Unit description

This unit focuses on the critical turns of media theory. The unit explores key concepts and historical contexts relating to a range of media, and elaborates on their materiality and communicative modalities. This unit will provide opportunities for critical reflection and/or creative production relevant to specific disciplinary areas.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Gain advanced knowledge of the literature in the field of media theory.

Evaluate, synthesise and analyse various media texts and practices as well as scholarly literature appropriate to the research topic.

Demonstrate critical thinking and evaluation of the arguments of others and development of students' own ideas and arguments in relation to scholarly literature.

Communicate (either oral or written) a clear and coherent exposition of the theoretical and analytical knowledge and methods utilised in the field of research.

Apply knowledge and theories to new contexts and multiple media.

General Assessment Information

Late Submission Penalty

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests.

Assessment Policy

This unit follows the assessment standards set in the University's Assessment Policy:

<https://staff.mq.edu.au/work/strategy-planning-and-governance/university-policies-and-procedures/policies/assessment>

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Active participation	20%	No	weeks 2–12
Short essay	15%	No	06/04/2018
Peer feedback	10%	No	13/04/2018
Oral presentation	15%	No	weeks 11–12
Final essay	40%	No	08/06/2018

Active participation

Due: weeks 2–12

Weighting: 20%

Participation will be assessed based on the student's active contribution to class discussion. Each student is expected to formulate at least two (2) questions per reading and to bring these questions into the class discussion. In addition, each student is expected to think of and share one (1) practical example inspired by each of the readings. These examples are meant to elucidate the arguments of the readings. In weeks 11 and 12, participation will be assessed based on active engagement with other students' presentations. This may include questions, comments or comparative examples that reflect on the presentation topics.

Assessment criteria (for a full assessment rubric, please refer to iLearn):

Discussion questions and practical example: Students will be assessed based on the appropriateness of their discussion questions and the applicability of their practical example (evidence of engagement with the unit readings).

Communication: Students will be assessed based on the fluency and clarity of their argumentation, as well as the demonstration of engagement with arguments of others.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Gain advanced knowledge of the literature in the field of media theory.
- Evaluate, synthesise and analyse various media texts and practices as well as scholarly literature appropriate to the research topic.
- Demonstrate critical thinking and evaluation of the arguments of others and development of students' own ideas and arguments in relation to scholarly literature.
- Communicate (either oral or written) a clear and coherent exposition of the theoretical and analytical knowledge and methods utilised in the field of research.
- Apply knowledge and theories to new contexts and multiple media.

Short essay

Due: 06/04/2018

Weighting: 15%

Students will write a 1000-word essay on the notion of the medium and the practices of (re)mediation. The essays will draw on the readings and discussions from the first six weeks of classes. Students are expected to refer to at least 3 unit readings and link the arguments of the readings to a reflection of their preferred medium. Detailed essay instructions including examples will be provided in week 2.

Submission is via Turnitin.

Assessment criteria (for a full assessment rubric, please refer to iLearn):

Reading and research: Evidence of thorough engagement with unit literature. Demonstration of application of gained knowledge to new contexts and media.

Argument and analysis: Evidence of critical thinking (through evaluating the arguments of others and supporting one's own position); evidence of relational thinking (through making connections between key ideas from the unit and supporting these connections).

Communication and style: Strategies for communicating ideas and arguments demonstrate imagination and critical reflection. The writing is fluent, language is polished and referencing is complete. The structure supports the argument and offers a clear and balanced exposition of theoretical and practical knowledge.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Gain advanced knowledge of the literature in the field of media theory.
- Evaluate, synthesise and analyse various media texts and practices as well as scholarly literature appropriate to the research topic.
- Demonstrate critical thinking and evaluation of the arguments of others and development of students' own ideas and arguments in relation to scholarly literature.
- Communicate (either oral or written) a clear and coherent exposition of the theoretical and analytical knowledge and methods utilised in the field of research.
- Apply knowledge and theories to new contexts and multiple media.

Peer feedback

Due: 13/04/2018

Weighting: 10%

Each student will give feedback of a fellow student's short essay. Feedback sessions will be held in week 7. Students will be given a feedback template that they need to fill out, go through and discuss with the author of the essay. After the feedback session, students will submit the filled out feedback template to the unit convener. Detailed instructions including examples will be provided in week 2.

Submission is via Turnitin.

Assessment criteria (for a full assessment rubric, please refer to iLearn):

Evaluation and reflection: Evidence of critical thinking through evaluating the arguments of others. Demonstration of reflection through relational thinking (through making connections between the readings and other media examples).

Communication: Demonstration of thorough engagement with the work of others. Evidence of supportive feedback: clear and justified indication of positive aspects and those that could be ameliorated.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Evaluate, synthesise and analyse various media texts and practices as well as scholarly literature appropriate to the research topic.
- Demonstrate critical thinking and evaluation of the arguments of others and development of students' own ideas and arguments in relation to scholarly literature.
- Communicate (either oral or written) a clear and coherent exposition of the theoretical and analytical knowledge and methods utilised in the field of research.

Oral presentation

Due: weeks 11–12

Weighting: 15%

Students will prepare 15-minute in class presentations on their chosen topic. Although the choice of topic is free within the overall frame of the unit, students are required to engage with academic literature and media-related practices. The aim of the presentation is to prepare students for their final essay by laying out their research topic, research question, research materials and key literature. The presentation should give a clear indication of their field of research; including a tentative argument, context, as well as problem areas and possible solutions. Detailed instructions including examples will be provided in week 8.

Assessment criteria (for a full assessment rubric, please refer to iLearn):

Demonstration of critical thinking: Students will be assessed based on how they canvas their field of research in the presentation.

Evaluation and application of knowledge: Students will be assessed based on their ability to apply gained knowledge and theories to new contexts and media.

Communication and clarity of presentation: Students will be assessed based on how they convey and defend their ideas in the presentation; including the use of visual aids, structure and time-management.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Evaluate, synthesise and analyse various media texts and practices as well as scholarly literature appropriate to the research topic.
- Demonstrate critical thinking and evaluation of the arguments of others and development of students' own ideas and arguments in relation to scholarly literature.
- Communicate (either oral or written) a clear and coherent exposition of the theoretical and analytical knowledge and methods utilised in the field of research.
- Apply knowledge and theories to new contexts and multiple media.

Final essay

Due: 08/06/2018

Weighting: 40%

Students will write a 3000-word research essay on the relationship of media and history. The essay should build on the unit readings, the short essay, peer feedback, the oral presentation and class discussions. The essay should have a clearly articulated research question, an argument that is developed and supported throughout the essay, as well as a structure that supports the argument. The essay should engage with the unit readings as well as include independent readings. A minimum of six (6) academic references is required. Detailed essay instructions including examples will be provided in week 8.

Submission is via Turnitin.

Assessment criteria (for a full assessment rubric, please refer to iLearn):

Reading and research: Evidence of thorough engagement with unit literature and independent readings. Demonstration of advanced knowledge of the research field and application of knowledge to new contexts and media.

Argument and analysis: Well-articulated and well-supported argument; evidence of critical thinking (through evaluating the arguments of others and supporting one's own position); evidence of relational thinking (through making connections between key ideas from the unit and wider literature, and supporting these connections).

Communication: Strategies for communicating ideas and arguments demonstrate imagination and critical reflection. Chosen examples and case studies are original, and they are related to other examples in innovative ways.

Style and Referencing: Fluent writing, polished language and complete referencing are required. The structure must support the argument and offer a clear and balanced exposition of theoretical and practical knowledge.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Gain advanced knowledge of the literature in the field of media theory.
- Evaluate, synthesise and analyse various media texts and practices as well as scholarly literature appropriate to the research topic.
- Demonstrate critical thinking and evaluation of the arguments of others and development of students' own ideas and arguments in relation to scholarly literature.
- Communicate (either oral or written) a clear and coherent exposition of the theoretical and analytical knowledge and methods utilised in the field of research.
- Apply knowledge and theories to new contexts and multiple media.

Graduate Capabilities

PG - Capable of Professional and Personal Judgment and Initiative

Our postgraduates will demonstrate a high standard of discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgment. They will have the ability to make informed choices and decisions that reflect both the nature of their professional work and their personal perspectives.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Gain advanced knowledge of the literature in the field of media theory.
- Evaluate, synthesise and analyse various media texts and practices as well as scholarly literature appropriate to the research topic.
- Demonstrate critical thinking and evaluation of the arguments of others and development of students' own ideas and arguments in relation to scholarly literature.
- Apply knowledge and theories to new contexts and multiple media.

Assessment tasks

- Active participation
- Short essay
- Peer feedback
- Oral presentation
- Final essay

PG - Discipline Knowledge and Skills

Our postgraduates will be able to demonstrate a significantly enhanced depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content knowledge in their chosen fields.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Gain advanced knowledge of the literature in the field of media theory.
- Evaluate, synthesise and analyse various media texts and practices as well as scholarly literature appropriate to the research topic.
- Demonstrate critical thinking and evaluation of the arguments of others and development of students' own ideas and arguments in relation to scholarly literature.

Assessment tasks

- Active participation
- Short essay
- Peer feedback
- Oral presentation
- Final essay

PG - Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

Our postgraduates will be capable of utilising and reflecting on prior knowledge and experience, of applying higher level critical thinking skills, and of integrating and synthesising learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments. A characteristic of this form of thinking is the generation of new, professionally oriented knowledge through personal or group-based critique of practice and theory.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Gain advanced knowledge of the literature in the field of media theory.
- Evaluate, synthesise and analyse various media texts and practices as well as scholarly literature appropriate to the research topic.
- Demonstrate critical thinking and evaluation of the arguments of others and development of students' own ideas and arguments in relation to scholarly literature.
- Communicate (either oral or written) a clear and coherent exposition of the theoretical and analytical knowledge and methods utilised in the field of research.
- Apply knowledge and theories to new contexts and multiple media.

Assessment tasks

- Active participation
- Short essay
- Peer feedback
- Oral presentation
- Final essay

PG - Research and Problem Solving Capability

Our postgraduates will be capable of systematic enquiry; able to use research skills to create new knowledge that can be applied to real world issues, or contribute to a field of study or practice to enhance society. They will be capable of creative questioning, problem finding and problem solving.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Gain advanced knowledge of the literature in the field of media theory.
- Evaluate, synthesise and analyse various media texts and practices as well as scholarly literature appropriate to the research topic.
- Demonstrate critical thinking and evaluation of the arguments of others and development of students' own ideas and arguments in relation to scholarly literature.
- Communicate (either oral or written) a clear and coherent exposition of the theoretical and analytical knowledge and methods utilised in the field of research.
- Apply knowledge and theories to new contexts and multiple media.

Assessment tasks

- Active participation
- Short essay
- Peer feedback
- Oral presentation
- Final essay

PG - Effective Communication

Our postgraduates will be able to communicate effectively and convey their views to different social, cultural, and professional audiences. They will be able to use a variety of technologically supported media to communicate with empathy using a range of written, spoken or visual formats.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Demonstrate critical thinking and evaluation of the arguments of others and development of students' own ideas and arguments in relation to scholarly literature.
- Communicate (either oral or written) a clear and coherent exposition of the theoretical and analytical knowledge and methods utilised in the field of research.

Assessment tasks

- Active participation
- Short essay
- Peer feedback
- Oral presentation
- Final essay

PG - Engaged and Responsible, Active and Ethical Citizens

Our postgraduates will be ethically aware and capable of confident transformative action in relation to their professional responsibilities and the wider community. They will have a sense of connectedness with others and country and have a sense of mutual obligation. They will be able to appreciate the impact of their professional roles for social justice and inclusion related to national and global issues

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Demonstrate critical thinking and evaluation of the arguments of others and development of students' own ideas and arguments in relation to scholarly literature.
- Communicate (either oral or written) a clear and coherent exposition of the theoretical and analytical knowledge and methods utilised in the field of research.

Assessment tasks

- Active participation
- Short essay
- Peer feedback
- Oral presentation
- Final essay
