Unit description This unit involves practise-based research training aimed at developing student research skills. It focuses on the location, evaluation, management and use of research material and the development of key skills required for a research project.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Identify a suitable and unique research topic (with an appropriate scope) for a Masters research dissertation.

Gain insight into academic research culture and learn how to align your research and writing with such a culture.

Develop skills in critically analysing and evaluating scholarly research.

Create and maintain an accurate and effective research bibliography.

Gain a clear understanding of academic discourse and how its linguistic style and form constitute a particular genre of writing.

Acquire the necessary writing skills for producing an academic research dissertation.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Research Proposal	40%	No	15 March, 2019
Thesis chapter	50%	No	31 May, 2019
Class participation	10%	No	N/A

Research Proposal

Due: 15 March, 2019

Weighting: 40%

Students must submit a research proposal which outlines their thesis topic and the scope of their project.

The objective in writing a proposal is to describe what you will do, why it should be done, how you will do it and what you expect will result. A clean, well thought-out, proposal forms the backbone for the thesis itself. This proposal should be approximately 600 words in length.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identify a suitable and unique research topic (with an appropriate scope) for a Masters research dissertation.
- Develop skills in critically analysing and evaluating scholarly research.
- Acquire the necessary writing skills for producing an academic research dissertation.

Thesis chapter

Due: 31 May, 2019

Weighting: 50%

Students must submit a chapter of their thesis, approximately 4000 words in length. This chapter need not be the first chapter in the thesis, but it must have a coherent conceptual orientation, and this conceptual orientation must be demonstrated through relevant textual analysis.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Develop skills in critically analysing and evaluating scholarly research.
- Create and maintain an accurate and effective research bibliography.
- Gain a clear understanding of academic discourse and how its linguistic style and form constitute a particular genre of writing.
- Acquire the necessary writing skills for producing an academic research dissertation.

Class participation

Due: N/A

Weighting: 10%

Students will be graded on their class participation. If internal, they will be graded on their class contribution and preparation. If external, they will be graded on the basis of their participation in the iLearn Discussion Board.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Identify a suitable and unique research topic (with an appropriate scope) for a Masters research dissertation.
- Gain insight into academic research culture and learn how to align your research and writing with such a culture.
- Develop skills in critically analysing and evaluating scholarly research.
- Gain a clear understanding of academic discourse and how its linguistic style and form constitute a particular genre of writing.

Delivery and Resources

Please note that this unit is run entirely online, using the LIT 870 iLearn site.

REQUIRED AND RECOMMENDED TEXTS AND/OR MATERIALS

There are no set texts for this unit. Students will need to read a selection of articles prior to the Week 3 and Week 4 sessions. These articles are available on the LIT 870 iLearn site.

UNIT WEBPAGE AND TECHNOLOGY USED AND REQUIRED

Online units can be accessed at: <http://ilearn.mq.edu.au> PC and Internet access are required. Basic computer skills (e.g., internet browsing) and skills in word processing are also a requirement. Please consult teaching staff for any further, more specific requirements.

To complete LIT 870 students must:

1. Participate in online discussions on the LIT 870 iLearn site.
2. Attend at least two meetings with your thesis supervisor (these meetings are an attendance requirement of the unit).*
3. Complete all prescribed assessment tasks.
4. Reach a satisfactory level of achievement in the prescribed assessment tasks

*Students enrolled externally can make alternative arrangements if a face-to-face meeting with their supervisor is not possible. (These meetings can be conducted on the phone or via a series of emails.

Notes on Class Participation

Please read the weekly texts and prepare for the seminar discussion topics in advance. You may then post responses to the seminar questions and respond to the postings of other students, to facilitate an active discussion such as would occur in a face-to-face seminar. Students are also encouraged to raise other relevant points of interest in their online discussions. Be prepared to question the opinions of others, to have your opinions challenged and to participate actively in discussion. You are expected to make at least 4 posts* over the semester. *A “post” is defined as a discursive response relevant to unit interests of at least 50 words: a short paragraph of at least 4 sentences.

Unit Schedule

Week 1: Identifying a research topic and writing a research proposal

Week 2: Research – How to Use the Macquarie Library

Week 3: Research Methods

Week 4: Writing a Dissertation – Academic Writing Style
