Unit description

In an increasingly globalized and competitive business environment, an organisation's people can be a valuable source of sustained competitive advantage. However, this is largely determined by the manner in which people are managed and led. This unit aims to enhance student knowledge of the ways people behave in organisations and the skills required to effectively manage them. Organisations constantly face issues involving motivation, performance, and teamwork making leadership and organisational behaviour skills important for managers and non-managers alike. This unit is about people in organisations, focusing on how management and leadership practices affect the attitudes, motivation, behaviour, and performance of employees and teams. Unit content is derived mostly from contemporary theory, research, and practice in the organisational behaviour and management disciplines. Students will be encouraged to use unit material to be self-aware and mindful about how they lead and interact with others, and to adopt an ethic of continuous self-improvement in their leadership, teamwork, and interpersonal skills.

Graduate Capabilities

PG - Discipline Knowledge and Skills

Our postgraduates will be able to demonstrate a significantly enhanced depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content knowledge in their chosen fields.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Demonstrate knowledge of classical and contemporary OB theory. Topics include: leadership, motivation, organisational culture, and teamwork
- Evaluate organisational behaviour concepts through review of relevant scholarship

Assessment tasks

- Online Quiz
- Case Study Analysis
- Group Research Proposal

PG - Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

Our postgraduates will be capable of utilising and reflecting on prior knowledge and experience, of applying higher level critical thinking skills, and of integrating and synthesising learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments. A characteristic of this form of thinking is the generation of new, professionally oriented knowledge through personal or group-based critique of practice and theory.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Ascertain the methodological appropriateness, quality, and trustworthiness of research evidence
- Evaluate organisational behaviour concepts through review of relevant scholarship
- Demonstrate commitment to achieving teamwork task
- Practise giving and receiving constructive and critical feedback

Assessment task

- Group Research Proposal

PG - Effective Communication

Our postgraduates will be able to communicate effectively and convey their views to different social, cultural, and professional audiences. They will be able to use a variety of technologically supported media to communicate with empathy using a range of written, spoken or visual formats.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Demonstrate commitment to achieving teamwork task
- Practise giving and receiving constructive and critical feedback

Assessment task

- Group Research Proposal

Research & Practice, Global contexts & Sustainability

1. This unit draws on extensive research from sources outside the textbook. Students will be provided with additional research articles for every week to allow them to considerably expand their knowledge of OB.
2. Conducting research independently is strongly encouraged for this unit and is rewarded
3. Cultural differences in work practices between countries will be extensively discussed and students will be asked to elaborate on work practices in their respective countries. OB theories from non-Western perspectives will be integrated in the lectures, where available.
4. Issues of sustainability and ethics will be discussed during the first three weeks of the semester and in other weeks as they relate to other OB topics..
