Unit description

This unit surveys the evolution of Western thought from major philosophical perspectives (from Plato to Sartre) and their relevance for management. What is important about a philosophical perspective is not what it explains, but what it assumes. Three assumptions ground the unit: a) managing is essentially a philosophical activity because human existence is interpreted through diverse perspectives; b) management training needs to be combined with management education. To train is to drill and subordinate individuals to routines, standards and practices. To educate is to liberate a person's intellectual, moral and aesthetic powers. c) managers and leaders need to have the critical skills to debate, reflect, and engage in dialogue across different functional disciplines, stakeholders and cultures in organisational contexts.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

- (a) apply philosophical perspectives to the task of leading, motivating and communicating effectively across diverse teams in an organisation;
- (b) apply various forms of critical reflection to management decision making;
- (c) use different philosophical perspectives to respond appropriately to a wide range of different cultures and perspectives;
- (d) evaluate their own attitudes to ethical, social and environmental factors which affect an organisation, through a comparative analysis of Western ethical systems.

Assessment Tasks

Name	Weighting	Hurdle	Due
Group Work	50%	No	Please refer to below
Class Quiz	10%	No	TBA
Final Examination	40%	No	Exam Week: 2 - 7 September

Group Work

Due: Please refer to below

Weighting: 50%

Presentation

Due: In class TBA

Weighting: 50% of group work

Students will be assessed on their individual performance – content and presentation.

Students will be allocated to study groups in the first session. Each group will be allocated a philosopher to study and discuss in class. Each group will have up to 45 minutes to lead a class discussion. At least 15 minutes should be devoted to a question and answer period which will be conducted by the group.

Visual aids may be used to a maximum of 10 slides per presentation.

- (a) Students should provide a brief biographical introduction to each philosopher studied.
- (b) Questions to be answered in the presentation (and group report) are:
 1. What are the key arguments which ground this philosophy?
 2. What are the strengths and weaknesses of this philosophical perspective?
 3. What can managers learn from this philosopher?

Report

Due: TBA

Weighting: 50% of group work

This is a written summary of each group's presentation after taking into consideration issues and/or criticism raised in the class discussion.

Length: 2000 words maximum

Format: Double-spaced, name of group members, and number of words in report.

To be submitted electronically at iLearn (Turnitin Plagiarism Submission)

No extensions will be granted. There will be a deduction of 10% of total marks for the report for each 24 hour period or part there of that the submission is late. This penalty does not apply for cases in which an application for special consideration is made and approved.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- (a) apply philosophical perspectives to the task of leading, motivating and communicating effectively across diverse teams in an organisation;
- (b) apply various forms of critical reflection to management decision making;
- (c) use different philosophical perspectives to respond appropriately to a wide range of different cultures and perspectives;
- (d) evaluate their own attitudes to ethical, social and environmental factors which affect an organisation, through a comparative analysis of Western ethical systems.

Class Quiz

Due: TBA

Weighting: 10%

Short individual class quiz assessment that will be based on content taught from previous sessions.

On successful completion you will be able to:

- (a) apply philosophical perspectives to the task of leading, motivating and communicating effectively across diverse teams in an organisation;
- (b) apply various forms of critical reflection to management decision making;
- (c) use different philosophical perspectives to respond appropriately to a wide range of different cultures and perspectives;
- (d) evaluate their own attitudes to ethical, social and environmental factors which affect an organisation, through a comparative analysis of Western ethical systems.

Final Examination

Due: Exam Week: 2 - 7 September

Weighting: 40%

Duration: 3 hours plus 10 minutes reading time

Format: Closed book exam

The MGSM Examination period in Term 3 2019 is from 2 - 7 September 2019

On successful completion you will be able to:

- (a) apply philosophical perspectives to the task of leading, motivating and communicating effectively across diverse teams in an organisation;
- (b) apply various forms of critical reflection to management decision making;
- (c) use different philosophical perspectives to respond appropriately to a wide range of different cultures and perspectives;
- (d) evaluate their own attitudes to ethical, social and environmental factors which affect an organisation, through a comparative analysis of Western ethical systems.

Unit Schedule

Monday Weekly Class - 9am - 1pm (Starts: 24 June 2019)

Block class - 9am to 5pm on the following dates: 13, 14, 26, 27, 28 July 2019

Unit Topics

Philosophies discussed in lectures include: Greek rationalism; Machiavellianism; Cartesian Dualism; British Empiricism; Logical Positivism; German Romanticism; Marxism; Existentialism.

Unit objectives

- a) To compare and contrast philosophical perspectives by which people have attempted to understand the world, themselves and each other.
- b) To demonstrate that the field of management theory, whilst of recent origin, necessarily draws on a wide range of ancient wisdom.
- c) To encourage in students a sensitivity to language and so provide basic linguistic skills for the critical analysis of management theories and practices.
- d) To demonstrate that there is nothing as practical as a good theory.

The real object of lecturing is not to communicate information but to try to plant germinal ideas in the mind and to arouse curiosity, not to satisfy it. A lecture ought not to be a handing over of coined thoughts to be stored away in mental strong boxes ... what one tries to do in a lecture is to make a subject appear charming and interesting; to tempt one’s hearers to look into themselves; to sweep away the dreary tissue of unnecessary and useless knowledge in which many books involve a person and to present ideas in attractive form.” (A.C. Benson)

Required work in MGSM880

Students are required to:

- a) prepare for and participate in seminars;
- b) participate in group presentation (25% of total mark);
- c) submit a group report (25% of total mark);
- d) complete a class quiz (10% of total mark);
- e) complete a three-hour, closed-book examination (40% of total mark).

Alignment of this unit with MGSM's mission-driven attributes

Leadership: The unit explores philosophical approaches to leadership

Global mindset: The unit emphasises cross-cultural differences in management practices and values

Citizenship: The unit allows learners to evaluate their attitude to citizenship through a comparative analysis of Western ethical systems

Creating sustainable value: The unit assists the understanding of the philosophical status of Western values.

Attendance Policy (MGSM)

The interactive environment of the classroom is central to the MGSM experience. Students are required to attend the full duration of all classes for the units in which they are enrolled. We recognise that exceptional circumstances may occur, such as unavoidable travel on behalf of your organization or the serious illness or injury of you or a close family member. Special consideration may be given for a maximum of 20% non-attendance for such circumstances as long as lecturers are contacted in advance, and supporting documentation provided, to request exemption from attendance. Failure to abide by these conditions may result in automatic withdrawal, with academic and/or financial penalty. The full Student Attendance Policy is published in the MGSM Student Handbook at <https://students.mgsm.edu.au/handbook>
