Unit description

This unit begins with an examination of the characteristics of emerging financial markets. The unit then has two parts. The focus of the first part is on portfolio investment management. The focus of the second part is on direct investment in new projects. The geographic focus is in Asian countries.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Learn about the characteristics of emerging financial markets: asset allocation, volatility and linkages in emerging capital markets.

Explore the menu of investment opportunities, such as portfolio investment, FDI, and investment in a project in emerging markets.

Analyse systematic risk and alternative CAPM for emerging financial markets.

Review financial liberalisation and contagious effects of financial crisis in emerging markets .

Work productively in a group to undertake a project analysis

General Assessment Information

It is the responsibility of students to view their marks for each within session assessment on iLearn within 20 working days of posting. If there are any discrepancies, students must contact the unit convenor immediately. Failure to do so will mean that queries received after the release of final results regarding assessment marks (not including the final exam mark) will not be addressed.

Assessment criteria for all assessment tasks will be provided on the unit iLearn site.

A self-assessment template will be posted on ilearn in week three to provide students with feedback before the census date.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
In-Class Test	25%	No	Week 7
Case Study	20%	No	Various
Final Exam	55%	No	During Examination Period

In-Class Test

Due: Week 7

Weighting: 25%

Task Description:

The test is designed to help you consolidate your understanding of core concepts through Multiple Choice questions. This test will cover topics from the first 6 weeks of lectures and the associated reading materials.

Type of Collaboration: Individual Submission: In class - you are expected to present yourself for the test in Lecture 7 at the enrolled time and place of your normal lecture. Format: Multiple Choice questions Length: 90-minutes Inherent Task Requirements: Refer to ilearn Late Submission: No extensions will be granted. Students who have not attended for the class test on due date will be awarded a mark of 0 for the task, except for cases in which an application for special consideration is made and approved.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Review financial liberalisation and contagious effects of financial crisis in emerging markets .

Case Study

Due: Various

Weighting: 20%

Task Description:

Case study is a weekly group presentation exercise. This study provide students with an opportunity to systematically look at project financing or another topical issues in emerging markets by collecting data, analysing information, and report the findings.

A list of cases with a short description will be distributed to the class in the first week and students can select the one that they prefer (on the first come first serve basis).

50% of the marks is allocated to individual students' performance during their presentation before the class.

Type of Collaboration: Group Submission: Each student's group is expected to present a case before the class and submit a hard copy of their written report after their presentation. A soft copy of their report must also be uploaded on ilearn, immediately before or after their presentation. Format: Refer to ilearn Length: Refer to ilearn Inherent Task Requirements: Refer to ilearn Late Submission: No extensions will be granted. There will be a deduction of 10% of the total available marks made from the total awarded mark for each 24 hour period or part thereof that the submission is late (for example, 25 hours late in submission – 20% penalty). This penalty does not apply for cases in which an application for special consideration is made and approved. No submission will be accepted after solutions have been posted.

On successful completion you will be able to:
