Special Consideration Policy and Procedure (<https://staff.mq.edu.au/work/strategy-planning-and-governance/university-policies-and-procedures/policies/special-consideration>)

The University recognises that students may experience events or conditions that adversely affect their academic performance. If you experience serious and unavoidable difficulties at exam time or when assessment tasks are due, you can consider applying for Special Consideration.

You need to show that the circumstances:

1. were serious, unexpected and unavoidable
2. were beyond your control
3. caused substantial disruption to your academic work
4. substantially interfered with your otherwise satisfactory fulfilment of the unit requirements
5. lasted at least three consecutive days or a total of 5 days within the teaching period and prevented completion of an assessment task scheduled for a specific date.

If you feel that your studies have been impacted submit an application as follows:

1. Visit Ask MQ and use your OneID to log in
2. Fill in your relevant details
3. Attach supporting documents by clicking 'Add a reply', click 'Browse' and navigating to the files you want to attach, then click 'Submit Form' to send your notification and supporting documents
4. Please keep copies of your original documents, as they may be requested in the future as part of the assessment process

Outcome

Once your submission is assessed, an appropriate outcome will be organised.

OUA Specific Policies and Procedures

Withdrawal from a unit after the census date

You can withdraw from your subjects prior to the census date (last day to withdraw). If you successfully withdraw before the census date, you won't need to apply for Special Circumstances.
