Unit description

This unit analyses the theories behind, and practical applications of, strategic frameworks used to achieve sustainable competitive advantage. You will learn why organisations change their strategic direction, the importance of those changes, and the process that leads to such key decisions. Importantly, there are no “universal solutions, only differing perspectives which can help you make competitively sustainable strategic decisions.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Evaluate the role of organisational leadership in achieving strategic, responsible change, and superior organisational performance

Synthesise and ethically balance a range of strategy frameworks and models in the context of international cultures, markets and industries, to improve an organisation's competitive positioning and competitive advantage.

Develop a 'triple bottom-line' approach to organisational strategy that encompasses corporate social responsibility, effective corporate governance, environmental sustainability, and ethics into business decision-making.

Apply strategy frameworks and tools in ways that create resilient and sustainable organisations to benefit a wide spectrum of relevant stakeholders

General Assessment Information

Both individual report and group reports should be submitted in iLearn

No extensions will be granted. There will be a deduction of 10% of the total available marks made from the total awarded mark for each 24 hour period or part thereof that the submission is late (for example, 25 hours late in submission – 20% penalty). This penalty does not apply for cases in which an application for disruption of studies is made and approved. No submission will be accepted after solutions have been posted

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Individual Report	30%	No	Session 7
Group Report	20%	No	Across the term
Final Examination	50%	No	19-24 March 2018

Individual Report

Due: Session 7

Weighting: 30%

The individual report is your reflection on the Back Bay Simulation undertaken in session 6.

Prepare and submit an essay form reflection about the simulation experience, your individual results, and your analysis of the simulation. Briefly outline the actions you took during the 8 rounds of the simulation. The most important task is to do analysis of the firm's success and failures, explaining what decisions were correct, and what you could have done differently. Use the theories and frameworks we have discussed in the unit as analytical tools and to support your view.

The Simulation Foreground Reading: Back Bay Battery document will be provided to students closer to date. Students will be advised via broadcast email.

Back Bay Battery Simulation

This simulation is designed to bridge theories in innovation and the impact of an emerging, disruptive technology to the real-world context in which managers must make decisions about investing in innovative technologies under conditions of uncertainty. The simulation presents you the challenges associated with making investment choices under uncertain and highly constraining real world conditions.

In playing the simulation, you will learn that:

1. Disruptive innovations are often not good enough for a firm's existing best customers, but managers need to keep an eye on whether these innovations have attributes that are "good enough" for some other set of customers, and what the performance trajectory looks like.
2. Sometimes the best opportunity for a product is not visible early on, and it takes time to develop. Closely watching the market and building strategy in an emergent way is helpful in these circumstances.
3. Getting the timing and level of R&D spending right is very difficult for a manager. One has to carefully allocate funds based on evolution of the firm's strategy.
4. The need to meet specific short-term financial targets can constrain a company's ability and willingness to innovate.
5. When confronted with a potentially disruptive innovation, the manager is best positioned to invest in it when the core business is healthy. At the same time, he/she needs to be "impatient for profit" with the new disruptive business, trying to get it profitable as quickly as possible.

Your role in the simulation

Students play the role of a business unit manager at Back Bay Battery Company, who faces the dilemma of balancing a portfolio of investment strategies across products in the rechargeable battery market space. Players have to manage R&D investment trade-offs between sustaining investment in the unit's existing battery business verses investing in a new, potentially disruptive battery technology.

You must decide which market opportunities to pursue, each of which offers the student varying levels of market intelligence and differing short- and long-term payoff prospects.

You manage the investment portfolios over 8 simulated years. Throughout the simulation, you are forced to address a number of challenges, including timing and level of investment across both mature and new technology businesses, choices regarding market opportunities and inherent product performance characteristics, requirements to meet constraining financial objectives and constant trade-offs between investment options; all in the context of uncertain market information.

Please ensure your full name, student number, unit code (MGSM850), unit name (Strategic Frameworks), and lecturer (Randal Tame) is clearly visible on your assignment.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Evaluate the role of organisational leadership in achieving strategic, responsible change, and superior organisational performance

- Synthesise and ethically balance a range of strategy frameworks and models in the context of international cultures, markets and industries, to improve an organisation's competitive positioning and competitive advantage.
- Apply strategy frameworks and tools in ways that create resilient and sustainable organisations to benefit a wide spectrum of relevant stakeholders

Group Report

Due: Across the term

Weighting: 20%

Part A Report – not more than 5 slides and no more than 5,000 words, not including appendices and references

Part B Report (includes Part A report) – not more than 15 slides and no more than 5000 words, not including appendices and references.

Each report is to be in the form of a “McKinsey Deck” - see the following links for a description of the anatomy of a McKinsey PowerPoint Deck:

- <http://workingwithmckinsey.blogspot.com.au/2013/03/Client-Ready-McKinsey-Decks.html> and
- <http://workingwithmckinsey.blogspot.com.au/2013/11/Anatomy-of-a-McKinsey-Presentation-Page.html>)
- Annotate slides, giving details of key theories and frameworks used, sources and additional data – please make sure to reference these accurately.
- In your report, you should be careful to include information that will assist in evaluating your options and recommendations, eg:
 - The frameworks you used to perform the analysis and arrive at the options/recommendations
 - The timeframe that your strategy/report covers
 - References for any external information you use in the report (including theoretical models). If you are not sure how to properly reference a source, take advantage of the information available through the MQ Library:
https://www.mq.edu.au/on_campus/library/research/referencing/

Pay close attention to acknowledging all sources of data, especially existing internal company documents, plans, market research studies etc. In particular, you should cite any references fully and in an acceptable style as noted in the Student Handbook.

The document should be presented in a professional manner, in line with what would be presented by consultants to a management board. Specifically, it is vital that your document is easy to read.

Marking criteria will be made available in class / iLearn

Assessment Component

Due

Weighting

Part A: internal +external analysis + key issues

Submission in iLearn on or before 11:55pm (AEST) of Session 5 - 6 February 2018

10%

Part B: Final report of recommendations

Final Group Report is to be submitted in iLearn on or before 11:55pm (AEST) of Session 10 - 13 March 2018

10%

The group report requires you to do a strategic analysis of a business and provide the executive with a deck that clearly identifies the competitive environment and industry trends, the key issues facing the firm, your view of the strategic options and risks and recommendations for future actions. Your group should choose a firm that at least one member of the team is very familiar with. This may be a company that they currently or previously worked for. For this assignment your group will take the role of strategy consultants advising the firm's executive (note that this is an exercise and you are not in reality advising the firm's executive). Your two reports should be of the quality expected of top tier management consultants.

The Part A report should detail your analysis of the internal and external environments and identify the key trends and the issues facing the firm. The Part B report is the final report, including Part A report, and should present the strategic options available to the firm, the recommended strategic action and the risks in implementation.

Student groups must ensure that all members contribute equally to the presentation of their project. Should any difficulty occur with this, the group should talk with the lecturer as soon as possible. At the time of handing in the assignment the group should agree on what percentage of the mark each person should receive. You should indicate this information on the cover sheet of the assignment.

If the group assesses the contribution of each member as equal, each would receive 100% of the final mark. In cases where the group decides that some did not contribute equally, this should be reflected in the percentage (if there is problem in the group, please tell me sooner rather than later).

As part of the written submission, the group is also required to provide, on one page, a statement of exactly what each member did for the project, signed off by each member of the group. If there are sizable discrepancies concerning contributions within the group, the lecturer reserves the right to apportion marks unequally.

Please ensure all participants full names, the unit code (MGSM850), unit name (Strategic Frameworks), lecturer (Randal Tame), as well as the topic presented is clearly visible on your presentation front page.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Evaluate the role of organisational leadership in achieving strategic, responsible change, and superior organisational performance
- Synthesise and ethically balance a range of strategy frameworks and models in the context of international cultures, markets and industries, to improve an organisation's competitive positioning and competitive advantage.
- Develop a 'triple bottom-line' approach to organisational strategy that encompasses corporate social responsibility, effective corporate governance, environmental sustainability, and ethics into business decision-making.
- Apply strategy frameworks and tools in ways that create resilient and sustainable organisations to benefit a wide spectrum of relevant stakeholders

Final Examination

Due: 19-24 March 2018

Weighting: 50%

The exam format will be closed-book, and will consist of single case study and four mandatory questions. More details on the exam will be provided over the term. You will be provided with the case before the exam.

The final exam will cover content from:

- Unit materials
- Exercises and Group Discussions.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Evaluate the role of organisational leadership in achieving strategic, responsible change, and superior organisational performance
- Synthesise and ethically balance a range of strategy frameworks and models in the context of international cultures, markets and industries, to improve an organisation's competitive positioning and competitive advantage.
- Apply strategy frameworks and tools in ways that create resilient and sustainable organisations to benefit a wide spectrum of relevant stakeholders

Graduate Capabilities

PG - Capable of Professional and Personal Judgment and Initiative

Our postgraduates will demonstrate a high standard of discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgment. They will have the ability to make informed choices and decisions that reflect both the nature of their professional work and their personal perspectives.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Evaluate the role of organisational leadership in achieving strategic, responsible change, and superior organisational performance
- Synthesise and ethically balance a range of strategy frameworks and models in the context of international cultures, markets and industries, to improve an organisation's competitive positioning and competitive advantage.
- Develop a 'triple bottom-line' approach to organisational strategy that encompasses corporate social responsibility, effective corporate governance, environmental sustainability, and ethics into business decision-making.
- Apply strategy frameworks and tools in ways that create resilient and sustainable organisations to benefit a wide spectrum of relevant stakeholders

Assessment tasks

- Individual Report
- Group Report
- Final Examination

PG - Discipline Knowledge and Skills

Our postgraduates will be able to demonstrate a significantly enhanced depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content knowledge in their chosen fields.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Evaluate the role of organisational leadership in achieving strategic, responsible change, and superior organisational performance

- Synthesise and ethically balance a range of strategy frameworks and models in the context of international cultures, markets and industries, to improve an organisation's competitive positioning and competitive advantage.

Changes from Previous Offering

Previous case study for session 2 (Dog fight over Europe - Ryanair) will be replaced and details of the new case study will be made available in iLearn.

Alignment with MGSM's mission-driven attributes

Leadership: The unit developed my understanding of the role of leadership at a strategic level within organisations and its importance in achieving superior performance through incremental and transformational change.

Global mindset: The unit supported my ability to apply a range of strategy frameworks and models to firms that operate in international markets across a wide range of industries in order to improve competitive positioning.

Citizenship: The unit allowed me to develop an appreciation of how firms contribute to society by their adoption of a 'triple bottom-line' approach that encompasses corporate social responsibility, corporate governance and ethical decision-making.

Creating sustainable value: The unit encouraged my understanding of how effective strategy creates sustainable competitive advantage that benefits all stakeholders.

Attendance Policy (MGSM)

The interactive environment of the classroom is central to the MGSM experience. Students are required to attend the full duration of all classes for the units in which they are enrolled. We recognise that exceptional circumstances may occur, such as unavoidable travel on behalf of your organization or the serious illness or injury of you or a close family member.

Special consideration may be given for a maximum of 20% non-attendance for such circumstances as long as lecturers are contacted in advance, and supporting documentation provided, to request exemption from attendance. Failure to abide by these conditions may result in automatic withdrawal, with academic and/or financial penalty. The full Student Attendance Policy is published in the MGSM Student Handbook at <https://students.mgsm.edu.au/handbook>.
