Unit description

This unit provides an introduction to major topics in ethics, moral theory and contemporary political philosophy. The first section focuses on the nature of happiness. Is pleasure essential to happiness? Or does the pursuit of pleasure harm our chances of lasting fulfilment? Must we be virtuous in order to be happy? What is the relationship between happiness and duty? The second section explores the nature of moral goodness. Is morality based ultimately in self-interest? What is the relationship between morality and religion? Are there moral principles that everyone is bound by reason to recognise? Or is the validity of moral standards relative to specific societies and cultures? In the third section we turn to questions of applied political philosophy, focusing on questions such as: What principles should govern the distribution of economic and social resources within a society? What are the obligations of wealthy nations to those less fortunate, including immigrants and refugees? And what issues of justice are raised by climate change? All enrolment queries should be directed to Open Universities Australia (OUA): see www.open.edu.au

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.open.edu.au/student-admin-and-support/key-dates/>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Understand the nature of happiness using concepts drawn from ancient philosophy at an elementary level.

Understand how some key modern philosophers have sought to establish the foundations of morality at an elementary level.

Understand some elements of contemporary theories of justice at an elementary level.

Evaluate, in an elementary way, contemporary social issues that concern happiness, goodness, or justice, using philosophical ideas and methods.

Be able to summarise and explain a philosophical text and its key features at an elementary level.

Be capable of reflecting critically on philosophical theories and arguments at an elementary level.

Be able to express and defend your own ideas with clarity and rigour, in a logical, structured argument, at an elementary level.

Experience in engaging constructively and respectfully with the views of others, even if you disagree with them.

General Assessment Information

Results

Results shown in iLearn, or released directly by your Unit Convenor, are not confirmed as they are subject to final approval by the University. Once approved, final results will be sent to your student email address and will be made available in eStudent. For more information visit ask.mq.edu.au.

Submission of Assessments

All written assessments are to be submitted via the unit's iLearn site. There is no need for a coversheet, and we request that you omit your name from the document. A link to the Turnitin submission page will be provided on iLearn in the Assessments tab. Written assessments will be run through the Turnitin software which detects unoriginal work.

The online quizzes will be available on iLearn. Each quiz can only be undertaken once and has a time limit.

Assessing Active Participation

Active participation is assessed by a student's engagement in activities such as: contributions to online discussion forums facilitated by the tutor, or general questions asked in the forums and involvement in set activities. Participation is expected to be well considered and relevant to the unit of study.

Extensions and Penalties

All work must be submitted on time unless an extension has been granted. Requests for extensions must be made in writing BEFORE the due date and will only be considered on serious grounds. Applications must be made within 5 days of illness/misadventure. Extensions will not be given unless good reasons and appropriate evidence (e.g., medical certificates, counsellor's letters) are presented at the earliest opportunity. Please note that work due concurrently in other subjects is NOT an exceptional circumstance and does not constitute a legitimate reason for an extension.

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests.

To obtain an extension, you must submit a Special Consideration application. See below for details on how to do that.

Special Consideration Policy

The University classifies a disruption as serious and unavoidable if it:

- could not have reasonably been anticipated, avoided or guarded against by the student; and
- was beyond the student's control; and
- caused substantial disruption to the student's capacity for effective study and/or completion of required work; and
- occurred during an event critical study period and was at least three (3) consecutive days duration, and / or
- prevented completion of a final examination.

Students with a pre-existing disability/health condition or prolonged adverse circumstances may be eligible for ongoing assistance and support. Such support is governed by other policies and may be sought and coordinated through Campus Wellbeing and Support Services.

How to submit a Special Consideration application?

OUA Specific Policies and Procedures

Withdrawal from a unit after the census date

You can withdraw from your subjects prior to the census date (last day to withdraw). If you successfully withdraw before the census date, you won't need to apply for Special Circumstances. If you find yourself unable to withdraw from your subjects before the census date - you might be able to apply for Special Circumstances. If you're eligible, we can refund your fees and overturn your fail grade.

If you're studying Single Subjects using FEE-HELP or paying up front, you can apply online.

If you're studying a degree using HECS-HELP, you'll need to apply directly to Macquarie University.

Online Participation

Due: Ongoing

Weighting: 20%

Participation and engagement on iLearn discussion boards (for online students). Please see iLearn for the discussion schedule.

Weighting: 20%

An important part of philosophy is engaging in active dialogue with others. This mark is allocated based on your contribution to forum discussions throughout the session. A detailed rubric will be provided on iLearn.

Participation will be assessed by the following criteria: quality of your posts in discussion forums and their timeliness (each topic will have deadlines). Quality is not just measured by the philosophical content of your posts, but by your willingness to engage in discussion with your peers. Much of what you learn in philosophy you will learn by involving yourself in discussion and argument. So while we would like to see some well thought out responses to the topics for each week and to the questions posed, we would also really encourage you to respond to the messages of other students, ask questions, post your thoughts and engage fully in the philosophical community.

Criteria: An excellent contributor has contributions that reflect extensive preparation; ideas offered are usually substantive; provide major insights and direction for forum discussion; challenges are substantiated and persuasive; makes an important contribution to discussion; always engages constructively and respectfully with the views of others, even where there is disagreement.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand the nature of happiness using concepts drawn from ancient philosophy at an elementary level.
- Understand how some key modern philosophers have sought to establish the foundations of morality at an elementary level.

- Understand some elements of contemporary theories of justice at an elementary level.
- Evaluate, in an elementary way, contemporary social issues that concern happiness, goodness, or justice, using philosophical ideas and methods.
- Be capable of reflecting critically on philosophical theories and arguments at an elementary level.
- Be able to express and defend your own ideas with clarity and rigour, in a logical, structured argument, at an elementary level.
- Experience in engaging constructively and respectfully with the views of others, even if you disagree with them.

Online quizzes

Due: Ongoing

Weighting: 20%

Ten online quizzes for ten (of 12) topics. Each quiz is open for own week. Please see iLearn for the quiz schedule.

Weighting: 20%

Note: Each individual quiz is only available for one week, from the date of the relevant lecture. For example, if the lecture is on Wednesday, the quiz will open on the Wednesday and close on the following Tuesday at 11:59pm.

Online quizzes test comprehension and understanding of the required readings. These quizzes involve true/false or multiple choice options. The quizzes cannot be accessed after they have closed. You can also only complete the quiz once.

Criteria: an accurate understanding of the issues and texts.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand the nature of happiness using concepts drawn from ancient philosophy at an elementary level.
- Understand how some key modern philosophers have sought to establish the foundations of morality at an elementary level.
- Understand some elements of contemporary theories of justice at an elementary level.
- Evaluate, in an elementary way, contemporary social issues that concern happiness, goodness, or justice, using philosophical ideas and methods.

Reflection about Happiness

Due: 15/12/2019

Weighting: 20%

Due: Sunday 15 December, 11:59pm (end of week 2)

Weighting: 20%

Length: 700 words

This is a reflective exercise about what you have learned from part one of the unit.

Criteria: An excellent written reflection will demonstrate a high degree of engagement with the issue; show a high degree of critical self-reflection; show a very good understanding of the relevant philosophical text; give an accurate interpretation of the relevant text; contain evidence of creativity; and have writing that is consistently good and without grammatical errors.

The reflection will have three sections: 1) your view on happiness; 2) a description of a relevant theory of happiness; 3) a reflection on the impact of the theory on your own view.

A detailed rubric and a sample reflective exercise will be provided in iLearn during the session.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand the nature of happiness using concepts drawn from ancient philosophy at an elementary level.
- Be able to summarise and explain a philosophical text and its key features at an elementary level.
- Be capable of reflecting critically on philosophical theories and arguments at an elementary level.
- Be able to express and defend your own ideas with clarity and rigour, in a logical, structured argument, at an elementary level.

Critical Essay

Due: 21/01/2020

Weighting: 40%

Due: Tuesday 21 January, 11:59pm (mid week 6)

Weighting: 40%

Length: 1500 words

A critical discussion of a set question from parts 2 or 3 of the unit. Here you show us the critical questioning and philosophical knowledge that you have learned over the unit.

Criteria: An excellent essay will demonstrate knowledge of the relevant content; a clear structure and argument; creativity; proper expression, spelling, punctuation, and grammar; an easy to read presentation; proper integration and referencing of research and other sources.

A detailed rubric and sample essay will be provided in iLearn during the session.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Understand how some key modern philosophers have sought to establish the foundations of morality at an elementary level.

- Understand some elements of contemporary theories of justice at an elementary level.
- Evaluate, in an elementary way, contemporary social issues that concern happiness, goodness, or justice, using philosophical ideas and methods.
- Be able to summarise and explain a philosophical text and its key features at an elementary level.
- Be capable of reflecting critically on philosophical theories and arguments at an elementary level.
- Be able to express and defend your own ideas with clarity and rigour, in a logical, structured argument, at an elementary level.

Delivery and Resources

Required Readings

All required readings and most supplementary readings are available from the library via Leganto, which should be accessed via the link on iLearn. You are responsible for gaining access to the readings. A schedule of the required readings is provided on iLearn.

Technologies used

This unit has an online presence in iLearn where activities are set and subject materials distributed. Students will require access to reliable broadband and a computer. Some assessments are conducted through this site, and written tasks will be submitted using Turnitin, a plagiarism scanning program.

Contacting the Teaching Staff

The first point of contact is the tutor. Please see iLearn for email details. Should the tutor be unable to assist, the tutor will forward the inquiry to the convenor, Kelly Hamilton.

Unit Schedule

The unit will introduce philosophy under three big ideas:

1. Living a life of happiness
2. Justifying what goodness (morality) is
3. Topical issues of justice

There are 12 lectures in total, over 5 weeks. Each lecture will have an accompanying forum discussion.

Unit Schedule:

Week 1:

- Topic 1: Introduction: What is moral philosophy?

Part 1: Happiness

- Topic 2: "The good life is the life of pleasure" - Epicurean ethics

Week 2:

- Topic 3: Living according to nature - Stoic ethics
- Topic 4: Happiness and character - Aristotelian ethics
 - 15 December (end of week 2): Reflection about happiness due

Week 3:

Part 2: Goodness

- Topic 5: Morality and religion
- Topic 6: The challenge of moral relativism
- Topic 7: Egoism and self-interest

Recess between 23 December and 3 January.

Week 4:

- Topic 8: The greatest good for the greatest number - Utilitarianism
- Topic 9: The moral law is universal! - Kant's challenge

Part 3: Justice

- Topic 10: Justice and inequality - is global poverty justifiable?

Week 5:

- Topic 11: Immigration and refugees - can we keep them out?
- Topic 12: Climate change and justice - who should pay to fix it?
 - 21 January 2020: Critical essay due

Learning and Teaching Activities

Interactive Forum Discussions

We ask you to prepare each week and be prepared to participate. Conversation and activity in online forum discussions helps you to acquire the most from the experience.

iLearn

iLearn is your guide to action. You can keep track of where the unit is up to, and the preparation you need to do. It is also a portal to numerous activities that help you learn philosophy: quizzes, discussions and assessment preparation. Use message boards to discuss the topics for each session.

Policies and Procedures

Late Submission - applies unless otherwise stated elsewhere in the unit guide

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests.

Extension Request

Special Consideration Policy and Procedure (<https://staff.mq.edu.au/work/strategy-planning-and-governance/university-policies-and-procedures/policies/special-consideration>)

The University recognises that students may experience events or conditions that adversely affect their academic performance. If you experience serious and unavoidable difficulties at exam time or when assessment tasks are due, you can consider applying for Special Consideration.

You need to show that the circumstances:

1. were serious, unexpected and unavoidable
2. were beyond your control
3. caused substantial disruption to your academic work
4. substantially interfered with your otherwise satisfactory fulfilment of the unit requirements
5. lasted at least three consecutive days or a total of 5 days within the teaching period and prevented completion of an assessment task scheduled for a specific date.

If you feel that your studies have been impacted submit an application as follows:

1. Visit Ask MQ and use your OneID to log in
2. Fill in your relevant details
3. Attach supporting documents by clicking 'Add a reply', click 'Browse' and navigating to the files you want to attach, then click 'Submit Form' to send your notification and supporting documents
4. Please keep copies of your original documents, as they may be requested in the future as part of the assessment process

Outcome

Once your submission is assessed, an appropriate outcome will be organised.

Active Class Participation

All students are expected to participate in tutorial discussions. If the student is likely to experience difficulties in this, s/he is requested to liaise with the tutor to determine the best way to accommodate the student.

Policy on Children in Class

As a commitment to students who may be carers and as a commitment to diversity, the teaching staff for this unit will allow the following:

- All exclusively breastfed babies are welcome in class as often as is necessary.
- For older children, in the case of unforeseen disruptions to childcare arrangements, the child is welcome to attend the class with the parent. This is not intended as a long-term arrangement but as a solution to possible problems that may prevent the parent from attending class.
- In all cases, we request that the parent and child sit near the door so that they can easily step outside should the child need some attention that may disrupt the other students.

Breastfeeding is not considered a disruption.

Graduate Capabilities

Creative and Innovative

Our graduates will also be capable of creative thinking and of creating knowledge. They will be imaginative and open to experience and capable of innovation at work and in the community. We want them to be engaged in applying their critical, creative thinking.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Evaluate, in an elementary way, contemporary social issues that concern happiness, goodness, or justice, using philosophical ideas and methods.
- Be able to summarise and explain a philosophical text and its key features at an elementary level.

Assessment task

- Reflection about Happiness

Learning and teaching activity

- We ask you to prepare each week and be prepared to participate. Conversation and activity in online forum discussions helps you to acquire the most from the experience.

Capable of Professional and Personal Judgement and Initiative

We want our graduates to have emotional intelligence and sound interpersonal skills and to demonstrate discernment and common sense in their professional and personal judgement. They will exercise initiative as needed. They will be capable of risk assessment, and be able to handle ambiguity and complexity, enabling them to be adaptable in diverse and changing environments.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Experience in engaging constructively and respectfully with the views of others, even if you disagree with them.

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:
