Unit description
This unit introduces practical translation knowledge and skills to students, who will learn how to analyse various English texts in terms of their genre, style, register and potential readers. To produce good translation in Chinese requires more than being proficient in English and Chinese: special knowledge and skills are also crucial. Students will learn how to deliver the equivalent message in Chinese idiomatically. They will also become familiar with translation procedure and be able to identify and solve problems when translating from English into Chinese. This unit is for Chinese background speakers or students at an equivalent level.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

- Discuss and integrate the main translation theories
- Describe and identify the main concepts and themes in translation
- Evaluate and use dictionaries and other tools in translation
- Analyse English texts and conduct reader-oriented translation in Chinese
- Apply analytical and critical thinking skills in translating.

Identify and explain cultural diversities in translation tasks.

Reflect on and evaluate translation process and the final texts independently.

General Assessment Information

Apart from engaging with the class each week, you are expected to spend 10 hours on your assignments and reflection on your translation.

Indicative examples of assessment tasks will be available on iLearn or in class.

Late Assessment Penalty

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Class participation	10%	No	on going
Weekly translations	45%	No	each Monday week3 to week11
Presentation	15%	No	A week by choice on ilearn
Reflective journal	10%	No	week 13
Final test	20%	No	week 13

Class participation

Due: on going

Weighting: 10%

Class engagement and participation is required. Participation will be marked on class preparation, engagement and participation and performance, such as responding to questions and engagement in discussions. Students are expected to be well prepared in order to participate in class discussion – this will ensure good use of class time as well as improving the relevant learning skills. Students are provided with opportunities to reflect on their assignments and think about the translation issues encountered sharing their thoughts with their peers.

Your marks for class engagement and participation will be evaluated according to the exemplars/ criteria provided in class or in iLearn.

Marks for class participation will be determined by

- a) Whether you engage with the class regularly;

- b) How much effort you have taken to prepare for the class;
- c) How actively you participate in class discussion; and
- d) How helpful your comments are on the work of our fellow students.

Description of the behaviours evaluated for high-level student participation:

- independent engagement with online communicative activities, including discussion forum, zoom, voice thread etc, reading game/ revision/ vocab acquisition
- spontaneous contributions to discussion, expression of opinions
- evidence of preparation for class through contributing specific examples demonstrating understanding of textbook/readings/home study
- constructive collaboration with and feedback to peers
- consistent target language use
- attentive note-taking
- structured engagement with content including evidence of revision/ organisation of notes/ continuous self-directed learning
- promotion of a positive learning environment, including:
 - mobile device etiquette (targeted and appropriate use for learning purposes as instructed by staff)

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Discuss and integrate the main translation theories
- Describe and identify the main concepts and themes in translation
- Evaluate and use dictionaries and other tools in translation
- Analyse English texts and conduct reader-oriented translation in Chinese
- Apply analytical and critical thinking skills in translating.
- Identify and explain cultural diversities in translation tasks.
- Reflect on and evaluate translation process and the final texts independently.

Weekly translations

Due: each Monday week3 to week11

Weighting: 45%

There will be 1 weekly translation assignment (from English into Chinese) given on iLearn every week from week 3 to week 11. You are required to submit each of your translation assignment on iLearn by the due time. It is strongly suggested that you write annotations for your translation assignments, which can contribute to your in-class presentation/participation and your reflective journals (see the tasks below).

For marking rubrics please consult the iLearn unit.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Discuss and integrate the main translation theories
- Describe and identify the main concepts and themes in translation
- Evaluate and use dictionaries and other tools in translation
- Analyse English texts and conduct reader-oriented translation in Chinese
- Apply analytical and critical thinking skills in translating.
- Identify and explain cultural diversities in translation tasks.
- Reflect on and evaluate translation process and the final texts independently.

Presentation

Due: A week by choice on ilearn

Weighting: 15%

You are required to do an individual presentation in class. In the beginning of the semester, by the end of week 2, you will be asked to choose a translation assignment as your presentation topic on iLearn. Late submission policy will be applied if you fail to register a presentation topic by the due time set on iLearn. Please check the part of Late submissions of this unit guide. You are expected to share your experiences in dealing with translation problems when doing your assignments. Your oral presentation is expected to be 5 minutes long. You have to finish your presentation within the time limit or the mark will be deducted. You should be prepared that the rest of the class will raise questions. When preparing your presentation, you may wish to consider the following questions:

- 1) What are the functions of the source language texts?
- 2) What difficulties do you have in understanding the source language text?
- 3) What difficulties do you have in finding equivalent expressions in English?
- 4) What factors do you consider in finding equivalent expressions in English?
- 5) What kinds of translation strategies do you use in your translation? After the in class presentation, you need to submit a presentation report through iLearn by the end of the week you do the presentation.

Indicative examples of assessment tasks will be available in class from week 1 .

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Discuss and integrate the main translation theories
- Describe and identify the main concepts and themes in translation
- Evaluate and use dictionaries and other tools in translation

- Analyse English texts and conduct reader-oriented translation in Chinese

TECHNOLOGY USED AND REQUIRED

Online Unit

Login is via: <https://ilearn.mq.edu.au/>

Is my unit in iLearn?: <http://help.ilearn.mq.edu.au/unitsonline/> to check when your online unit will become available.

Technology

Students are required to have regular access to a computer and the internet. Mobile devices alone are not sufficient.

For students attending classes on campus we strongly encourage that you bring along your own laptop computer, ready to work with activities in your online unit. The preferred operating system is Windows 10.

Students are required to access the online unit in iLearn by the end of Week 1 and follow any relevant instructions and links for downloads that may be required. If applicable, students are required to download the relevant language package prior to Week 2.

Please contact your course convenor before the end of Week 1 if you do not have a suitable laptop (or tablet) for in-class use.

Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Discuss and integrate the main translation theories
- Describe and identify the main concepts and themes in translation
- Evaluate and use dictionaries and other tools in translation
- Analyse English texts and conduct reader-oriented translation in Chinese
- Apply analytical and critical thinking skills in translating.
- Reflect on and evaluate translation process and the final texts independently.

Assessment tasks

- Class participation
- Weekly translations
- Presentation

- Reflective journal
- Final test

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Discuss and integrate the main translation theories
- Describe and identify the main concepts and themes in translation
- Evaluate and use dictionaries and other tools in translation
- Analyse English texts and conduct reader-oriented translation in Chinese

- Reflect on and evaluate translation process and the final texts independently.

Assessment tasks

- Class participation
- Weekly translations
- Presentation
- Reflective journal
- Final test

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Discuss and integrate the main translation theories
- Describe and identify the main concepts and themes in translation
- Evaluate and use dictionaries and other tools in translation

- Analyse English texts and conduct reader-oriented translation in Chinese

- Reflect on and evaluate translation process and the final texts independently.

Assessment tasks

- Class participation
- Weekly translations
- Presentation
- Reflective journal
- Final test

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Discuss and integrate the main translation theories
- Describe and identify the main concepts and themes in translation
- Evaluate and use dictionaries and other tools in translation
- Analyse English texts and conduct reader-oriented translation in Chinese
- Apply analytical and critical thinking skills in translating.

Assessment tasks

- Class participation
- Weekly translations
- Presentation
- Reflective journal
- Final test

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Discuss and integrate the main translation theories
- Describe and identify the main concepts and themes in translation
- Evaluate and use dictionaries and other tools in translation
- Analyse English texts and conduct reader-oriented translation in Chinese
- Apply analytical and critical thinking skills in translating.
- Reflect on and evaluate translation process and the final texts independently.

Assessment tasks

- Class participation
- Weekly translations
- Presentation
- Reflective journal
- Final test

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Describe and identify the main concepts and themes in translation
- Evaluate and use dictionaries and other tools in translation
- Analyse English texts and conduct reader-oriented translation in Chinese
- Apply analytical and critical thinking skills in translating.
- Identify and explain cultural diversities in translation tasks.
- Reflect on and evaluate translation process and the final texts independently.

Assessment tasks

- Class participation
- Weekly translations

- Presentation
- Reflective journal
- Final test

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Analyse English texts and conduct reader-oriented translation in Chinese
- Identify and explain cultural diversities in translation tasks.
- Reflect on and evaluate translation process and the final texts independently.

Assessment tasks

- Class participation
- Weekly translations
- Presentation
- Reflective journal
- Final test

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Describe and identify the main concepts and themes in translation
- Analyse English texts and conduct reader-oriented translation in Chinese
- Identify and explain cultural diversities in translation tasks.

Assessment tasks

- Class participation

- Weekly translations
- Presentation
- Reflective journal
- Final test

Socially and Environmentally Active and Responsible

We want our graduates to be aware of and have respect for self and others; to be able to work with others as a leader and a team player; to have a sense of connectedness with others and country; and to have a sense of mutual obligation. Our graduates should be informed and active participants in moving society towards sustainability.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Describe and identify the main concepts and themes in translation
- Analyse English texts and conduct reader-oriented translation in Chinese
- Identify and explain cultural diversities in translation tasks.
