Unit description

This unit provides a general introduction to the discipline of marketing, covering theories and frameworks relevant to marketing planning, market definition, segmentation and targeting, market research, consumer behaviour, product development, pricing, distribution and communication, as well as recent developments in marketing theory and practice. These theories and frameworks are applied to live cases so that students can articulate a value proposition for a given organisation and identify the sources of ongoing value creation and exchange with their customers.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

Critique specific marketing strategy with respect to whether it is well-informed,

responsible and financially robust

Demonstrate how a firm creates, promotes, delivers sustainable value for its target customers

Articulate the ways in which the elements of the “marketing-mix” combine to create marketing strategy and how such strategy may be tactically employed in a marketing plan

Explain the implications of strategic marketing decisions from a whole-of-entity perspective, across a wide spectrum of stakeholders, cultures and markets to enhance social, ethical and environmental accountability

Marketing Plan Presentation

Due: Session 9 - 10

Weighting: 40%

Task Description: As consumers, we all experience unsatisfying products and services. When this happens, the companies that offer that product/service failed to get their customers' job done, or done well. In this assessment, you will work as a team and choose an organization (for-profit or non-profit) that needs improvement. During the course of ten weeks, you will work as a marketing consulting team for this organization to help them improve their offering. Using the principles and tools you learn in this course you are required to develop a presentation of a marketing plan to present to the organisation you have chosen. In the first class the marking rubric and assignment expectation will be discussed in details.

Type of Collaboration: Group work

Length: 20 minutes

Marking rubric will be available on iLearn

Peer evaluation forms will be filled in to assess the individual performance, which will determine 50% of the individual mark.

Inherent Task Requirements: None

Delivery and Resources

REQUIRED TEXTBOOK:

Osterwalder, Alexander & Pigneur, Yves (2010) Business Model Generation, First Edition, Wiley, ISBN: 978-0470-87641-1

The main purpose of the required textbook is to help you understand how marketing function is in relation to the business as a whole. It should be stressed that this is not a marketing textbook, per se, but outlines an excellent platform for strategically managing the interaction/exchange between the company and its customers (i.e. marketing management), in practice.

It is required that you skim through the whole textbook before classes begin and then go back to the weekly readings, as prescribed, for a more detailed look at the contents. You will get a better sense of how the information fits together and the way that the design thinking approach works.

WHERE TO PURCHASE TEXTBOOK IF YOU WISH TO BUY?

The Coop Bookshop

The Coop Bookshop is our main retailer for textbooks and other related academic material. For information on textbook prices and online ordering, please refer to The Co-Op Bookshop webpage at <http://www.coop.com.au>

Wiley website

Textbook is also available for order via the publisher’s online store. For information on textbook prices and online ordering, please refer to the website at <http://au.wiley.com/WileyCDA/WileyTitle/productCd-0470876417.html>

Disclaimer: MGSM does not take responsibility for the stock levels of required textbooks from preferred retail outlets and other book retailers. While we advise our preferred book retail outlet, The Co-op Bookshop, of our maximum expected number of students purchasing specific required text each term, The Co-op Bookshop and other book retailers will make their own judgement in regards to their physical holding stock levels. To prevent disappointment if a textbook is out-of-stock, we highly advise students to order their textbooks as early as possible, or if the required textbook is currently out-of-stock, place an order with the book retailer as soon as possible so that these book retailers can monitor demand and supply, and adjust their stock orders accordingly.

Graduate Capabilities

Discipline Specific Knowledge and Skills

Our graduates will take with them the intellectual development, depth and breadth of knowledge, scholarly understanding, and specific subject content in their chosen fields to make them competent and confident in their subject or profession. They will be able to demonstrate, where relevant, professional technical competence and meet professional standards. They will be able to articulate the structure of knowledge of their discipline, be able to adapt discipline-specific knowledge to novel situations, and be able to contribute from their discipline to inter-disciplinary solutions to problems.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Critique specific marketing strategy with respect to whether it is well-informed,

responsible and financially robust

- Demonstrate how a firm creates, promotes, delivers sustainable value for its target customers
- Articulate the ways in which the elements of the “marketing-mix” combine to create marketing strategy and how such strategy may be tactically employed in a marketing plan
- Explain the implications of strategic marketing decisions from a whole-of-entity perspective, across a wide spectrum of stakeholders, cultures and markets to enhance social, ethical and environmental accountability

Assessment tasks

- Individual Reflection I
- Individual Reflection II
- Marketing Plan Presentation

Critical, Analytical and Integrative Thinking

We want our graduates to be capable of reasoning, questioning and analysing, and to integrate and synthesise learning and knowledge from a range of sources and environments; to be able to critique constraints, assumptions and limitations; to be able to think independently and systemically in relation to scholarly activity, in the workplace, and in the world. We want them to have a level of scientific and information technology literacy.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcomes

- Critique specific marketing strategy with respect to whether it is well-informed, responsible and financially robust
- Demonstrate how a firm creates, promotes, delivers sustainable value for its target customers
- Articulate the ways in which the elements of the “marketing-mix” combine to create marketing strategy and how such strategy may be tactically employed in a marketing plan

Assessment tasks

- Individual Reflection I
- Individual Reflection II
- Marketing Plan Presentation

Effective Communication

We want to develop in our students the ability to communicate and convey their views in forms effective with different audiences. We want our graduates to take with them the capability to read, listen, question, gather and evaluate information resources in a variety of formats, assess, write clearly, speak effectively, and to use visual communication and communication technologies as appropriate.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Articulate the ways in which the elements of the “marketing-mix” combine to create marketing strategy and how such strategy may be tactically employed in a marketing plan

Assessment tasks

- Individual Reflection II
- Marketing Plan Presentation

Socially and Environmentally Active and Responsible

We want our graduates to be aware of and have respect for self and others; to be able to work with others as a leader and a team player; to have a sense of connectedness with others and country; and to have a sense of mutual obligation. Our graduates should be informed and active participants in moving society towards sustainability.

This graduate capability is supported by:

Learning outcome

- Explain the implications of strategic marketing decisions from a whole-of-entity perspective, across a wide spectrum of stakeholders, cultures and markets to enhance social, ethical and environmental accountability

Assessment task

- Individual Reflection I

Changes from Previous Offering

Changes in assessment tasks wherein greater weighting was given to the the Individual Reflection. The group marketing plan has been removed.

Alignment with MGSM’s mission-driven attributes

Leadership: Students can synthesise a varied selection of market information in order to make well-informed and financially sound strategic decisions.

Global mindset: Students can assess the implications of strategic marketing decisions from a whole of entity perspective, across a wide spectrum of stakeholders.

Citizenship: Students can apply socially and environmentally responsible marketing actions, meeting the needs of customers, businesses and society now, and in the future.

Creating sustainable value: Students can identify appropriate marketing activities to create, deliver and exchange sustainable value across industries and contexts.

Attendance Policy (MGSM)

The interactive environment of the classroom is central to the MGSM experience. Students are required to attend the full duration of all classes for the units in which they are enrolled. We recognise that exceptional circumstances may occur, such as unavoidable travel on behalf of your organization or the serious illness or injury of you or a close family member.

Special consideration may be given for a maximum of 20% non-attendance for such circumstances as long as lecturers are contacted in advance, and supporting documentation provided, to request exemption from attendance. Failure to abide by these conditions may result in automatic withdrawal, with academic and/or financial penalty. The full Student Attendance Policy is published in the MGSM Student Handbook at <https://students.mgsm.edu.au/handbook>.

Changes since First Published

Date	Description
20/03/2019	Dear Aron, I have made a change in the unit delivery section, where I split one session (distribution and pricing) into two separate sections. One review session (session 9) has been removed. The reason for this change is that there will be no final exam, thus, the review can be done together with the last session, when students have their group presentations. I hope you are fine with this change. Please don't hesitate to contact me if you have any questions or if you need further clarification. Thank you in advance for your consideration and approval. Best regards, Yi
