Unit description

This unit is designed to give students a critical understanding of the inherent problems facing developing countries. The focus is on the research that provides insights into the constraints and decisions of the poor and the implications for practical and achievable policy interventions that improves the lives of the poor. The range of topics covered includes the poverty trap, nutrition, health, how families make decisions on issues such as fertility and gender; how the poor make decisions about education; and the general failure of the market and institutions including credit, savings and insurance markets in providing services to the poor and fostering economic development.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at <https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates>

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO2: Assess the impact on the well-being of the poor arising from the institutions (or lack thereof) that govern their lives.

ULO1: Evaluate the evidence that shows how the poor (and economic agents in general) make decisions about such things as educating their children, healthcare and developing their businesses, and the impact this has on their well-being.

ULO3: Appraise the success (or otherwise) of policy interventions designed to improve the well-being of the poor.

ULO4: Recognise and critically analyse popularist narratives on poverty in low-income countries.
