Unit description

Centred around an applied field-based research project in either Sydney or with regional or international partners, this unit develops students' practical, analytical and interpretative skills in ways directly relevant to employment as a professional geographer. Students are guided through research processes including: problem formulation; research design; data collection; selection and use of appropriate analytical, interpretative and conceptual tools; and production of oral and written reports presenting research findings and evaluating their research process. The unit addresses quantitative and qualitative methods, team building skills, specific aspects of research practice such as professional ethics, and relevant areas of social science theory in applied contexts. This unit allows students to draw on previous work in human geography to strengthen their portfolio of demonstrated skills relevant to the wide range of employment destinations available to human geographers.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

- Understand and apply research methodologies and methods used in human geography.
- Design a research project based on original research findings and an understanding of the existing literature and debates in the topic area.
- Understand the importance of ethics and issues of cultural diversity when developing appropriate research practice in social science.
- Undertake field-based, applied research.
- Collaboratively and ethically collect appropriate data.
- Rigorously analyse and interpret data.
- Effectively communicate and reflect on research results through relevant media.

General Assessment Information

All students must submit Assignments 2, 3 and 4 through the appropriate Turnitin link provided on iLearn. Instructions for Assignment 1 submission will be given in class.

Late penalties

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline.

Grading and appeal

Each assignment will be marked and commented upon before return to you. The mark will be in the form of a graded letter as shown on the table below. If you are uncertain or unhappy with any aspect of your comments or results please contact Sandie as soon as possible to discuss it.

Graded letter	Meaning	% equivalent
F	<49	Fail
P	50-64	Pass
Cr	65-74	Credit
D	75-84	Distinction
HD	85-100	High Distinction

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Research Preparation	10%	No	Workshop 2 and 3
Research Proposal	15%	No	Tuesday 9am September 4
Research Portfolio	65%	No	Thursday 5pm November 8
Team Work Review	10%	No	Thursday 5pm November 8

Research Preparation

Due: Workshop 2 and 3

Weighting: 10%

See iLearn for detailed description of assessment task.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand and apply research methodologies and methods used in human geography.
- Design a research project based on original research findings and an understanding of the existing literature and debates in the topic area.
- Understand the importance of ethics and issues of cultural diversity when developing appropriate research practice in social science.
- Undertake field-based, applied research.

- Collaboratively and ethically collect appropriate data.
- Rigorously analyse and interpret data.
- Effectively communicate and reflect on research results through relevant media.

Research Proposal

Due: Tuesday 9am September 4

Weighting: 15%

See iLearn for detailed description of assessment task.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand and apply research methodologies and methods used in human geography.
- Design a research project based on original research findings and an understanding of the existing literature and debates in the topic area.
- Understand the importance of ethics and issues of cultural diversity when developing appropriate research practice in social science.
- Undertake field-based, applied research.
- Collaboratively and ethically collect appropriate data.

Research Portfolio

Due: Thursday 5pm November 8

Weighting: 65%

See iLearn for detailed description of assessment task.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand and apply research methodologies and methods used in human geography.
- Design a research project based on original research findings and an understanding of the existing literature and debates in the topic area.
- Understand the importance of ethics and issues of cultural diversity when developing appropriate research practice in social science.
- Undertake field-based, applied research.
- Collaboratively and ethically collect appropriate data.
- Rigorously analyse and interpret data.
- Effectively communicate and reflect on research results through relevant media.

Team Work Review

Due: Thursday 5pm November 8

Weighting: 10%

See iLearn for detailed description of assessment task.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Design a research project based on original research findings and an understanding of the existing literature and debates in the topic area.
- Understand the importance of ethics and issues of cultural diversity when developing appropriate research practice in social science.
- Undertake field-based, applied research.
- Collaboratively and ethically collect appropriate data.
- Rigorously analyse and interpret data.
- Effectively communicate and reflect on research results through relevant media.

Delivery and Resources

Delivery

GEOP380 is available only in block mode. It is dependent upon compulsory attendance and participation in 5 full day workshops:

9am - 5pm

Fridays 3 August, 17 August, 31 August, 12 October, 2 November

17 Wallys Walk - 209

Attendance at these workshops is required and will be recorded on an attendance sheet. If you cannot make a workshop for any reason you must contact Sandie. Preparation and engagement with the workshops will contribute to your grade for assignment 1. The workshops are designed to teach you the necessary research skills for designing research and for undertaking your assigned research projects. It is expected that students will use unassigned class time productively for fieldwork, group meetings and other research-related activities. The full day workshops will be mixed sessions with a combination of mini-lectures, hands-on learning activities and group meetings.

GEOP380 is a 6 credit point unit. On average 18 hours per week should be devoted to this unit (270 hour for the semester). The unit is designed based on the following breakdown (these are estimations and hours devoted to tasks will vary depending on specific projects):

- Workshops: 8 hrs per week for 5 weeks = 40 hours
- Blog preparation (reading and writing): 15 hrs per fortnight for 2 weeks = 30 hours
- Research proposal: research and writing = 26 hours
- Data collection: 84 hours
- Research portfolio preparation and team work assessment: 90 hours

Resources

There is a required text for GEOP380 available at the Co-op Bookshop:

Hay I. (ed.) 2016 Qualitative Research Methods in Human Geography, 4th ed., Oxford University Press, Oxford. (Earlier editions of this book purchased second hand are also fine).

It is strongly recommended that you purchase this text as many of the unit readings are from this book. There is one copy of Hay on closed reserve in the library. Additional required readings are available through the Leganto.

Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Understand and apply research methodologies and methods used in human geography.
- Design a research project based on original research findings and an understanding of the existing literature and debates in the topic area.
- Understand the importance of ethics and issues of cultural diversity when developing appropriate research practice in social science.
- Undertake field-based, applied research.
- Collaboratively and ethically collect appropriate data.
- Rigorously analyse and interpret data.

- Effectively communicate and reflect on research results through relevant media.

Assessment tasks

- Research Preparation
- Research Proposal
- Research Portfolio
- Team Work Review

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Understand and apply research methodologies and methods used in human geography.
- Design a research project based on original research findings and an understanding of the existing literature and debates in the topic area.
- Understand the importance of ethics and issues of cultural diversity when developing appropriate research practice in social science.
- Undertake field-based, applied research.
- Collaboratively and ethically collect appropriate data.
- Rigorously analyse and interpret data.
- Effectively communicate and reflect on research results through relevant media.

Assessment tasks

- Research Preparation
- Research Proposal
- Research Portfolio
- Team Work Review

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Understand and apply research methodologies and methods used in human geography.
- Effectively communicate and reflect on research results through relevant media.

Assessment tasks

- Research Preparation
- Research Proposal
- Research Portfolio
- Team Work Review

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Understand and apply research methodologies and methods used in human geography.
- Design a research project based on original research findings and an understanding of the existing literature and debates in the topic area.
- Understand the importance of ethics and issues of cultural diversity when developing appropriate research practice in social science.
- Undertake field-based, applied research.
- Collaboratively and ethically collect appropriate data.
- Rigorously analyse and interpret data.
- Effectively communicate and reflect on research results through relevant media.

Assessment tasks

- Research Preparation
- Research Proposal
- Research Portfolio
- Team Work Review

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Understand and apply research methodologies and methods used in human geography.
- Design a research project based on original research findings and an understanding of the existing literature and debates in the topic area.
- Understand the importance of ethics and issues of cultural diversity when developing appropriate research practice in social science.
- Undertake field-based, applied research.
- Collaboratively and ethically collect appropriate data.
- Rigorously analyse and interpret data.
- Effectively communicate and reflect on research results through relevant media.

Assessment tasks

- Research Preparation
- Research Proposal
- Research Portfolio
- Team Work Review

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Understand and apply research methodologies and methods used in human geography.
- Design a research project based on original research findings and an understanding of the existing literature and debates in the topic area.
- Understand the importance of ethics and issues of cultural diversity when developing appropriate research practice in social science.

- Undertake field-based, applied research.
- Collaboratively and ethically collect appropriate data.
- Rigorously analyse and interpret data.

Assessment tasks

- Research Preparation
- Research Proposal

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Understand the importance of ethics and issues of cultural diversity when developing appropriate research practice in social science.
- Undertake field-based, applied research.
- Collaboratively and ethically collect appropriate data.
- Effectively communicate and reflect on research results through relevant media.

Assessment tasks

- Research Preparation
- Research Proposal

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Design a research project based on original research findings and an understanding of the existing literature and debates in the topic area.
- Understand the importance of ethics and issues of cultural diversity when developing appropriate research practice in social science.
- Undertake field-based, applied research.
- Collaboratively and ethically collect appropriate data.
- Effectively communicate and reflect on research results through relevant media.

Assessment tasks

- Research Preparation
- Research Proposal

Socially and Environmentally Active and Responsible

We want our graduates to be aware of and have respect for self and others; to be able to work with others as a leader and a team player; to have a sense of connectedness with others and country; and to have a sense of mutual obligation. Our graduates should be informed and active participants in moving society towards sustainability.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Design a research project based on original research findings and an understanding of the existing literature and debates in the topic area.
- Understand the importance of ethics and issues of cultural diversity when developing appropriate research practice in social science.
- Undertake field-based, applied research.
