Unit description

A growing body of research from criminology, psychology, sociology, media studies and gender studies focuses on gender in relation to crime. How are the social constructions of masculinity and femininity, within and across cultures, implicated in the conduct and character of crime? The unit explores this question across a range of topics. Gender is complicated by other dimensions of difference: race and ethnicity, class, sexuality and generation, and these are also considered. The gendered construction of both perpetrators and victims of crime are considered. Special attention is paid to Australian material, but the displacements of modernity and globalisation (through the need to find work or to escape conflict, for example) are also considered.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.open.edu.au/student-admin-and-support/key-dates/>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Examine gender, crime and violence from a transnational perspective.

Understand the complexity and significance of feminist approaches to criminology and an intersectional framework in giving a gendered account of crime.

Examine the relationship between forms of knowledge and forms of everyday living.

Analyse critically a variety of texts (documentaries, novels, media articles, poems, news clips) and data sources concerning gender within their historical, social and theoretical contexts.

Examine the ways in which the social construction of gender is implicated in the conduct and character of crime

General Assessment Information

Detailed Assessment Guidelines explaining the requirements for each assignment are available on the GEND310 iLearn page in the Assessment Resources section. It is necessary to have read these guidelines in order to successfully complete each task.

All essays are to be submitted electronically through Turnitin on the GEND310 iLearn page.

For any extensions please lodge a special consideration request via <http://ask.mq.edu.au> . Approved extensions will not incur a late penalty.

Late Submission Penalty

“Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests.”

Assessment Tasks

Group Presentation	15%	No	Sunday Week 9
Critical analysis	30%	No	Sunday Week 6
Research Essay	40%	No	Sunday Week 13
Participation	15%	No	throughout

Group Presentation

Due: Sunday Week 9

Weighting: 15%

- This task consists of group presentations on the weekly readings. You do not need to come to campus at all as everything will be done on-line.
- In Week 1 tutorial, each student will choose a group with which to prepare a PowerPoint presentation on the weekly readings.
- Each team of 4-6 students will prepare a PowerPoint featuring a critical analysis of the compulsory and/or recommended readings.
- The aim is to provide an overview of the readings. You do not need to provide all the answers yourselves, but you do need to introduce the topic and the main concepts and themes of the readings. The presentation should have a clear and coherent structure that allows your marker to understand what aspects of the themes and weekly readings you are focusing on.

- To help you with this, we have set up chatrooms in iLearn. The first step is to decide what week you want to present. You then enroll in that week in the link on the unit home page. Once you are enrolled in a group (e.g. Week 5), you can then access a chat room where only the members of your group have access and can discuss what you plan to do for that week. The number of students for each topic is limited to 6, and topics are assigned on a first-come, first-served basis.
- Each team member should provide 4-6 slides.
- All PowerPoint presentations should be submitted by Week 9.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Examine gender, crime and violence from a transnational perspective.
- Understand the complexity and significance of feminist approaches to criminology and an intersectional framework in giving a gendered account of crime.
- Examine the relationship between forms of knowledge and forms of everyday living.
- Analyse critically a variety of texts (documentaries, novels, media articles, poems, news clips) and data sources concerning gender within their historical, social and theoretical contexts.
- Examine the ways in which the social construction of gender is implicated in the conduct and character of crime

Critical analysis

Due: Sunday Week 6

Weighting: 30%

- This task requires students to critically analyse a selected media article using academic reference material.
- See iLearn Assessment Resources for the list of media articles and scholarly readings associated with this task.
- The length of the essay is 1500 words (10% leeway accepted)
- Please see Assessment Guidelines on iLearn for further details.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Examine gender, crime and violence from a transnational perspective.
- Understand the complexity and significance of feminist approaches to criminology and an intersectional framework in giving a gendered account of crime.

- Examine the relationship between forms of knowledge and forms of everyday living.
- Analyse critically a variety of texts (documentaries, novels, media articles, poems, news clips) and data sources concerning gender within their historical, social and theoretical contexts.
- Examine the ways in which the social construction of gender is implicated in the conduct and character of crime

Research Essay

Due: Sunday Week 13

Weighting: 40%

- Research and compose a 2000 word essay in response to one of the questions provided.
- The essay must include 3 references drawn from GENX310 required readings.
- A minimum of 10 academic references overall must be used within the essay.
- Please see Assessment Guidelines in the Assessment Resources section on iLearn for further details.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Examine gender, crime and violence from a transnational perspective.
- Understand the complexity and significance of feminist approaches to criminology and an intersectional framework in giving a gendered account of crime.
- Examine the relationship between forms of knowledge and forms of everyday living.
- Analyse critically a variety of texts (documentaries, novels, media articles, poems, news clips) and data sources concerning gender within their historical, social and theoretical contexts.
- Examine the ways in which the social construction of gender is implicated in the conduct and character of crime

Participation

Due: throughout

Weighting: 15%

Regular contribution to group discussions within GENX310 tutorials is a requirement of this unit. Your tutorial is the weekly online forum. What internal students do in classes on campus, you do in the discussion forum. To gain marks for online participation as an external student, you need to:

- 1). Post within a week after the lecture (Thursday 11 am). There are no extensions possible. If you have problems or serious reasons for not being able to post within a week, please let your tutor know.
- 2). Your post needs to share and discuss with others how you would answer the questions posted on iLearn.
- 3). Respond to others' posts by engaging substantially with the contents of their post and pointing out what might be missing, could be added or needs clarification.
- 4). Integrate concepts, ideas and examples from the lectures and reading material into your answer.
- 5). Participation should provide evidence of the student having done the readings, listened to the lecture and thought about the topics in relation to both local and global contexts.

. We will be dealing with sensitive topics like Islamophobia and terrorism. So, it is important to respond respectfully to each other.

. Please see Assessment Guidelines in the Assessment Resources section on iLearn for further details.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Examine gender, crime and violence from a transnational perspective.
- Understand the complexity and significance of feminist approaches to criminology and an intersectional framework in giving a gendered account of crime.
- Examine the relationship between forms of knowledge and forms of everyday living.
- Analyse critically a variety of texts (documentaries, novels, media articles, poems, news clips) and data sources concerning gender within their historical, social and theoretical contexts.
- Examine the ways in which the social construction of gender is implicated in the conduct and character of crime

Delivery and Resources

Delivery:

Internal, External and OUA.

OUA enrolment for GEND310 comprises of one 2hr lecture in addition to the weekly OUA Discussion Forums. Lectures begin in Week One. OUA Discussion Forums begin in Week One.

Lectures: Thursdays 9 - 11 am 14 Sir Christopher Ondaatje Ave - T3 Theatre

Required readings can be accessed through the Leganto link on iLearn.

Unit Schedule

Policies and Procedures

Late Submission - applies unless otherwise stated elsewhere in the unit guide

Unless a Special Consideration request has been submitted and approved, (a) a penalty for lateness will apply – two (2) marks out of 100 will be deducted per day for assignments submitted after the due date – and (b) no assignment will be accepted more than seven (7) days (incl. weekends) after the original submission deadline. No late submissions will be accepted for timed assessments – e.g. quizzes, online tests.

Extension Request

Special Consideration Policy and Procedure \(https://staff.mq.edu.au/work/strategy-planning-and-governance/university-policies-and-procedures/policies/special-consideration\)

The University recognises that students may experience events or conditions that adversely affect their academic performance. If you experience serious and unavoidable difficulties at exam time or when assessment tasks are due, you can consider applying for Special Consideration.

You need to show that the circumstances:

1. were serious, unexpected and unavoidable
2. were beyond your control
3. caused substantial disruption to your academic work
4. substantially interfered with your otherwise satisfactory fulfilment of the unit

requirements

5. lasted at least three consecutive days or a total of 5 days within the teaching period and prevented completion of an assessment task scheduled for a specific date.

If you feel that your studies have been impacted submit an application as follows:

1. Visit Ask MQ and use your OneID to log in
2. Fill in your relevant details
3. Attach supporting documents by clicking 'Add a reply', click 'Browse' and navigating to the files you want to attach, then click 'Submit Form' to send your notification and supporting documents
4. Please keep copies of your original documents, as they may be requested in the future as part of the assessment process

Outcome

Once your submission is assessed, an appropriate outcome will be organised.

Commitment to Continuous Learning

Our graduates will have enquiring minds and a literate curiosity which will lead them to pursue knowledge for its own sake. They will continue to pursue learning in their careers and as they participate in the world. They will be capable of reflecting on their experiences and relationships with others and the environment, learning from them, and growing - personally, professionally and socially.

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Problem Solving and Research Capability

Our graduates should be capable of researching; of analysing, and interpreting and assessing data and information in various forms; of drawing connections across fields of knowledge; and they should be able to relate their knowledge to complex situations at work or in the world, in order to diagnose and solve problems. We want them to have the confidence to take the initiative in doing so, within an awareness of their own limitations.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Examine gender, crime and violence from a transnational perspective.
- Understand the complexity and significance of feminist approaches to criminology and an intersectional framework in giving a gendered account of crime.

Engaged and Ethical Local and Global citizens

As local citizens our graduates will be aware of indigenous perspectives and of the nation's historical context. They will be engaged with the challenges of contemporary society and with knowledge and ideas. We want our graduates to have respect for diversity, to be open-minded, sensitive to others and inclusive, and to be open to other cultures and perspectives: they should have a level of cultural literacy. Our graduates should be aware of disadvantage and social justice, and be willing to participate to help create a wiser and better society.

This graduate capability is supported by:
