Unit description

This unit focuses on general principles of research and the use of research methods in language studies. It covers the whole process of research from choosing a topic, searching the related literature on the topic, and formulating research questions, to collecting and analysing data and writing up research reports. The exploration of quantitative, qualitative, and mixed-method research methodologies develops students' research literacy to understand research reports and to design research projects. Research ethics and writing research proposals are two other topics that are discussed in this unit.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

1. Identify a research topic or area of interest

2. Critically review and evaluate literature (published articles) related to the topic of your research
3. Describe the basic underlying principles of three research approaches (quantitative, qualitative, and mixed-methods)
4. Know the research methods related to each research paradigm and approach
5. Synthesise and write up a literature review
6. Formulate and refine research questions and/or state relevant hypotheses
7. Design, implement and report the results of a small-scale study

General Assessment Information

Assignment	Description	Weight	Due Date/time
1	Annotated bibliography (2200 words)	20%	Sunday March 25th at 23:55 Sydney Time
2	Literature Review (2000 words excluding references)	20%	Sunday April 22nd at 23:55 Sydney Time
3	Research Report for a small-scale study (2200 words excluding references and any appendix)	35%	Sunday June 24th at 23:55 Sydney Time
4	Active participation (Completion of exercises and learning activities in the interactive text)	25%	All through the Semester

Note: How to apply for a late submission of an assignment

All requests for special consideration, including extensions, must be submitted via ASK.mq.edu.au and provide suitable supporting documentation

Late Assignment Submission

- Late submissions without an extension will receive a penalty of 5% of the total mark available for the assignment per day
- Late submission of an assignment without an extension will not be permitted after marks have been released to the rest of the class.
- Extensions will only be given in special circumstances, and can be requested by completing the Special Consideration request at ask.mq.edu.au and providing the requisite supporting documentation.

- For more information on Special Consideration, see the university website <https://students.mq.edu.au/study/my-study-program/special-consideration>
- Assignments submitted after the deadline, regardless of the reason, will be marked and returned at a date determined by the unit convenor.
- Extensions cannot continue beyond the start of the following semester, and students should be aware that long extensions may impact graduation dates.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Annotated Bibliography (AB)	20%	No	25/03/18
Review paper	20%	No	22/04/18
Research Report	35%	No	24/06/18
Active participation	25%	No	24/06/18

Annotated Bibliography (AB)

Due: 25/03/18

Weighting: 20%

An annotated bibliography is a list of sources and annotations (summary and evaluation) on a selected topic arranged in alphabetical order. Each annotation should have three parts. The first part is the bibliographic information of the source which should strictly follow APA style. The second part of each annotation includes a concise summary of the content and methodology of the study (what problem was investigated using which methods and with what results?). The third part of the annotation should include your reflection (a critical evaluation of the study) and its relevance to the theme of the AB (your chosen topic or area of interest). Roughly, the summary and the evaluation of each stud should have a 70% to 30% proportion.

For further information, see the detailed assignment instructions on iLearn.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- 1. Identify a research topic or area of interest
- 2. Critically review and evaluate literature (published articles) related to the topic of your research
- 5. Synthesise and write up a literature review

Review paper

Due: 22/04/18

Weighting: 20%

Assignment 2 is a “literature review” task and requires you to transform your annotated bibliography (Assignment 1) into a coherent literature review. You can refer to “Writing a literature review” section in Chapter 3 of the interactive text to learn about how to prepare and write your literature review. If you have prepared your AB well, you already have the content for your literature review though you can update your AB and add any other resources you might find useful. You need to transform your AB into a coherent and focused review with an appropriate structure. This assignment is a mediatory assignment that links your first assignment to the third assignment. As such, the literature review should provide a context and background for the primary research you’ll be doing for the third assignment.

For further information, see the detailed assignment instructions on iLearn.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- 1. Identify a research topic or area of interest
- 2. Critically review and evaluate literature (published articles) related to the topic of your research
- 3. Describe the basic underlying principles of three research approaches (quantitative, qualitative, and mixed-methods)
- 4. Know the research methods related to each research paradigm and approach
- 5. Synthesise and write up a literature review
- 6. Formulate and refine research questions and/or state relevant hypotheses
- 7. Design, implement and report the results of a small-scale study

Research Report

Due: 24/06/18

Weighting: 35%

Assignment 3 is a research report of a small-scale study you’ll complete. Follow the structure of Introduction (including selective Literature Review), Methods, Results, Discussion and Conclusion (IMRDC) (See Chapter 3 of your Interactive Text). Since you have already submitted a literature review (Assignment 2), only a selective part of it (significant sources and arguments) should be included in the Introduction.

For further information, see the detailed assignment instructions on iLearn.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- 3. Describe the basic underlying principles of three research approaches (quantitative, qualitative, and mixed-methods)
- 4. Know the research methods related to each research paradigm and approach
- 6. Formulate and refine research questions and/or state relevant hypotheses

- 7. Design, implement and report the results of a small-scale study

Active participation

Due: 24/06/18

Weighting: 25%

Both internal (on-campus) and external (distance) students should take part in the learning and teaching activities throughout the semester. The active participation mark will include successful completion of the exercises and learning activities incorporated in the interactive text, which will account for 20% of the active participation. Each chapter has some in-built exercises to be completed by you. There are an overall of 102 questions in the 13 chapters of the book that should be answered. Also, there are 113 points allocated to the learning activities in the interactive text. Successful completion of these 215 items (102 questions + 113 discussion items) will account for 20% of active participation. The expectation is that students complete the exercises and learning activities gradually (on a weekly basis) as they read each chapter of the interactive text. The other 5% of active participation will include active participation in face-to-face (for internal students) and online (for external students) discussions.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- 1. Identify a research topic or area of interest
- 3. Describe the basic underlying principles of three research approaches (quantitative, qualitative, and mixed-methods)
- 4. Know the research methods related to each research paradigm and approach

Delivery and Resources

The learning and teaching strategies used in this Unit include individual study, in-class face to face lectures and in-class and online discussion Forums. Face-to-face weekly lectures include two-hour lecture and one-hour tutorial.

The unit convenor will be monitoring the online discussion. If you have any general questions, concerns, and comments these may be posted on the Forum in iLearn. However, should you have any personal issues (e.g. requests for extensions etc.) then these should be addressed directly to the unit convenor at mehdi.riazi@mq.edu.au

Online discussion provides students (especially external students) the opportunity to interact and exchange ideas with other classmates to consolidate their understanding of theoretical concepts. Both internal and external students are urged to take part in online discussion as relate to weekly topics.

Required and Optional Texts and/or Materials

Required Textbook:

The following text is the “required” text for this unit.

Riazi, M. (2018). Research methods in language studies: An interactive text. Top Hat.

The following books are “optional” and good to consult.

Riazi, A.M. (2016). The Routledge Encyclopedia of Research Methods in Applied Linguistics. London: Routledge.

Paltridge, B., & Phakiti, A. (eds.)(2015). Research methods in applied linguistics. NY: Bloomsbury Publications.

Riazi, A.M. (2017). Mixed methods research in language teaching and learning. London: Equinox.

These texts should be able to provide you with the knowledge and skills necessary to understand and to conduct research projects in (applied) linguistics. You might refer to the related chapters in the above books as we proceed to different topics in the unit outline. Use table of contents and index of the books to find particular concepts and topics related to each week's topic.

Graduate Capabilities

PG - Capable of Professional and Personal Judgment and Initiative

Our postgraduates will demonstrate a high standard of discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgment. They will have the ability to make informed choices and decisions that reflect both the nature of their professional work and their personal perspectives.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- 3. Describe the basic underlying principles of three research approaches (quantitative, qualitative, and mixed-methods)
- 4. Know the research methods related to each research paradigm and approach
- 7. Design, implement and report the results of a small-scale study

Assessment tasks

- Review paper
- Research Report
- Active participation

PG - Discipline Knowledge and Skills

Our postgraduates will be able to demonstrate a significantly enhanced depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content knowledge in their chosen fields.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- 1. Identify a research topic or area of interest
- 2. Critically review and evaluate literature (published articles) related to the topic of your research
- 3. Describe the basic underlying principles of three research approaches (quantitative, qualitative, and mixed-methods)
- 4. Know the research methods related to each research paradigm and approach
- 5. Synthesise and write up a literature review
- 6. Formulate and refine research questions and/or state relevant hypotheses
- 7. Design, implement and report the results of a small-scale study

Assessment tasks

- Annotated Bibliography (AB)

- Review paper
- Research Report

PG - Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

Our postgraduates will be capable of utilising and reflecting on prior knowledge and experience, of applying higher level critical thinking skills, and of integrating and synthesising learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments. A characteristic of this form of thinking is the generation of new, professionally oriented knowledge through personal or group-based critique of practice and theory.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- 1. Identify a research topic or area of interest
- 2. Critically review and evaluate literature (published articles) related to the topic of your research
- 4. Know the research methods related to each research paradigm and approach
- 5. Synthesise and write up a literature review
- 6. Formulate and refine research questions and/or state relevant hypotheses
- 7. Design, implement and report the results of a small-scale study

Assessment tasks

- Annotated Bibliography (AB)
- Review paper
- Research Report

PG - Research and Problem Solving Capability

Our postgraduates will be capable of systematic enquiry; able to use research skills to create new knowledge that can be applied to real world issues, or contribute to a field of study or practice to enhance society. They will be capable of creative questioning, problem finding and problem solving.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- 3. Describe the basic underlying principles of three research approaches (quantitative, qualitative, and mixed-methods)

Assessment tasks

- Review paper
- Research Report

PG - Effective Communication

Our postgraduates will be able to communicate effectively and convey their views to different social, cultural, and professional audiences. They will be able to use a variety of technologically supported media to communicate with empathy using a range of written, spoken or visual formats.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- 1. Identify a research topic or area of interest
- 4. Know the research methods related to each research paradigm and approach
- 6. Formulate and refine research questions and/or state relevant hypotheses

Assessment tasks

- Annotated Bibliography (AB)
- Review paper
- Research Report
- Active participation

PG - Engaged and Responsible, Active and Ethical Citizens

Our postgraduates will be ethically aware and capable of confident transformative action in relation to their professional responsibilities and the wider community. They will have a sense of connectedness with others and country and have a sense of mutual obligation. They will be able to appreciate the impact of their professional roles for social justice and inclusion related to national and global issues

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- 2. Critically review and evaluate literature (published articles) related to the topic of your research
- 3. Describe the basic underlying principles of three research approaches (quantitative, qualitative, and mixed-methods)
- 4. Know the research methods related to each research paradigm and approach
- 7. Design, implement and report the results of a small-scale study

Assessment tasks

- Research Report
- Active participation
