Unit description

The aim of this unit is to provide Auslan-English interpreting students with the opportunity to discuss and practice advanced interpreting skills in the specialised area of medical interpreting. Students will analyse the complex linguistic, cultural and ethical challenges of interpreting in medical settings. Students will explore theoretical and practical aspects of the healthcare system in Australia, medical terminology, the roles of various participants in the healthcare system, and specific interpretation issues faced by Auslan interpreting practitioners in this domain.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Demonstrate a basic understanding of the Australian healthcare system

Demonstrate an understanding of the role of the health care interpreters working with healthcare professionals

Discuss the linguistic, cultural and ethical issues faced by interpreters working in medical contexts

Identify appropriate interpreting techniques to be used with medical texts or in medical contexts

Demonstrate effective medical interpreting skills in both language directions (English and Auslan)

Apply relevant discourse analysis frameworks to medical (sight) translations and interpretations
