Unit description

This unit allows students undertaking the MRes/BPhil research training pathway to develop their research skills. Students will develop skills in literature searches and critical analysis of literature and data, improve their analytical skills, and further their knowledge of microeconomics. This unit allows students to develop and build upon knowledge and skills gained during their undergraduate degree.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Knowledge and Understanding: Demonstrate recognition of how theories and applications of microeconomics are studied by academic scholars.

Analytical skills: Evidence competence in the synthesis and interpretation of applied research in microeconomics.

Effective communication: Demonstrate effective communication with professional standard of written work and presentation skills.

General Assessment Information

This unit will be divided into two blocks of teaching, with four lectures per block. In each lecture, we will study two recent applied microeconomic papers published in some of the top international journals in the discipline. After each block, students will sit a 90 minute class test that covers the papers studied within the most recent block. Each test will be worth 20% of the final mark in this unit.

In consultation with the lecturer, students will also select their own paper to present for the class and write a report on outlining key aspects of the study. Class presentations will take place in the two final weeks of the session. The class presentation is worth 20% and the final report is worth 40% of the final mark in this unit.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Class Tests	40%	No	Weeks 5 and 10
Class Presentations	20%	No	Weeks 12 and 13
Final Report	40%	No	11/06/19

Class Tests

Due: Weeks 5 and 10

Weighting: 40%

There will be two 90 minute class tests. The first class test will cover the papers studied in the first four week block of the unit (i.e. weeks 1-4). The second class test will cover the papers studied in the second four week block of the unit (i.e. weeks 6-9). Each class test is worth 20% of your final grade in this unit.

If you have a valid reason that prevents you from attending a class test you may submit an application under the Special Consideration Policy. If your application is successful you will sit the test at a later date as decided by the unit convenor.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Knowledge and Understanding: Demonstrate recognition of how theories and applications of microeconomics are studied by academic scholars.
- Analytical skills: Evidence competence in the synthesis and interpretation of applied research in microeconomics.

Class Presentations

Due: Weeks 12 and 13

Weighting: 20%

Class presentations will take place in weeks 12 and 13 (i.e. weeks beginning 27th of May and 3rd of June). Presentations will summarise and critique an applied research paper from an academic journal that has been approved as suitable by the lecturer. You should have selected your paper (and have had it approved) by the end of week 7 (i.e. 12th of April). More detail about this assessment will be provided in class.

All students who apply for Special Consideration in relation to the Class Presentation will be given an extension if the application is approved. Please consult the Special Considerations Policy.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Knowledge and Understanding: Demonstrate recognition of how theories and applications of microeconomics are studied by academic scholars.
- Analytical skills: Evidence competence in the synthesis and interpretation of applied research in microeconomics.
- Effective communication: Demonstrate effective communication with professional standard of written work and presentation skills.

Final Report

Due: 11/06/19

Weighting: 40%

The report is due Tuesday 11th of June by 3pm. Reports will summarise and critique an applied research paper from an academic journal that has been approved as suitable by the lecturer. The report will be no more than 2000 words and will be submitted electronically via Turnitin. You should have selected your paper (and have had it approved) by the end of week 7 (i.e. 12th of April). More detail about this assessment will be provided in class.

All students who apply for Special Consideration in relation to the Report will be given an extension if the application is approved. Please consult the Special Considerations Policy.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- Knowledge and Understanding: Demonstrate recognition of how theories and applications of microeconomics are studied by academic scholars.
- Analytical skills: Evidence competence in the synthesis and interpretation of applied research in microeconomics.
- Effective communication: Demonstrate effective communication with professional standard of written work and presentation skills.

Delivery and Resources

This unit has no prescribed textbook. Each week two academic papers will be assigned. You should read these before each class. Links to the papers will be provided on iLearn at least one week before class. Lecture notes will also be available after each class.

Policies and Procedures

Graduate Capabilities

PG - Discipline Knowledge and Skills

Our postgraduates will be able to demonstrate a significantly enhanced depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content knowledge in their chosen fields.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Knowledge and Understanding: Demonstrate recognition of how theories and applications of microeconomics are studied by academic scholars.

Assessment tasks

- Class Tests
- Class Presentations
- Final Report

PG - Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

Our postgraduates will be capable of utilising and reflecting on prior knowledge and experience, of applying higher level critical thinking skills, and of integrating and synthesising learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments. A characteristic of this form of thinking is the generation of new, professionally oriented knowledge through personal or group-based critique of practice and theory.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Analytical skills: Evidence competence in the synthesis and interpretation of applied research in microeconomics.

Assessment tasks

- Class Tests
- Class Presentations
- Final Report

PG - Effective Communication

Our postgraduates will be able to communicate effectively and convey their views to different social, cultural, and professional audiences. They will be able to use a variety of technologically supported media to communicate with empathy using a range of written, spoken or visual formats.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Effective communication: Demonstrate effective communication with professional standard of written work and presentation skills.
