Unit description Quantitative modelling and analysis are significant components in the discipline of applied finance. The models employed by practitioners and researchers are based on assumptions about the stochastic properties of financial variables and time series. This unit covers a variety of stochastic models for use in applied finance and includes extensive use of Excel spreadsheets. The topics include discrete and continuous probability distributions, extreme events, joint probability distributions, copulas, bayesian analysis, regression models, time series models, and risk-neutral pricing.

Important Academic Dates

Information about important academic dates including deadlines for withdrawing from units are available at https://www.mq.edu.au/study/calendar-of-dates

Learning Outcomes

On successful completion of this unit, you will be able to:

ULO1: Use a range of probability distributions to model different financial variables.

ULO2: Assess the dependence between financial variables with suitable statistical tools.

ULO3: Apply regression models and time series models to various financial time series.

ULO4: Examine the concepts of no-arbitrage principle and risk-neutral pricing.

ULO5: Perform mathematical computations on Excel spreadsheets for practical problems.

Assessment Tasks

Coronavirus (COVID-19) Update

Assessment details are no longer provided here as a result of changes due to the Coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic.

Students should consult iLearn for revised unit information.

General Assessment Information

It is the responsibility of students to view their marks for each within session assessment on iLearn within 20 working days of posting. If there are any discrepancies, students must contact the unit convenor immediately. Failure to do so will mean that queries received after the release of final results regarding assessment marks (not including the final exam mark) will not be addressed.

Assessment criteria for all assessment tasks will be provided on the unit iLearn site.
